Flowers South Dakota state senator, Smith was born August 19, , and remained with his parents until his majority. He was married May 20th, , to Miss Adelia M. Williams of Jefferson county, Missouri, and was a resident of that county until , at which time he removed to Dakota Territory, with his family, consisting of a wife and four children, viz: Fred Mears of Minneapolis, Minn. In April, of , Mr. Smith as president of an association of twenty -five members started out on an exploring expedition for a settlement upon government land. McMullen and Alexander LaFoon and the evening of that day they were upon the banks of the Snake river where they decided to locate. At that time they were so pleased with the country that they made the best possible selection of land for their entire association, upon the unsurveyed government land and with scrip upon forty acres for a future townsite, and as they hoped, a county seat for Faulk county. The rapidity with which settlers from all parts of the country arrived and squatted upon the land, broke up their plans and disorganized the association so that but very few of the members ever joined them. The first post office in the county was located upon their scripted town site and named Cyclops, by the post- office department, temporarily, until the new town site should be named, with Miss Norah Reppy, postmaster. The first school in this county was taught by Miss Silvia G. Smith and it consisted of fifteen scholars. The first frame house erected in this county was built by Thomas McMullen one of the original Missourian party and is now removed to Faulkton and occupied by A. Sprague of this city. April 7th, , Mr. Smith occupied his tent upon the land improved with a single sod mound, as a mark of settlement, no other work of improvement showing in all the surrounding country. On the following September he could stand in the door of his board shanty and count over thirty homes erected and occupied upon the surrounding land. In the early struggle for the location of the county seat, between Faulkton and LaFoon, Mr. Smith was an active and persistent worker, a safe and reliable adviser and a born leader. For twenty years he has served in the important office of justice of the peace, he has served for two full terms upon the board of county commissioners and in and was a member of the South Dakota senate. At the last state election he was re-elected as one of the county justices of the peace, and promptly filed his bond for the faithful discharge of his duties. Smith has a most desirable residence located near the court house in the central part of the city, where he and his devoted wife have everything to make life desirable. Only two blocks away are two of his daughters Mrs. Seaman with their lovely, interesting families; while only a few hours ride will bring them to the homes of their other two daughters in Minneapolis and St Paul, Minn.
