Australia beat New Zealand by 5 wickets Man of the Match: A high full toss, on middle, Guptill mistimes his swing over mid-wicket and Glenn Maxwell takes it with ease. All the Aussies get across and pat Guptill on his back. Have England been knocked out? Something unusual has happened. An Aussie bowler has picked up a wicket as a mistimed Kiwi shot has founded a human being. Another length ball, nothing much different than the previous one, but Munro is a tad late in swinging this over the leg side. As a result, he mistimes it and finds Glenn Maxwell at long on. Maxwell catches it and points his finger towards his team mates. That was really a risky way to field. Maxwell was standing with the sun right in his eyes, yet did not prefer to wear glasses. They check for the no ball but Tye is just fine. End of the run stand in just 64 balls. Straight to the man! Agar has a wicket as well. A nothing delivery, full and around off, Seifert just swings it towards deep square leg but it is the longest part of this shortest ground in the universe. Aaron Finch gobbles it with ease. Mark Chapman hit wicket b Billy Stanlake 16 14 1 0 That is such an unlucky dismissal. A short ball, around off, Chapman looks to pull but is beaten by pace. He is late onto the shot and the ball goes past his bat and knocks his helmet off,. Worse, the helmet lands, bounces and then hits the stumps. Hope the kid is doing alright. Good finish for Stanlake - 6 from his final over, to end with figures of Colin de Grandhomme b Kane Richardson 3 4 0 0 75 This is bowled at The ball takes the inner edge and the LED lights glow again on contact. Ross Taylor not out 17 6 0 2 Second wicket in the over. Williamson backs away to the leg side and looks to go inside out but is beaten by the slowness on that one. Skews it towards wide long off where Andrew Tye takes a dolly. Sodhi gets the skipper! The googly, dropped short, on middle, Warner goes back to pull but the ball stays low and skids through. Sodhi is pumped up and so is the entire Eden Park crowd. Is that the game? Banged short from over the wicket, it brings about the downfall of Short, who looks to pull it but ends up getting a top edge. The ball flies high in the air and Seifert runs to his right and hangs on to that. A good knock from the youngster comes to an end. End of the Lynn show tonight. Nothing significant from the batter. This is full outside off, he squeezes this out. His side is still runs away from the target at this stage. Glenn Maxwell b Tim Southee 31 14 3 2 Revenge taken, if it is a thing in sport. A slower delivery on a length around off, Maxwell gets his front leg out of the way to smash it over covers. He is through with his shot at 10 am while the ball arrives at 11 am. Ends up getting a thin inside edge onto the stumps. Aussies need 45 off 28 now. Aaron Finch not out 36 14 3 3 No celebration from the hosts. This is pushed past backward point and Stoinis wants two immediately. Wheeler runs to his left in the deep and fires a flat throw to the keeper who takes the bails off in a flash. It is taken upstairs. The replay shows Stoinis is short of his crease. Toss won by New Zealand Umpires: Wayne Knights NZ Match referee:

Martin Guptill lofts a ball over the bowler, and Hardik Pandya runs in from Long Off to take an unbelievable diving catch. They beat Kiwis by 54 runs. He bowls with a lot shorter run-up. He peppers Ish Sodhi with short ones. That is just seven runs of the over. His partner calls twice in the over for two runs, only to be sent back. Bumrah delivers another good over, as Kiwis showing no fight now. Their aim should be to bat through the next over without losing any more wickets. And on the fifth delivery of the over Santner picks the full ball to dispatch it for a four. He follows it up by a six in the same direction. The lower-order batsman follows it up with a big six in the same direction. He makes the batsmen make mistakes, and is rewarded by a wicket in the over. Towards the end of the over, Ish Sodhi edges the ball to third man for a four. Dhoni makes no mistake as he catches the ball cleanly. It looks all but over for the Kiwis. The ball goes to fielder Ashish Nehra, as he fumbles trying to stop it with his foot. The crowd and Kohli see the funny side of it. A successful over from Chahal comes to an end. He tosses the ball up, as Latham gives him a charge. Dhoni is quick to remove the bails on the wrong one. After a four from Nicholls, Bumrah comes back strongly to give away just one run after that. There is no coming back for Kiwis from this position. That is brilliant piece of fielding by India skipper Virat Kohli. Henry Nicholls looks to steal a run from Kohli, as he attacks the ball, and takes an aim at the stumps in a jiffy. Henry is out by a mile. He mixes it up with his leg-spinners and the wrong ones really well. That over just accounts for six runs. New Zealand need from six overs. That though, looks an impossible task. That is ordinary stuff by the batsmen. They have totally failed to take the attack to the Indians. India, on the other hand have countered the sweep shot well, by placing fielders in the right areas. A similar sort of wicket for Axar. New Batsman Colin de Grandhomme skies one. Shikhar Dhawan has all the time in the world to complete the catch. Tom Bruce takes the bait and gives a simple catch to Rohit Sharma. Latham finally gets going in the over as he pulls Chahal for a six over mid-wicket. New Zealand need many more of those, if they want to challenge India here. The batsmen run, as the fielder hits the stumps. The on-field umpire goes to the TV umpire. No danger there for Bruce. Just six runs from the over. The batsman cuts, and the ball flies past backward point for a four. The new batsman Tom Bruce makes the most of short-pitch bowling as he smacks one for four over covers. That makes it 11 of the over. More overs needed like these for the Kiwis. Hardik Pandya comes steaming in, bowls a shortish delivery, as Williamson tries to slash the ball. The ball takes a thick edge, straight into the hands of keeper MS Dhoni. Danger man Williamson departs for 28 from 24 balls. That has put additional pressure on Williamson to do the scoring. Better effort needed here from the Kiwis. Bowls a bit short to Williamson, as he rocks back, and pulls the ball for a four. The next delivery, Williamson gets too ambitious and tries to place the ball over mid off. But the batsman mistimes it, as Kohli gets his hand on the ball. New Zealand get another 10 from the over. Not much turn on offer for the spinner. Both the batsmen account for five singles in the over. Then he directs the ball towards third man for a single. He keeps it tight otherwise, and gives away six runs. But then he comes up with the perfect ball to dismiss Munro. Aggressive Munro, searching for a fuller delivery is taken by surprise, as he sees the ball hitting the stumps. That is strike two for India.

New Zealand beat England by an innings and 49 runs Man of the Match: A change of length from Boult and New Zealand get an early breakthrough. Just the start they were looking for and Boult delivers. Cook was looking shaky from the start itself, not quite finding the middle of the willow. This time Boult serves him the perfect length, around off and makes him play at it. More importantly, it was in the corridor of uncertainty. The ball moves away a bit after pitching and Cook feels at it. He gets a thick outside edge and the ball flies to second slip where Tom Latham gets a simple catch. Cook looks back and then with disbelief takes the long walk back. New Zealand are all pumped up and why not? They know how crucial this wicket can be. England are in a procession here! It is almost a carbon copy of the Malan wicket. This time Southee is the beneficiary. Hurls this around the good length area from over the wicket. Thus, he got the angle that Boult is getting. He ends up having a tame push at that. He is a pro and takes this one nicely with a dive low to his left. The Kiwis are all over the English like a rash. Talk about the big two and both are back in the hut without creating damage. Boult is on fire as he gets through the defense of the skipper. Length again, just shapes back just enough and Root who looked to work it on the on side gets an inside edge and brushes his thigh pad before shattering the stumps. A rare duck for the skipper and this is his third duck against the Kiwis. Deciding to bat at number three has not worked for him and will now have to watch the rest of the innings from the dressing room. Boult is bowling probing lines and lengths and this wicket is a just reward for the same. He lands this on a length aiming at the off pole. It was around that good length zone. Malan should have come forward to this one but opts to stay back. But the line is such that he HAS to play at it. Does so and only manages a nick. The ball flies nicely to the left of Watling, who takes this with a dive to that side. At this point, it is good to notice the fact that the New Zealand keeper is making his comeback to the side and hence, he diving and taking this is laudable. Ben Stokes b Trent Boult 0 8 0 0 0 Boult has his tails up at the Eden Park. He lands it on a length on off. Stokes does the cardinal sin of playing across the line. Misses the ball as he closes his bat face early and the next scene is that of the ball knocking the stumps. England would have pinned their hopes on him and now the big Ben walks back. Ahhh, another look shows how good the delivery was. It started from outside off and moved in sharply, something which Stokes failed to anticipate. Tim Southee, you little beauty! What a catch that is! He pitches this right up to Bairstow, inviting the drive. The Englishman is unable to resist the temptation. Plays that loose drive straight back. Now comes the best part of this scalp. It goes back to Southee, who, in his followthrough, gets low quickly and snaffles it to his left and then tumbles. Caught and bowleds are never easy, more so for a pacer. Moeen Ali b Tim Southee 0 8 0 0 0 Familiar sight yet again! Southee spears this full on off. Had Ali made contact with that, he could have taken it on the full. Misses the ball completely as his bat was moving towards off while the ball curls back in to disturb the woodwork. Fourth clean bowled in this England innings. Will they get to a quarter of a century, wonders our scoring colleague here. Chris Woakes b Trent Boult 5 9 0 0 0 This is bowled full around off, it swings in viciously. Woakes is a good enough batsman, we know. But this delivery is too good even for him. He looks to push it down the ground but fails to counter the inward movement. One way traffic at the Eden Park as only bowlers seem to be present here. Kane Williamson, you bird-ly human! Southee bowls this full again, Broad has his feet glued inside the crease. In the second delivery of the over, he got it off the outer half towards gully, but safely. Here, he has to walk back. He looks to drive from the crease and gets a thick outside edge. The ball flies towards gully, almost past the fielder there. He is on the ground for a while and we were made to think that he fluffed the chance. The end is nigh for the tourists now. Short in length outside off, Anderson has his weight on the back foot and looks to guide it over point. Fails to get the elevation and he ends up playing it towards the man there. Nicholls has to just leap a bit and grab that. Raval has to depart. Anderson strikes to the delight of his teammates. Back of a length ball on middle and leg, Raval tries to defend it from the crease but gets a healthy edge on it. The ball goes towards the keeper and Bairstow takes the easiest of catches. A wicket for England in the very first over after Dinner! The English muffins have helped England get the better of Latham. Bowls this full on middle, Latham tries flicking this through mid-wicket but hits it uppishly a little square to the man in a catching position there. Chris Woakes, the fielder, takes a regulation catch with no fuss. Latham was disappointed with himself as soon as he played that shot. A big wicket for England as the run stand was looking very promising. New Zealand are 34 ahead. Kane Williamson C lbw b James Anderson 11 1 Williamson gone, review gone as well! Anderson and the new ball, seldom has this pair failed to impress. He lands it on a length outside off, it curves in after pitching. The movement inwards is a significant one and hence, the well-set Williamson fails to counter that. He misses the defence and the ball strikes him flush on the front pad. The dreaded finger is raised immediately. After a chat with his partner, Kane decides to take it upstairs. It is seen that after striking the front pad, the ball hits his gloves. Counts for nothing as the Hawk Eye returns three reds. The run stand is broken with New Zealand runs ahead. The Kiwi skipper walks back after a wonderful knock. The change of ball has done the trick for England. After hitting a couple of boundaries in the previous over he tries pulling this. The ball goes high and towards mid-wicket where Chris Woakes takes another catch with a jump. Anderson gets his second.
