

Chapter 1 : North East Scotland Map - Scotland - Mapcarta

The Aberdeen & North-East Scotland Family History Society exists to assist and promote the study of genealogy and family history based on the North-East corner of Scotland. This area covers the old counties of Aberdeenshire, Banffshire, Kincardineshire and Morayshire.

As a follow up to, today, I am writing about a family history society over in Scotland that has many resources and publications to share. This society is just one example of the reasons to seek out the societies in your area of research. Here is a picture of the outside of the society taken when we visited Scotland this past spring From their website: This area covers the old counties of Aberdeenshire, Banffshire, Kincardineshire and Morayshire. The Society owns premises in the centre of Aberdeen with a well stocked library and a huge selection of microfilm, microfiche and CD resources. The Society holds regular meetings throughout the year, covering many topics of interest to family historians. The society also has a Facebook page which you can locate here One of the benefits I spoke of at the beginning of this post are publications. This particular society has a booklet with over 60 pages of publications for sale. All pages copied with permission from the society Please note that they have local histories, census indexes, maps and many other wonderful publications. Here is a sample of publications available just for Monumental Inscriptions cemeteries. I had received information from an email inquiry I made to the Aberdeen Family History Society regarding the burial locations for my 2nd great grandparents, Charles Milne and Margaret Ritchie. They are buried at Aboyne Kirkyard, which is located in Aberdeenshire, Scotland. I knew that I was going to be making a trip to Aberdeen this past spring. Finding out that I would be able to visit these 2nd great grandparents burial site was wonderful. I proceeded to order 3 publications from the society that I felt may contain names of some of my ancestors. The cost for the publications is pretty minimal. The ones I ordered were all about 2. Monumental Inscriptions of Northeast Scotland Here are the publications I ordered from the society in paper format. You can see my 2nd great grandparents, Charles Milne and Margaret Ritchie listed here. In fact, if you look at the top of this blog you will see a picture of that churchyard. It was a lovely location. Before I went to the cemetery I checked on findagrave. At that time there were only 73 interments posted for this cemetery. So, while I was there, although our time was limited, I took as many photos as I could. Specifically of surnames I have an interest in, like Milne and Ritchie. As of today there are interments on findagrave for this cemetery. Here is a link to the cemetery on the findagrave site Aboyne Kiryard. And I just have to share the pictures of me at the Kirkyard. It took me a while to find that little cross headstone. I was really happy to be able to help document a portion of this cemetery on findagrave so that others can find their family members. What was great about this too was that once I got home and was able to conduct more research based on the photos I took, I connected to several more of the people buried there. We all know how fortunate we are to have millions of records online.

Chapter 2 : Aberdeen bypass costing builders 'hundreds of millions more' - BBC News

The Aberdeen & North-East Scotland Family History Society exists to assist and promote the study of genealogy and family history based on the North-East corner of Scotland.

Chapter 3 : Aberdeen & North East News - The Scotsman

Amateur performers of all ages are warmly invited to compete, with the option to perform on a non-competitive basis. It is hoped that we continue to attract entries from the City, and more from the Shire, Moray and beyond.

Chapter 4 : NE Scotland, Orkney & Shetland - BBC News

Aberdeen & North East 1 Case of Mad Cow Disease confirmed on farm in Aberdeenshire A new case of so called "mad cow" disease has been discovered on a farm in Aberdeenshire, it has been confirmed.

Chapter 5 : North East Scotland (Scottish Parliament electoral region) - Wikipedia

RSPB Scotland is a nature conservation charity and the Scottish SPCA is an animal welfare charity. If you find a sick or injured bird or other wild animal in NE Scotland, please contact the Scottish SPCA on or THE NEW ARC.

Chapter 6 : Aberdeen - Wikipedia

The Aberdeen and North East of Scotland Music Festival Association, formed in , is the oldest in the country. War years apart it has provided the City of Aberdeen with Festivals of Music, Speech, Drama and Dance for 95 years.

Chapter 7 : North east of Scotland news

North East Scotland is one of the eight electoral regions of the Scottish Parliament which were created in Ten of the parliament's 73 first past the post constituencies are sub-divisions of the region and it elects seven of the 56 additional-member Members of the Scottish Parliament (MSPs).

Chapter 8 : MICHIGAN FAMILY TRAILS : SCOTLAND - ABERDEEN & NORTH-EAST SCOTLAND FAMIL

"The Aberdeen & North-East Scotland Family History Society exists to assist and promote the study of genealogy and family history based on the North-East corner of Scotland. This area covers the old counties of Aberdeenshire, Banffshire, Kincardineshire and Morayshire.

Chapter 9 : Aberdeenshire - Things to Do & Accommodation | VisitScotland

NESMS - North East of Scotland Music School, Aberdeen. likes 31 talking about this 19 were here. A Scottish charity and the UK's most northerly.