Easter Eggs Easter is a religious holiday, but some of its customs, such as Easter eggs, are likely linked to pagan traditions. The egg, an ancient symbol of new life, has been associated with pagan festivals celebrating spring. Decorating eggs for Easter is a tradition that dates back to at least the 13th century, according to some sources. One explanation for this custom is that eggs were formerly a forbidden food during the Lenten season, so people would paint and decorate them to mark the end of the period of penance and fasting, then eat them on Easter as a celebration. Visit Website Easter egg hunts and egg rolling are two popular egg-related traditions. The first official White House egg roll occurred in 1878, when Rutherford B. Easter Candy Easter is the second best-selling candy holiday in America, after Halloween. Among the most popular sweet treats associated with this day are chocolate eggs, which date back to early 19th century Europe. According to the National Confectioners Association, over 16 billion jelly beans are made in the U. For the past decade, the top-selling non-chocolate Easter candy has been the marshmallow Peep, a sugary, pastel-colored confection. Bethlehem, Pennsylvania-based candy manufacturer Just Born founded by Russian immigrant Sam Born in 1936 began selling Peeps in the 1950s. The original Peeps were handmade, marshmallow-flavored yellow chicks, but other shapes and flavors were later introduced, including chocolate mousse bunnies. Easter Parade In New York City, the Easter Parade tradition dates back to the 1800s, when the upper crust of society would attend Easter services at various Fifth Avenue churches then stroll outside afterward, showing off their new spring outfits and hats. Average citizens started showing up along Fifth Avenue to check out the action. The tradition reached its peak by the mid-20th century, and in 1956, the popular film Easter Parade was released, starring Fred Astaire and Judy Garland and featuring the music of Irving Berlin. The title song includes the lyrics: Participants often sport elaborately decorated bonnets and hats. The event has no religious significance, but sources note that Easter processions have been a part of Christianity since its earliest days. Today, other cities across America also have their own parades.

Chapter 3 : Easter Bunny - Wikipedia

Like many Christian tales and celebrations, Easter and its symbolism and myths were borrowed from a formerly uncovered universal wisdom. A wisdom that was transmitted from the Earth " from The Goddess Herself " to tribal cultures from all around the world who worshipped her.

In fact, some of these traditions likely originated in Germany, some date back to ancient times, and some have their roots in pagan celebrations. And, for those hardy souls who gave up sweets for Lent, Easter brings a sweet release " the torment of a confectionery-free existence is no more! The Easter Bunny Both the hare and the egg have been symbols of fertility and renewal of life since the time of the ancient Greeks. Both symbols can be found depicted with Aphrodite, and also with the Germanic goddess Holda. In Christianity, eggs were symbols of resurrection and made great gifts at Easter. Up until the early s, bunnies competed with cuckoo birds, foxes, roosters and storks for the honor of hiding the eggs. Then, the hare prevailed. In the early 20th century, bakers all over Germany began to offer bunny pastries and, eventually, hollow Easter bunny chocolates made by using a centrifugal technique copied from beekeepers in their stores. Painted Easter Egg Traditions Painting hard-boiled eggs is a very old tradition. The bright colors reminiscent of burgeoning spring flowers have specific religious meanings: Today, the tradition of giving Easter eggs and other gifts transcends religious, ethnic and cultural affiliations. Painting, hiding and hunting for hand-colored eggs along with confectionaries will bring smiles to children of all ages! Painted Easter eggs have many other uses as decorations and in games: Eggs on Twigs Osterstrauch " Prick a small holes on each side of a raw painted egg, carefully blow out the liquid content and hang with cheerful ribbons around the bare twigs of a bush or tree. Egg Tapping Osterei Titschen " Take two painted hard-boiled eggs and two players. First, the two narrow ends are tapped against each other until one breaks. Next comes the round ends. Egg Roll Osterei Schieben " Take hard-boiled eggs and let them roll down a grassy, sloped hill. Children can push the egg with a stick when they are stuck. The egg that reaches the goal at the bottom of the hill wins. Egg Run " Balance a raw egg on a spoon and run 25 meters. Those come in first with an unbroken egg win. Egg Throw " Using a sling-shot made out of wool, hard-boiled eggs are thrown as far as possible across a meadow with tall grass for a soft landing. In Southern Austria, eggs are flung across a house and buried on the other side which brings luck. Easter Meals and Celebrations In Germany the celebration of Easter starts on Thursday and ends on Sunday, with traditional dishes for each day. Then, on Ostersonntag Easter Sunday , the whole family gathers together to celebrate with a festive Easter dinner. The main dish is often lamb, since it represents innocence and humility, and carries further religious meaning in many Christian traditions. In Germany, Ostermontag Easter Monday is also a holiday and another occasion for families to come together and celebrate. In some regions in Eastern Europe, it is a tradition for young lads to spray water on innocent victims, usually girls or friends. This may develop into a full-fledged water fight. In Hungary and adjacent regions, the liquid of choice is a bit of perfume! and, of course, real gentlemen use expensive and carefully selected perfume for the ladies of their choice! After the Feast After the holiday, the pleasure continues " with leftovers! Despite its name, it is a delicious favorite, not to be confused with Green Eggs and Ham by Dr. For more recipes, including recipes for festive cakes, visit our German Easter Recipes page!
