If Bolsonaro wins, the Republicans in the US will likely be scripted to sweep the midterms as well. But if Bolsonaro loses, the election hack drama could take a few months to unfold before the military steps in to put Bolsonaro in power. On another note, look closely at the first round results on the Economist graph. Should we see a similar motivation disparity in the US midterms, the Democrats will not win the US House like the polls are predicting. Printers have been affixed to a small number of the machines, producing an auditable paper trail. And in what critics call a major setback to the movement for voting transparency, a new law approved in October will do away with printed e-voting receipts. Brazil, the US, or China? Since then, he has surged 10 points in the presidential polls. Look for Mike Pence, Rand Paul, and Elizabeth Warren to survive any such strike; they have roles to play in what happens afterwards. In February, Hitler blamed a devastating Reichstag fire on the communists! Intimidation, and fear of the communists, brought Hitler a 90 percent majority. He was now, for all intents and purposes, dictator. I almost feel sorry for the globalists. To work on this massive project for hundreds, if not thousands, of years only to have people see through it right before the final show begins – it must be heartbreaking. A thousand years from now, a free humanity will look back at the colossal folly of the Kabbalists and laugh at the sheer hubris and stupidity of what they tried to do. So laughter will be their only lasting legacy. If the globalists go ahead with their plans and script the conservative victories to happen, the leftists will go bananas and take to the streets flinging feces in all directions. This will enable the domestic crackdowns to begin. So now we wait and see if the globalists pull the trigger. By telling the public about it, the globalists can now blame the Chinese communists for the cyberattacks that will come when the Big Crisis hits. In reality, though, the globalists will be staging the attacks using hardware backdoors like the Intel Management Engine that are built right into the microprocessors. These conditions will lead to our humbling defeat if the globalists take the War Path, and to our de facto surrender if they take the Peace Path. This interference by a foreign communist power may also play into the second round of the Brazilian election. But I decided to wait for more developments before writing about it. This week, those developments occurred. China will use its spy chips and hacking brigades to support leftists in the Brazilian and American elections via the electronic voting machines and the computer networks that transmit the vote count. In fact, they may have already done so. Bolsonaro claims that he would have won a majority of the vote in the first round of the Brazilian election had it not been for irregularities with the electronic voting machines. It could be all over the place – it could be anything coming out of China. Can you see how the Chinese communists could interfere with the following US vote tabulation process? People go to their designated polling place, their name is checked off the voter rolls and they vote, either with a paper ballot that is optically scanned by a machine, an electronic voting machine or, very rarely, a paper ballot that is hand-read, Foley said. Then, the machine will print out a grocery-receipt-like record with the vote tally, which is usually taped to the door of the polling place, Stewart said. Several copies of this printout are generated, and those copies, along with a computer card that stores the results, are bundled together and immediately sent to one of the central counting offices, which may be either a dedicated elections department or the county courthouse, Stewart said. Some counties take uncounted ballots directly from the polling place to have them read by an optical scanner in the county courthouse, Stewart added. This computer then tallies all of the results and begins to generate a preliminary vote-count report, Stewart said. In other places, the results will be pushed via phone or internet to state officials, who will report the results. So when the Chinese manipulate the vote and the US mainstream media rush to declare Democratic victories, Trump will blow the whistle on the hack. After announcing the hack, Trump and Congress will order a Mueller-like investigation into Chinese interference in the election, with the aim of thoroughly sorting out what happened prior to the new Congress taking office in January. Vast evidence of complicity between the Chicoms and the Democratic leaders will be found, and the electronic voting machines will be cracked open and the Chinese spy chips within them will be shown to the public. Trump will then have the Democrats not only on conspiracy and corruption charges, but on treason charges as well, and treason is punishable by death especially when military tribunals are conducting the trials. Once Trump announces the investigation, the globalist script will portray the Democrats as desperately fighting for their lives, literally. So they will go to any and all lengths to save themselves from the gallows. Of course, the Brazilians will undergo the same process. It is likely that the globalists will script a Bolsonaro loss on October 28 amidst claims of electronic voting machine manipulation. Bolsonaro wins Brazilian presidency. Depending on the settings applied by the technicians arming it, it can explode in a range of yields from 0. A following US investigation could then turn it to maximum. Since there are two controlled sides to the staged conflict, there are two false narratives the globalists are spinning: They want you to come to see the mainstream narrative as a lie and the alt-media narrative as the truth. That being said, what we are observing in the ongoing Khashoggi saga is a stage play being put on for the public. In reality, though, the drama is meant to obfuscate the true reason for Saudi Arabia switching its allegiance: Watch this drama over the supposed murder of Khashoggi very closely. Could it be that the globalists are scripting a Bipartisan Establishment takedown of Saudi Arabia, the Bushes, and Trump along with them? Trump has installed more than three dozen veterans of the Bush administration, putting them in charge of running agencies, implementing foreign policy and overseeing his schedule. By tomorrow night, I should have this operation rolled up. So I can now return my attention to a less formidable adversary, the globalist cabal. After I posted the second part of it yesterday, I was on the receiving end of an unusual number of messages that tried to lead me off in different directions. So after trying and failing to overturn Obamacare, he looked ahead and saw three and a half more years of frustration that would end in a failed presidency. He reached out to the core of the Republican Establishment, the Bush family, and asked for their help in passing legislation that could be spun as fulfilling his campaign promises. Trump has toed the Bush line since then, including placing their man Kavanaugh into the Supreme Court. Now the Saudis, Bushes and Trumps must be brought to justice. So which play will the globalist scriptwriters have him make? But I can tell you this: More on this tomorrow too.

The Designated decoy, is a person that remains sober but acts drunk, speeds, and swerves making the cops think that they are calendrierdelascience.com this thoughtless act, which happens after closing, he/she gets the cops to follow him/her or pull them over allowing the real drunks to stumble away safely.

A sober patron staggers out of the bar at closing time to lure police away from his drunken friends. As it neared closing time, an extremely intoxicated man stumbled out of the bar and spent 30 minutes looking for his car. When all the other drivers had left, the drunk finally located his vehicle. He spent another 20 minutes fumbling for his keys and trying to unlock his car. Finally, he got in and eventually managed to start his car. As soon as he pulled away, the police officer went after him and pulled him over, giving him the breathalyzer test. It came up negative. You were falling all over the place! Told as a true story, this joke first appeared on the Internet in June. It has since been reported as a bit of online lore in various newspapers – never exactly as a news story, but rather as a cute tale currently making the rounds. Pincus and Bernstein were walking down a street in Berlin when they saw an SS cop approaching. Only Pincus had an identity card. The Nazi examined them and saw they were in order. A couple of young fellers were fishing at their special pond off the beaten track when out of the bushes jumped the Game Warden. Immediately, one of the boys threw his rod down and started running through the woods, and hot on his heels came the Game Warden. After about a half mile the young man stopped and stooped over with his hands on his thighs to catch his breath and the Game Warden finally caught up to him. With that, the fella pulled out his wallet and gave the Game Warden a valid fishing license. Two men were walking through the woods one day when a large Grizzly bear started chasing them. One of the fellows reached into his back pack to retrieve his tennis shoes to change into from his heavy hiking boots. You cannot outrun that bear. An interesting point was made in a letter to the editor after The New York Times presented this joke: This speaks right to the crux of the matter: The Office As Comedy Club.

Understanding the NWO Strategy [1. Through what steps will the globalists take us to get there? When will those steps happen? These are three questions this entry will answer. Here are two specific elements of the planned UN reformâ€” 1 The Security Council will be reformed to include permanent members from all 10 UN regions, and the power of the P5 nations to veto resolutions will be eliminated. The elimination of veto power will be sold as being necessary to allow the UN to effectively address divisive conflicts, but its real purpose will be to ensure that no nation can insulate itself from UN action by casting a veto. All nations will be equally helpless against the multilateral UN mob and the Occulted Powers who pull their strings. But once we hit the 3. Putin expressed interest in reviving the U. Military Staff Committee which coordinates military activity of the five permanent members of the Security Council in support of international peace and security, but which has never been effective. The greatest purpose of the MSC, arising from Article 45 of the UN Charter, was intended to be providing command staff for a set of air-force contingents. In this connection I would like to stress our conviction that relevant capacities of the Commonwealth of Independent States, Organisation of the Collective Security Treaty and Shanghai Cooperation Organisation might be in high demand. In accordance with the decision of the Russian Government the Ministry of the Interior is planning on training up to 80 people a year till We believe that the improvement of the thorough consideration of all military aspects of specific peacekeeping operations by the UN Security Council would promote greater efficiency of all aspects of UN peacekeeping. The Charter body â€” the Military Staff Committee MSC that is called upon to ensure an appropriate level of military expertise for the UN Security Council decisions, which have a military aspect, might provide a contribution to this. That is why the President of Russia V. During the first 3. This will allow them to practice and fine-tune their approach. But after the 3. In both cases, the globalists will use false-flag shootings and bombings to simulate conflict and justify UN intervention. Their tried-and-true method is to offer their plans as a solution to a crisis they deliberately create. The current war in Syria is perfect for that purpose. Note the competing resolutions on Syria that were circulated in the Security Council in October; neither had a chance because both sides had vetoesâ€” â€”From the UN website 2 They will be sure that all of the P5 nations get a serious bloody nose from the unprevented conflict. The globalists already attempted an East vs. According to India Today, he said: In China, the central government dictates the direction of the economy, but that direction is pursued with a capitalistic approach. This is how I suspect the new globalist economy will operate. He begins by pointing to the problems posed by the engineered economic meltdown, then he goes on to explain how a new kind of global reserve currency would solve all those problems. In time, though, its value against national currencies would cease to matter, because people would choose it for its convenience and the stability of its purchasing powerâ€” â€”The phoenix zone would impose tight constraints on national governments. There would be no such thing, for instance, as a national monetary policy. The world phoenix supply would be fixed by a new central bank, descended perhaps from the IMFâ€” â€”Governments are far from ready to subordinate their domestic objectives to the goal of international stability. Several more big exchange-rate upsets, a few more stockmarket crashes and probably a slump or two will be needed before politicians are willing to face squarely up to that choiceâ€” â€”Pencil in the phoenix for around , and welcome it when it comes. Food riots would then erupt as Soros-sponsored agitators draw desperate regular folks into the street. This would lead to Obama declaring a national emergency and ruling by executive order. This would lead to Paul Ryan being made interim US President, and he would lead us into a short, disastrous war with Russia before Trump is inaugurated. This war would create a global economic collapse due to the temporary shutdown of trade and financial payments between East and West. So the New World Order would be in full effect by late or early Continue the migrant offensive against the European populace. Launch more EU policies that are blatantly outrageous. If such a nuclear attack does occur, expect Bashar Assad to survive.

We have tried every angle to assert our needs and to create a team environment for both departments to get the jobs done however we are frequently met with a lot of resistance and negative responses. Also, there is no respect for seniority so even the CEO has to sit on the back burner with IT emergencies sometimes. Does anyone have any suggestions for turning this around into a positive working relationship? We have tried the direct approach and discovered that things got worse. Now we need to come up with a plan B on how to turn things around. I encountered this same situation with an IT manager in a prior position. Our relationship was so bad, he once cussed at me and slammed the door in my face when I made a request. Like you, I chose not to go running to the CEO and deal with it on an administrative, not executive, level. Is it possible that you can come and help? I was also assertively friendly. I looked for opportunities to speak with him alone. My consistent message was: I really need you to be responsive. I need your help. I would also like to piggy back on what Alverta Harty advised: IT usually loves baked goods, chocolates, etc. That sends a strong statement. They need to feel appreciated and valued. Home baked goods had cemented many relationships in my career. Their occupation is highly stressful and they respond well to soothing. They get to it when they get to it. Most of us are not as technologically astute to know what constitutes an emergency enough to prioritize who is next in the queue. When I send an email for a ticket to address a problem, I usually bcc one of the technicians. Someone sitting at a desk on the East Coast is not in a position to understand or prioritize a problem on the West Coast. Therefore, a bcc to a technician that I speak to everyday or routinely call to ask a question will get me a quick response. This is a short-term solution, but still a solution. I want to clarify a couple of things. The lack of response to the CEO is rather, a lack of response to assistant who represents issues on behalf of the CEO. While the IT and Facilities teams both understand that the administrative assistants represent executive staff members, they do not prioritize requests in a manner suitable to the executives they are supporting. Also, our CEO is not aware of these issues as the level that they are occurring at makes them the responsibility of our team. I like the suggestions for reading, I will check out the books. What it appears that we need more than anything right now is to re-build relationships so that we can create understanding for what the roles are of the administrative team. Those who would leave under normal circumstances decided that it was easier to comply. Let them know what role they play as an integral part. This may seem rather harsh, however, there are a great deal of folks looking for positions with security and who are willing to be part of a TEAM. The idea of getting all the players together at an off-site location with a neutral facilitator might be the best way to resolve the impasse and get on with business. If he cannot, then he himself should be removed. In this mode, destructive elements are removed. Below are a couple of thoughts that I have regarding changing the climate in your office. Please keep in mind that managing people is science and art. It is very challenging and you need to be highly educated, intellectual, and intuitive. You also cannot have a collapsible backbone! The situation in your office is not exceptional and I believe it can be turned around with your strong desire to do what is right for the company. I would suggest you read: Debunking the Designated Decoy: Get to the Truth in Your Organization Author s: If not, you, He, and the heads of IT and Facilities should do it together, discuss it, and agree to act accordingly. This is a simple concept that empowers everyone. The Department heads may have valid concerns that can be worked through respectfully, keeping the needs of the company in the forefront. They just need to communicate. If there is no one in your organization that can facilitate communication and agreement, you may need to bring in a neutral 3rd party.
