Some year ago there was a movie that included a restaurant scene. The owner was wiping the counter and complaining to a customer about the crooked politicians in his town. Another customer, who had recently been nearly destroyed for opposing corruption in the same town, asked if the owner had voted in the last election. Caustic, perhaps even rude "but true. See More Some year ago there was a movie that included a restaurant scene. One answer has already been given " vote. By one vote Texas was admitted to the Union: House of Representatives elected Thomas Jefferson as President. Your vote does make a difference! Is there some board in your community that would profit from your expertise and concern? There must be some child who would benefit from your tutoring, mentoring and attention. Send letters and emails to your newspaper and government officials, they really do make a difference. Even picking up litter from a public park or parking lot shows that you care for your community. And most importantly, pray. Although not in the Bible, the familiar words of Tennyson are true: Wherefore, let thy voice rise like a fountain " day and night" Perhaps Tennyson had been inspired by the God-inspired words of James 5: See Less Hymn Story: Enroute, she stopped at Niagara Falls, where she was awe-inspired by its beauty. Here she experienced the man-made spectacle of the fair, at which the ice-cream cone, the hot dog and the Ferris wheel Here she experienced the man-made spectacle of the fair, at which the ice-cream cone, the hot dog and the Ferris wheel were introduced, along with the other rides and exhibits. Miss Bates had an adventuresome spirit, and she relished the opportunity to see and do whatever was offered. It was a long journey, but she was thrilled by the vistas that were open to her along the way and appreciated seeking out every new flower, tree, animal and bird that she saw. The last section of the ascent was by mule and she was very tired when she reached the top. However, at the top she was rejuvenated. In a letter to a friend she said: All the wonder of America seemed displayed there, with sea-like expanse. She felt the words she had written did not adequately express what she had witnessed. Nevertheless, she rewrote her poem, then sent it to a magazine for consideration. The Congregationalist opted to publish her "America, the Beautiful," in its July 4, edition. Most magazines at that time published poetry, but few of those poems have made any lasting impact. This poem generated hundreds of letters of response from readers. One man sent the Congregationalist a melody he had written to go with the poem. Other magazines and newspapers from all over the United States reprinted the poem, inspiring more musicians to write melodies. By there were at least 75 different tunes for the poem, but none had any staying power. It seemed the poem was more powerful read than sung. However, in a Baptist preacher, Clarence A. Barbour determined that words so spiritual and inspired needed a tune that was also inspired, not simply written. He turned to his library of Christian songbooks to find a melody that would fit. It was as though they had been written at the same time and inspired by the same vision. Miss Bates rewrote her poem in , in her words "trying to make the phraseology more simple and direct. Miss Bates lived long enough to see her poem become the best-loved patriotic hymn. They each felt the song was inspired by God and therefore a gift from God to America.
