Chapter 1 : Baby says Peekaboo! from DK Publishing | Infant Books | Pinterest | Baby, Childrens books and more

This was the book that made my son fall in love with being read to as a baby. It's now my go to book to add to all baby shower gifts. Of all the peekaboo books this is the best one.

Babies love playing peekaboo with the people they love and the faces they know! Babies need to hear words repeatedly to learn the sounds that make them up. Being able to hear all the separate sounds in every word will be a big help when they start to learn to read! Our Programming Department has developed and gathered books, resources, puppets, flannels on different themes, and staff can request the kits to help them build their storytimes. My house has something with four legs, and a flat top. We put our dishes on it for dinner. What is in my purple house, purple house, purple house? What is in my purple house? A yellow table with brown legs, with brown legs, with brown legs, A yellow table with brown legs, in my house. I just do thumbs, pointer fingers, and pinkies! One Little Baby I used five of my baby faces for this rhyme! One little baby rocking in a tree Two little babies splashing in the sea Three little babies crawling on the floor Four little babies knocking on the door Five little babies playing hide and seek Keep your eyes closed! BOUNCE: Great A Little A Bounce baby on your knees! Mirrors The Storytime Kit also comes with 15 hand mirrors! So I handed them out and let the babies explore while I asked questions. If they wanted to do their own thing, that was just fine! If they wanted to listen and follow along to me, that was fine, too. Can you touch your nose? Where are your eyes? Can you close your eyes?
