Can your tours be enjoyed by all age groups? Usually, you find a mix of different age adult travelers on a Caravan Tour. Most tours will be joined by adults of all ages. Children age five 5 and over are welcome, and children usually join tours offered during Christmas holidays, summer vacation and spring break vacation. How long will each day be? A well paced and unhurried itinerary is our goal, after all, you are on vacation! Touring days begin and end at reasonable hours and include frequent stops. While the occasional early morning departure is necessary, we do our best to ensure a leisurely vacation and you will arrive at your hotels between 1: How large will my group be? Group sizes will vary depending on the reserved rooms at the hotels and lodges and the capacity of the boats and motorcoaches used. Usually, group sizes range from 30 to 44 passengers. All meals are included on your Costa Rica tour. Included meals for each tour are listed at the end of each day. Meals are shown by B breakfast , L lunch and D dinner. Full, buffet, or deluxe continental breakfasts are included everywhere. Bottled water is provided free on the motorcoach and purified water is provided at the meals. Alcoholic beverages are not included unless specified. Our tour director always prepared us for the next activity. I really enjoyed this trip and have recommended it to others. We visited both coasts and many places in between This was an exceptional tour at an exceptional price. The guides were very eco-minded. We received a good education from them and their passion for preserving their environment was contagious. We totally get it. Your Costa Rican tour was awesome. We would never have seen and done everything on our own! Very satisfied with this Caravan tour. Will definitely use your tour company again and have and will recommend it to friends. Costa Rica is a great vacation destination! This was an excellent tour, especially since everything was included. We saw and did a great deal in a short period of time. The sights were very good, enjoyed the coffee plantation and the cart factory. Had not traveled with Caravan before, but will recommend it to my friends. I enjoyed the lunch stop locations too. Our tour director made this trip very comfortable and fun. This was my first Caravan tour. I would book another one in the future. The meals were very good, tasty,, plentiful and fairly well-balanced. The tour director was unbelievably great, an encyclopedia of information convey tours in an entertaining, caring and interesting manner. You have set very high standards with your tour and guides. The sightseeing and activities were wonderful. Loved the whole experience of everything offered. A wonderful experience and great value, I will be using you again and will recommend to others. It was very easy to keep my vegetarian diet with this tour. Never let go of her, she was knowledgeable about everything any of us wanted to know. She was so personable and always happy too. All in all, this tour was excellent, well planned and varied! I enjoyed it and recommend Caravan to everyone. Next trip, I plan to use Caravan due to the quality and knowing you take care and time to arrange good tours whenever they are offered. It is the only way to see Costa Rica. Caravan, you should be proud! Besides the fact that you guys do a great job staging all of the sights, wildlife and timing it was all fake right?! All seemed to rise to the occasion for a Caravan tour. You guys are doing something right. The trip was well conducted and we saw a lot of Costa Rica. It was well planned with nice accommodations. It was a pleasant experience, would recommend tour. I am a travel agent, and working in this industry can sometimes be a thankless job, therefore when I am treated with respect, I try to acknowledge.

We are truly grateful to Caravan and our tour director for being so accommodating. I can guarantee you that I will be selling Caravan tours enthusiastically in the future! All of the sightseeing, I loved every minute of it, great activities and some free time. I got a good idea of foods of Costa Rica. There was variety and lots of bottled water! There was great diversity in visiting different parts of country with attractions, just enough shopping opportunities. The tour director was the sweetest person I ever met. She was always smiling, had great English, always available, very knowledgeable on history, vegetation and country of Costa Rica. She kept things moving, always left on time, very respectful of everyone on tour. She was conservation and safety conscious, had good sense of humor and very accommodating. The tour director was wonderful! He was so knowledgeable about the plants and animals. He was an added bonus to the trip! Each was clean, comfortable and had a special charm of its own. The meals were ample, excellent choices wide enough to satisfy a picky eater like me. It ranged from excellent to superb. This tour director made Costa Rica fifteen out of ten. I will schedule Tikal, Copan sometime next year. Everywhere we stayed the staff was nice and treated us very professionally. At Tortuguero, the staff treated us from the minute we arrived to the second we left as family. I cannot wait to take another Caravan tour, and tell all my friends about this one. Please do not change a thing, you have got it right. I loved all the fresh fruit. The entire trip was awesome. I drove for UPS for thirty years, I know what it takes to handle a vehicle of this size. I have been on many tours around the globe and our tour director was by far the best. He is very detailed, courteous, sincere and a perfect gentleman. I have traveled with other companies; therefore I have some basis for comparison. You are at the top of my list. This was a very pleasant surprise! We have been under the same management and ownership ever since. Since then Caravan has been recognized as a pioneer in travel.

Car details. You are bidding on 1 each, Dodge Caravan. This is a fleet vehicle which is maintained on a regular P.M. Schedule. the vehicle has AT,PB,PS,AC,CC and AM/FM Radio.

What can I tow with a 3. October 07, , BTW I am an auto mechanic and did all my own work. Draw tight class III hitch. We decided to try pop ups instead of tent camping in , the thought of getting up off the ground was too enticing. We rented a Starcraft , 12 ft box, empty weight, lbs, lb hitch weight. Before we went on vacation I removed the front bumper and checked things out. The Sport has an auxiliary trans cooler already in place. I replaced the rear shocks with heavy duty shocks with helper springs to help offset all the weight on the rear. The rental had no brakes so the 4 wire on the van was all I needed. We tried to distribute the weight evenly between the van and the camper. Off we go on a short mile drive to Yellowstone with no pop up experience. What an awesome trip! No trailer problems, no towing issues. The van towed the trailer up the mountains without a problem. The one and only thing we ran into was a decent out of the Big Horn Mountains on highway 14 going into Greybull without trailer brakes. We had to stop several times to let the brakes on the van cool down. Perfect time to explore and hike with the family. The van had , miles on it when we left and almost , when we returned and it did great! In June we rented a Rockwood Empty weight lbs, hitch weight lbs. One week in the Black Hills. No brakes on this one either. No problems towing it, no problems stopping it. The 10 ft was too small for our taste. Once again about 16 mpg while towing. No issues, great trailer. Two weeks ago we bought a Flagstaff This time I installed a 7 pin connector and a Tekonsha P3. The brakes make the experience even better! The thing stops like a dream! It tows behind the Caravan incredibly well without any sway control, although I am thinking of adding it anyway. Hopefully some fall camping along Lake Superior. You can do this with your van. Too much space, too much weight, just too much. Some of the camping lists on this site are insane! What the heck do you need all that stuff for?! So much for my first post I joined this evening.

Chapter 3 : Dodge Caravan - Wikipedia

Caravan reviews from the expert team at Practical Caravan, giving you the definitive verdicts on the latest models.

Henry Ford II rejected the idea and a prototype of a minivan in Iacocca followed Sperlich to Chrysler, and together they created what was internally designated the T minivan – a prototype that was to become the Caravan and Voyager, known in initial marketing as the Magic-wagons. During the s, Dodge did sell a small cargo van adapted for passenger use, called the Dodge A which was discontinued in and replaced by the larger, full-sized Dodge B-series van in Interior trim, controls, and instrumentation were borrowed from the Chrysler K platform, and coupled with the lower floor enabled by the front-wheel-drive, the Caravan featured car-like ease of entry. There were three trim levels: Base vans came equipped for five passengers in two rows of seating. The LE came with seven passengers standard in three rows of seating. The base van had two bucket seats with attached armrests and open floor space between them in the front, a three-person bench seat in the second row. The seven-passenger came with two bucket seats with attached armrests and open floor space between them in the front, a two-person bench seat in the second row, and a three-person bench seat in the back row. This configuration allowed for conventional five person seating with a sizable cargo area in the rear. The latching mechanisms for the benches were easy to operate though removing and replacing the seats typically required two adults. This configuration was subsequently dropped. Base model curb weight 2, lbs. Safety features consisted of 3-point seat belts for the front two passengers, with simple lap belts for the rear five. However, the two front seats were equipped with non-adjustable headrests on the LE model and in conjunction with vinyl upholstery on the SE. Side-impact reinforcements were mandated, and were at all seating positions front and rear. Neither airbags nor anti-lock braking systems were available. Access to the rear rows of seating was by a large passenger-side sliding door enabling easy access in confined situations, e. The seat back of the rear bench could also be folded forward, providing a flat cargo shelf. The smaller 2nd row bench was not adjustable, nor foldable; it could only be removed entirely. Cargo access to the rear was via a hatchback, similar to the one on the K platform station wagons. The hatch was hinged at the top and held open by gas struts. A long wheelbase variant, marketed as the Grand Caravan, was introduced in May It allowed more cargo space behind the rear seat. A cargo version of the Caravan, called the Mini Ram Van, was also introduced for , with a flat floored cargo space four feet tall and with four feet between the wheel wells. It was initially available with the short wheelbase; a long-wheelbase variant was introduced alongside the Grand Caravan. Transmissions[edit] Both a three-speed TorqueFlite automatic transmission and a five-speed manual were available with all inline-4 engines, including the turbocharged 2. The Plymouth Voyager, which was a rebadged version of the Caravan, was also available with a manual transmission. The V6 engines were only offered with the venerable fully hydraulically operated TorqueFlite , until the computer controlled Ultradrive 4-speed automatic became available in The Ultradrive offered much better fuel economy and responsiveness, particularly when paired with the inline-4 engine. However, it suffered from reliability problems, usually stemming from what is known as "gear hunt" or "shift busyness", resulting in premature wear of the internal clutches. The Ultradrive received numerous design changes in subsequent model years to improve reliability,[original research? These efforts were mostly successful, and most first-generation Caravans eventually got an updated transmission. The higher performance fuel-injected version of the 2. In mid, the base 2. Fender badge originally used on V6 equipped Caravans Shortly thereafter in model year , a more powerful engine became optional, with a turbocharged version of the base 2. The V6 engines became popular as sales of the 2. In these years, the ES model debuted short wheelbase only to highlight the new engines, the turbo 2. The ES was introduced to the long wheelbase Grand Caravan for and continued throughout , before it was discontinued and replaced with the SXT.
