Child Care for children 5 years of age and younger There are numerous child care programs within a 10 block radius of Washington Square Park. Full-time and part-time care options are available, with longer days more typically available for children beginning at age 2 years 9 months. Many of the child care programs in the Greenwich Village area operate on the school year calendar. The majority of families applied for September admission during the previous Fall and registered during early Spring. Visit child care programs in the area and place your name on waitlists. Consider a short commute from your home community to locate additional resources. Recruit and hire an in-home care provider on your own: Child Care for School-age Children Many public schools offer before-school, after-school and extended day programs to families enrolled at the public school. When you register your child at school, ask the school about after-school programs at the school or those which are frequented by other families. Other ways to identify care for out-of-school time: Talk with our parents about sharing care, play dates, etc. Public Elementary PreK-5th grade and Middle Schools th grade Eligibility All NYC residents are eligible for free public school services for their children beginning at 4 years of age. The birth date cutoff is December 31 of the year the child enrolls. Some schools also offer school-day Pre-K programs. Space in a public Pre-K program is limited and is available on a first-come, first-serve basis. It is not uncommon however that spaces still remain in the early Fall. Kindergarten In NYC, kindergarten is scheduled as a full school day program, typically 8: Kindergarten is guaranteed for every child seeking to enroll. All children must enroll in school by the 1st Grade or receive approval to be home-schooled. If you are interested in teaching your child at home, contact William Harrington, Director, Department of Education Central Office of Home Schooling or wharrin schools. Additional information about homeschooling is available from the Department of Education. Public School Placement and Registration Children are assigned to elementary and middle schools based on their home address. Registration resumes shortly before the start of the school year and continues throughout the year. Families living in the NYU faculty housing are zoned for schools in District 2. District 2 is one the largest and strongest of the school districts in New York City. Each of the zoned schools are highly regarded and ranked among the top schools. In addition, you will find the children of many NYU families enrolled in each. Families living in other neighborhoods can determine their zoned school using the Department of Education mapping tool. For children enrolling in a grade other than Kindergarten you will want to go to the District 2 Office of Student Enrollment at Seventh Avenue, 12th floor to secure school placement. A map of the school zones and boundaries is available here. To determine the zoned school for your address, visit the NYC Department of Education or contact Registration As a new NYC resident you may register your elementary and middle school-age child beginning the week before school begins. Registration hours are typically in the morning however it is recommended that you call the school first see above to confirm their availability and registration process. To register your child for school, your child needs to accompany you, and you must bring: Other proofs of address are found on the NYC Department of Education and may include a statement that verifies the address from an employer. A lease by itself is not acceptable. If you are subletting an apartment or home, or if more than one family shares a living space, you must present an affidavit from the leaseholder or homeowner and attach any of the above acceptable proofs of address, i. For more information, visit Inside Schools to learn more about the NYC public school system and read profiles on each school. Transportation to and from School Depending upon the distance from your residence to your zoned school your child may have access to transportation to and from school on a free public school bus, or may be provided with a New York City subsidized Metro Card. When you register, be sure to ask about public school transportation as well as pickup and drop off locations. For additional details, see the Department of Education. Public High School 9th â€” 12th grade All high school-aged students who are new to New York City and are entering high school will be assigned to a high school at the Student Registration Center during the the last week of August through mid-September. The Centers are open Monday through Friday during the hours of 8 a. Please note that the Centers are closed on Labor Day. Review the list of Borough Enrollment Offices now, and in mid-August check for the list of summer locations available in downtown Manhattan and in each of the five boroughs. Be sure to bring the documents identified above or you will be turned away and told to return once you have them in hand. In addition to school placement, be sure to ask about public school transportation options when you register. Transportation subsidies may be provided, upon request, to high school students; eligibility is determined by the distance between your residence and the high school your child will attend. See the Department of Education for more details. Students entering 9th and 10th grade who moved to NYC after the Fall exam date and are seeking admission to one of the Specialized High Schools must register with the Borough Enrollment Office for the examination during a time period specified by the Department of Education. Private Independent School There are more than eight private independent schools in close proximity to NYU ; many others are a short and easy commute from the University. Private school applications take place during the Fall of the year before admission is desired and admission decisions are made in the late Winter. Therefore, if you have your heart set on exploring private school for this Fall, it may be worthwhile to place calls directly to the individual schools you are interested in enrolling. Alternatively, the Parents League of NY maintains a list of schools with vacancies that it makes available to its members. For assistance with gaining access to private schools, information about the admission process and resources to help you identify private independent schools in New York City, see the Family Care webpages or contact the Parents League of NY. Team sports, sports leagues and other organizations for youth are available in New York City as elsewhere. City-raised children in particular benefit from participation in classes and fitness programs. As always, other families with young children are the best resource. To help you get started, a sampling of resources follows: New York University - Coles Sports and Recreation A state-of-the-art sports and recreation center provides classes for individuals of all ages. View their program guide of recreational activities for more information.
