He received treatment for cancer of the immune system. He had gone to seek medical advice on his deteriorating health. This story was first published in The Nation of February 14, His brother, father and two sisters all died from pancreatic cancer. His mother had breast cancer that later moved to her pancreas. Now Carter, 89, has a melanoma that has been found in his liver and brain. The exact cause of the cancer is not clear; some 98 per cent of melanomas start with the skin. Genetic counselors say one thing is for sure: Many families are cursed with cancer, and it can be absolutely terrifying. In some cases, as with breast cancer, knowing you have a bad gene can help you make decisions, such as whether to have a mastectomy before cancer strikes. Talk to a genetic counselor before you go searching for bad genes, even if it costs a few hundred dollars. According to the American Cancer Society, only about 5 per cent to 10 per cent of all cancers result directly from inherited bad genes. He said the office of the SGF had N1. What could justify the allocation of N1. The same office also has N In , N million was appropriated for software acquisition. In , the subhead appeared again, gulping N million. Now in , N million was appropriated for it. Which privately-owned company acquires computer software to the tune of N million - and more - every year? Amina Zakari, has said that she is capable of handling the activities of the commission. She said she is not oblivious of its challenges and successes. But party leaders, including some members of the Board of Trustees BOT , are insisting that the Northeast should retain the position. It was, however, learnt that Dr. Jonathan might play a key role in the choice of the new chairman. Sam Edo, the lectures are to foster interactions Continued on page 58 leading the party. The party is awaiting the date for a mini-National Convention to elect the chairman. A source, who spoke in confidence with our correspondent, said: As at August 14 , of the 22 states that applied for the federal government bond, 11 states have so far scaled through with respect to submission of necessary documentation to support disbursement. The DMO is reviewing the additional submissions by other states so that it comes as phase two of their programme. According to him, the CBN governor attributed the situation to some of the following: He said the CBN governor told the Council that the apex bank had come up with some policies to address the situation. Ibe Kachikwu in Abuja. She said what was needed at the moment was the will to build on the achievements Amosun explained that NNPC Group Managing Director Ibe Kachikwu briefed the Council on the ongoing reforms in the petroleum industry. He said the Council was briefed that there was overall increase in power supply by 29 per cent as at the first six weeks of the new Administration, compared to the last weeks of the previous admin Continued on page 58 Agency of Nigeria NAN in Abuja yesterday that diabetes increases pregnancy related risks and causes lots of negative effects to the mother and child. Fowler worked in the banking sector for about 20 years. Those who will conduct the recruitment must be above board. Speaking with State House correspondents after the meeting, Okiro said there had been a deficiency of about 19, policemen since Besides the 10, recently approved for recruitment by President Buhari, Okiro said only 1, officers had been replaced of the 21, deficiency since Over the years, more than 21, police officers had retired; some dismissed, some died between and today. Of this, only about 1, were replaced. Of course, you are aware that a few days ago, Mr. President said the police are going to recruit 10, Speaking on the meeting with the President, he said: Asked about any specific directive from the President, he said: The Permanent Secretary, James Obiegbu, said the President was interested in the welfare of officers. If you know what it takes to keep patrol all over the country, keep vehicles and men on the road, you will have an idea of how funding requirements of police can be. Tony Duncan, the Ground Hog, Mr. The investors met with Governor Ben Ayade in Calabar yesterday. The meeting is coming barely two weeks after Ayade led a trade delegation to the Republic of Ireland. A statement by the Chief Press Secretary to the Governor, Christian Ita, said modalities had been worked out between the state government and an Irish building firm, Affordable Building Concept International, to build affordable houses in its effort to develop new cities. The investors will come with their technology and expertise and set up a factory where low-cost housing will be designed off site and the houses set up in less than three days. Its spokesman, Alhaji Lai Mohammed, spoke in Abuja while addressing stakeholders in the energy sector at a one-day electricity market conference organised by Stratex pro. Mohammed said the Federal Government would use solar energy as a means to ensure that Nigerians got adequate power. According to him, APC would use the small-scale method of power generation and encourage small-scale power investors to invest in the industry. He said if government could encourage 20 investors to invest one megawatt per person, this would amount to 20 megawatts and it would increase the quantum of power. Mohammed explained that the old method of waiting for five or six years to build Hydro or Thermal plants would not allow APC to fulfill its promise of stable power. He explained that there were two things working for APC. The party spokesman said although APC had not done anything on power since it took over, yet power had stabilised. He said if APC could in- achieve its promise of creating jobs. The Permanent Secretary, Ministry of Power, Dr Godknows Igali, called on the Federal Government to assist the investors on solar power by getting access to land from state governments. He said many investors, who wanted to invest on solar energy, found it difficult to acquire land and C of O from state governments. According to him, much was done by the Federal Government to develop the power industry. Igali explained that the major challenges facing power production in Nigeria were the North and South loops, which had not been fixed. Victor Udo, has decried the absence of a transmission work centre in Akwa Ibom State. Speaking with reporters, Udo said it was not good that each time there were faults, the Transmission Company of Nigeria TCN deploys workers from the work centre at Calabar, the Cross River State capital. Desmond Cullinane, hoped that they would achieve some measure of success in the state. It was reported yesterday that an Ad Hoc Committee set up by the Speaker had recommended that the Deputy Speaker ceases being the chairman of the Committee of the Whole House. However, in a reaction by his Chief Press Secretary , Wole Oladimeji yesterday, the Deputy Speaker said there was no plan by the Speaker, Dogara, to strip him of his powers. Besides, the report of the Ad Hoc Committee had neither been considered nor adopted by the House, he noted. Therefore, a transmission work centre ought to be established in Akwa Ibom State. The 11KV substation installed 10 years ago is no longer sufficient to meet the demands of the people. Udo said providing this substations would amount to government providing mobile phone services or building masts for telecommunication companies after privatisation. The deceased was supposed to have been interred at the Hawkins Cemetery in Calabar, yesterday but his body did not arrive from Lagos as was expected. The body was released late yesterday after the ceremony in Calabar. A vigil mass, presided over by Rev Patrick Cochran on Wednesday evening, drew thousands of sympathisers. Delivering his homily at the mass, Rev Cochran called for support and prayers for the family. He said life was a gift from God. We thank God for your life and all it meant to us. We can only live with these memories. We are confident, blessed that God has better plans for us because He is a good God. Lord, help us to know you more. All we wish and pray is that your death brings others to know who God is. We love you, we miss you. Rest in the bosom of the Lord. The names of passengers and crew. Joseph Wyatt Captain He said his administration would not tolerate indiscipline. The President, who spoke at the National Productivity Day and conferment of National Productivity Order of Merit award, said he had resolved to lead the productivity crusade and directed the National Productivity Centre to put in place machinery for him to launch the Productivity Movement in Nigeria. Clement Illoh, the President also directed the establishment of productivity and efficiency units in Ministries, Departments and Agencies to drive the change agenda in the public sector. He assured that the centre would be encouraged and empowered to ensure the implementation of this directive as well carry out its mandate of ensuring a productive nation. There was a clear evidence that the system was not working the way it should and the people had lost confidence and hope in the government hence the inevitable clamour for change. Given the right political leadership and judicious management of human and material resources, the Nigeria dream can still be attained. All we need is your support patience, loyalty, patriotism and perseverance. We want to rebuild Nigeria into a competitive, virile productive economy; a state whose citizens are creative, innovative, responsive, accountable, incorruptible, patriotic and diligent. To get to the promised land we must leave take the battle to the doorstep of corruption. We want to rebuild Nigeria into a competitive, virile. We are resolute in our commitment to fight corruption. A culture that will not only think of a measure of production or amount produced, but how good the resources had been combined and used to achieve specific-designed results, in this regard. I shall personally lead the productivity crusade.

This robust performance is set to continue in and with growth of 2. We should continue our work on ensuring that the benefits of this growth are felt by all Europeans. We should use this time to make our economies more resilient and deepen the Economic and Monetary Union. Growth is likely to remain solid The 2. The growth forecasts for and have also been raised since November for both the euro area and EU economies: This is a result of both stronger cyclical momentum in Europe, where labour markets continue to improve and economic sentiment is particularly high, and a stronger than expected pick-up in global economic activity and trade. Strong demand, high capacity utilisation and supportive financing conditions are set to favour investment over the forecast horizon. Core inflation, which excludes volatile energy and unprocessed food prices, is expected to stay subdued as labour market slack recedes only slowly and wage pressures remain contained. Headline inflation will continue to reflect the significant influence of energy prices and is forecast to rise modestly. Inflation in the euro area reached 1. It is forecast to remain at 1. Risks to this growth forecast remain broadly balanced. Economic growth could exceed expectations in the short term as indicated by the high level of sentiment. In the medium term, high global asset prices could be vulnerable to a re-assessment of risks and fundamentals. Downside risks EUROPE related to the uncertain outcome of the Brexit negotiations remain, as do those associated with geopolitical tensions and a shift towards more inward-looking and protectionist policies. CMI surveyed more than 1, managers from across the private, public and charity sectors on their outlook for Managers are battening down the hatches, prioritising controlling costs over investing in development “ particularly in their staff.
