His father, Patterson Sr. The father died in and the mother passed away in Under the parental roof Mr. In , when twenty years of age, he determined to seek his fortune in the United States and made his way to Carroll county, Indiana, where he remained for nearly two years. He then returned to his native county, where he married and continued to make his home until the spring of When the Confederacy was conquered and the stars and stripes battled over its capital the brave soldier boys were mustered out and Mr. Alexander received an honorable discharge at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, in July , at which time he returned to his home and family in the Keystone state. On the 3rd of June, , he had married Elizabeth M. Kessler a native of Juniata county, where their wedding occurred. Their three eldest children, Mrs. Margaret Gingrich, John W. Anne Reeser, are now deceased but eight children of the family are living and are as follows: Ida Davis and Charles. Alexander left Pennsylvania and removed to Calloway county, Missouri, where he remained for six years, and in the fall of he came to Jewell county, Kansas, where he secured a homestead claim on section 11, Limestone township and has here since devoted his attention to agricultural pursuits. He has a valuable farm well improved and his careful attention to business interests has resulted in bringing to him a comfortable competence. Robinson, has charge of the home, which she conducts in a most capable manner. She has one daughter, May Beth and the family is one of prominence in the community, its members enjoying the high regard of all with whom they have been brought in contact. Alexander is a strong Republican in his political views and in was an elected clerk of the district court, in which position he served for two years. While in Pennsylvania he filled the office of Justice of the peace, and his son, James H. Alexander belongs to the Presbyterian church in Otego and his Christian principles permeating his life, which at all times has been an honorable and upright one, command the respect and confidence of his fellow men. He is as true today to his country and its best interests as when he followed the starry banner of the nation upon the battlefields of the south. Cleo Simpson, who was born in Indiana in , is of Pennsylvania Dutch descent. In June of that year he became clerk in the Union State Bank of Formoso, and in was promoted to assistant cashier. Since he has held his present position, as cashier and director of that bank. He is a Republican. There are two children, Joyce L. Balch is a member of the Masons and served as district deputy He became treasurer of the Formoso school board on April 5, , and is affiliated with Formoso Methodist Episcopal Church. There is one son, Richmond, D. Bennett is a Republican. He holds the rank of first lieutenant in the Medical Reserve Corps. He is fond of golf and enjoys gardening. Among the prosperous business enterprises of Barnard, Kansas, none perhaps are more soundly established than is the Blanding Hardware Company, which was started by W. Blanding, the present secretary and treasurer, who is also vice president of the First National Bank of Barnard. He is a man of large business experience and in public esteem no citizen is considered more trustworthy. His ancestors came to the United States many generations ago from Germany and settled in New York, and in that state his grandfather was born in As a pioneer settler and prospective farmer he settled in Kent County, Michigan, in , cleared up a substantial property and died there in His wife bore the maiden name of Smith. Blanding, father of W. He was a young man when he accompanied his parents to Michigan and six years afterward, in , he enlisted for service in the Civil war in a Michigan regiment, a state that sent out troops that were notably valiant soldiers. At the battle of the Wilderness Mr. Blanding was captured by the Confederates and for nine months suffered imprisonment at Libby and Andersonville, the effects of which he was never able to overcome. He was a man of robustness, weighing pounds when he was taken prisoner, but nine months later, when exchanged, his weight was but ninety pounds. In he came to Kansas and homesteaded acres in Jewell County and spent the rest of his life on that property, which is now owned by his wife. He was a republican in politics and at times served in public office and once was county commissioner of Jewell County. He belonged to the Odd Fellows, and was a faithful member of the Christian Church. In Kent County, Michigan, A. Blanding was married to Almetta Nash, who was born in that state March 18, , and now resides at Randall, Kansas. They had the following children: Nina, who is the wife of J. He then went to Custer County, Oklahoma. There he secured a homestead claim of acres, which he still owns. Blanding returned to Kansas and soon afterward established his present hardware business on Main Street, Barnard, a business which is incorporated, the partners being W. Stauffer as vice president and W. Blanding, secretary and treasurer. At Mankato, Kansas, in , Mr. Blanding married Miss Nora Getman, who is a daughter of L. The father of Mrs. Blanding came to Kansas in and engaged in farming until his death. Blanding have four children: Blanding owns a handsome residence on White Street, together with his business house and a furniture store on Main Street. The Blandings have always been supporters of school and church. Frank Elmer Browning completed his public education at Mankato, Kansas. In and has been engaged in the hardware business since that time. She was born at Joliet, Illinois October 10, of Irish parentage. There is one son, Donald, born September 5, who is in business with his father. During the World War period, Mr. Browning was a Red Cross solicitor and a member of the home guards. A native of Pennsylvania, he was born in Juniata county, that state, December 14, , and is a son of William and Margaret McCulloch Clark, both of whom were natives of Ireland. The father came to the United States when he was seventeen years of age, locating in Philadelphia, where he followed different occupations for a number of years. He was married in that city and soon afterward removed to Juniata county where he engaged in farming and where he is still living, an old and honored resident of that locality. His wife was a maiden of only eleven years when she crossed the broad Atlantic to the new world, and her death occurred in Juniata county in . In the public schools near his boyhood home Mr. Clark of this review obtained a good preliminary education which was supplemented by study in Tuscarora Academy, at Academia, Pennsylvania. He engaged in teaching school in his native county for three years and was a successful educator, having the ability to impart clearly and concisely to others the knowledge he had acquired. The year witnessed his arrival in Kansas, his first location being in Brown county. In he took up his abode upon this tract of land and soon largely devoted his attention to its further development and improvement. He taught school the first year he was here but since that time he has been actively and successfully engaged in farming and stock raising. He has a splendidly improved place, upon which is a modern and attractive residence, two stories and a half in height and constituting one of the finest country home sin Jewell County. Upon the place there are also seen substantial and modern barns and outbuildings. The farm is four hundred and forty acres in extent and much of this land is under cultivation, while the remainder is devoted to pasture for the stock. A mile and a half north of his present home, on the 16th of April , Mr. Clark was joined in wedlock to Miss Melinda E. Her father who was a soldier in the Civil War died in but her mother is still living and yet makes her home in Jewell county. Clark was born on May 24, , and came to Kansas with her mother in . The parents hold membership in the Methodist Church. They are people of literary tastes, which is indicated by the large number of books to be found in their home, and with the contents of which they are familiar. In his political views, Mr. Clark is a Populist, believing firmly in the principles of the new party. In he was elected county commissioner of Jewell County, in which capacity he served for four years. That was a period of severe drought in this part of the country and in this part of the country and in his official capacity Mr. Clark was called upon to exercise considerable business ability and judgment in connection with the issuing of relief funds to the poor and needy.
