Contact Author Churidars are among the most common outfits for the women of India. They are suitable for all ages â€" from children to grandmas. They are popular because they are easy to wear. Personally, they are one of my favorite kinds of dresses. Churidars come in a huge variety. The churidar is available in markets, both in ready-made form as well as just the material with ready-to-stitch supplies. Since the fit obviously matters to us, most prefer ones that are stitched by a tailor. However, when a heavy outfit is required, most prefer ready-made or ready-to-stitch ones. These outfits come with some parts already stitched, and can be shaped to fit after they are purchased. Nowadays, their popularity has increased so much that there are tailoring shops in every nook and cranny of the city. Because of the high demand, it often takes over a week to get one stitched. The rates also vary by location. However, in Trivandrum, the minimum charge was , which goes up with additional features for example, a piping in the sleeve or a design on top, etc. Read on to learn my method. In the two photos above, you can see the cotton material I used. The fabric for the top has a different color and pattern than the fabric for the bottom. Take the material for the top and fold it into quarters as shown in the figure above. Take a correctly fitted, finished churidar, fold it, and place it on top of the material as shown, to transfer its measurements onto the fabric. When you outline the churidar to mark the material, leave extra space for the width of the seams that you will stitch. In the picture above, you can see the material marked with blue chalk. Cut the top portion along the marked measurements. Now, fold the remaining top material in half, and mark a portion for the sleeve. Cut the measured sleeve along the markings. This is how the sleeve should look, once the cutting is done. Now, mark the neck opening on the piece you have for the top. The two above photos should give you an idea of how the extra piece and top portions will look, once you finish cutting along the marked line. Cut out the material for the pants along the marks. The legs are cut extra wide at the top to allow for pleats, with an extra piece for the waistband. Please see the below pictures and instructions. I used my electrical sewing machine to get the stitching done. Create pleats in the middle, at the hip, when you stitch each pair of top and bottom pieces together. Do the other leg the same way. Now, join both legs as shown in the figure above. Include a fold at the top with a bit of room for the cord that ties the pants. To add my own personal flair, I sewed on a folded piece of the top material as a decorative detail along the bottom of the leg. You can do this for yours as well by folding the same and stitching. Stitch the neck piece along with the separately cut portion so that both sides face each other. Then, stitch by placing the outside portion inside the top portion. Both the front and back neck are stitched as explained. I also created piping along the openings on the side of the top with some material from the bottom piece. Now stitch the sleeves onto the top, with both good sides facing each other, stitched from the inside. It should look like the photo above. Now, join the sides from the sleeve to slit portion. Your churidar is now ready to wear. I hope my efforts give you a good overview on how to stitch a churidar. I do hope that somebody will get inspired to try or learn this for themselves. Questions must be on-topic, written with proper grammar usage, and understandable to a wide audience.

If u want to stitch a blouse of your size, take a sample blouse you already have and take the measurements using inch tape. It is nessesary to draw stitching patterns for both front and back side. The distance can vary from 12 to 13 inch based on the breast size. A normal women can draw a line at distance of 12" else 13". Now as shown in the above diagram draw a neat curve along the points. Next step is to cut along the blue line like the one below. The image below shows the front and the back part pattern together. Front part is cut into 2 parts. In the first part we have to sew darts then attach the patti part 2nd part to the front piece. Those are the places where you have to sew darts. Then take the material to stitch blouse. Below is the material i have used. Fold the cloth to the exact breadth size of the pattern once as shown in the figure. Then mark the edges with marking chalk. Next carefully cut the edges without disturbing them. Make sure the neck part is placed on the folded side. After unfolding you can see both sides of the blouse. Then the main three darts have to be stitched carefully in the front part. Look at the stitching pattern diagram above for the three main darts. The dart stitched at the bottom should be bigger that the 2 darts at the left and right sides. Darts at the back part and front part are stitched. Next to the front part , the patti part has to be stitched. After stitching the three main dots , the front part has to be stitched to the patti part. Now the patti part is stitched to the main part. See to that both back and front parts are of same length. Then make sure you fold around the bottom line. Next the front parts have to be joined to the back part. Just do that by stitching the shoulders correctly. Next sleeve part is cut and attached to the arm. There are 2 options to stitch sleeve, you can join the sides then stitch the sleeve else you can stitch the sleeve and then join the sides. It depends on your comfort level. To cut the sleeve use ur model blouse for size. Just fold the cloth once and place the model sleeve on it, then draw the shape and cut it. After the sleeve part is stitched, the neck crosspeice has to be stitched and then hooks have to be stitched. Finally we finish the complete blouse like this. Try and send your feedback.
