Therefore, knowing what you will need to do and which documents you will need to present to the DMV is important. Online assistance provides step-by-step instructions on how to apply for a new license or ID card. Take advantage of this service to simplify the process today. Unfortunately, this process is generally much slower than simply dealing with the DMV online. If you are on a tight schedule, be mindful that the DMV will need to receive your documents, process your request and mail a response back to you. Double-check all forms, payment methods and applications before mailing them, as any error on your part may delay the process. These are sometimes lengthy processes, and since DMV lines are often long and slow, preparing beforehand can help ensure your visit is as quick as possible. Knowing which documents you will need and filling out necessary forms before your visit can keep you from wasting your trip. In these cases, online assistance services can help by providing you with all the information you need to make your visit a success. Beginning on October 1, , the federal government will require your driver license, permit or ID card to be REAL ID compliant if you wish to use it as identification to board a domestic flight (within the U.S.), or enter military bases and certain federal facilities.

You may wait until your next in-person renewal or other change to your license such as an address change or a name change. I showed my proof of identity documents when I first obtained a Nevada license. Why do I have to show them again? The Real ID Act establishes minimum standards for proof of identity and requires residents to meet these standards one time when applying for a compliant license or ID. The Nevada DMV issued compliant licenses marked with a gold star for a brief period in early . These have expired and were replaced with standard licenses upon renewal. Do I have to provide my documents every time I renew my license or ID? Most residents are required to provide documents only the first time they apply for a Real ID license or ID card. Permanent residents and limited term residents are required to show their immigration documents at each renewal. In addition, any material changes such as name, date of birth or Social Security number will require documentation. You may also be eligible for a Driver Authorization Card. You are not eligible for a Real ID. Will you accept an out of state Real ID? If a limited term Real ID is presented, you must also provide a valid immigration document s. These licenses and ID cards meet Nevada proof of identity standards. They should be accepted as identification for all uses. They will not be accepted for boarding aircraft or entering secure federal facilities after October 1, . A variety of reasons may underlie the choice to obtain a standard license. These include personal preference, religious conviction, or the inability or decision not to provide original documents needed to verify identity, citizenship, or lawful status in the United States. No inferences or assumptions should be drawn about the particular reason an individual possesses a card with this statement. REAL ID only covers state issued identification documents used for accessing federal facilities, commercial aircraft, and nuclear power plants and not for the determination for any specific benefit. Non-federal entities such as banking institutions are outside the scope of REAL ID and have the ability to use state issued identification documents as they deem appropriate. See the next question for more information. Nevada is in compliance with the Real ID Act. Please see the following two web pages for more information at the federal level: Nevada Driver Authorization Cards are not valid for identification and are not accepted at federal facilities.
