The Best Gin Vodka Drinks Recipes on Yummly | Classic Martini {gin Or Vodka}, Gin And Vodka Cocktails For Fall, Pick-a-liquor Ginger Cocktail.

Alberto Lama Gin is worth drinking any day of the year. But spring seems particularly suited to its green herbaceousness, citrus-driven brightness and chameleon-like versatility. From Nashville to Portland, these 11 bars and restaurants around the country are doing gin cocktails right. Try making the Bellevue Heights from this list at home. Choose from versions made with mezcal verde or gin and aquavit made festive with carrot, ginger, habanero pepper, pickle brine and soy sauce. Bar manager and industry vet Patrick Halloran crafts beautifully balanced cocktails and has a deep knowledge of calvados and Armagnac , with some vintage selections on the menu. Halloran and his team also do right by local spirits. Bartender Matt Jernigan created this Martini variation, the 99 Lives, made with Corsair barrel-aged gin, dry vermouth , Cocchi Americano aperitivo and Luxardo bitter bianco liqueur to keep the drink spirituous yet graceful. The drink then goes floral, earthy and vivid from beets, pink peppercorn, lime and hibiscus rose bitters. The Good Lion brings elevated cocktails to Santa Barbara. Owners Brandon and Misty Ristaino craft smart drinks and serve complimentary punch while you decide what to order. On the drinks side, bar manager Colin Carroll mixes by-the-book classics with such inventive originals like the Tomato Marrow Gin Gibson, which stirs marrow-infused gin with Dolin dry vermouth and celery bitters, then garnishes it with a pickled pearl onion. The result is a bracing, vegetal riff on a classic Gibson. But cozy couches, bar food and playfully sweet cocktails offer a break from the chaos. The Two Birds One Stone has enough sweetness to please the Vegas crowd while being balanced and beautiful. Copper Spoon , Oakland, Calif. Copper Spoon opened late last year behind owners Carmen Anderson and Vita Simone Strauss, whose new space includes a long wood bar, cozy booths, lamb merguez burgers and salmon hand rolls. Wise Guy Retreat Gastropub , St. The Wise Guy features St. George Terroir gin, bright with golden beets, pineapple, pink peppercorn and lemon and topped off with a mineral splash of Topo Chico sparkling water in a Collins glass. Garnished with a sprig of rosemary, the herb is torched for dramatic effect and smoky aroma. You may have seen olive oil drops adding texture to cocktails around the country, and this London dry Martini is silky with EVOO drops. George Aqua Perfecta basil eau-de-vie. But the intimate space is also about the drinks, thanks to bar manager Julieta Campos and team. The Bellevue Heights takes inspiration from a classic Clover Club and the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia, where that drink was invented. Members get first seating and their own liquor lockers, but anyone can drop in and wait for a spot.

Chapter 2 : 11 Gin Cocktails to Drink in Bars Now

Though certainly not as numerous as vodka cocktails, there are thousands of great gin cocktails to explore and the list can be quite overwhelming. Some cocktails work best with a specific gin, some are for acquired tastes and others are reliable and always there for us when we need them.

Hosting a cocktail party and out to impress? Strain into a martini glass and garnish with a slice of apple. Shake hard then strain into a tall glass with ice and garnish with a celery stick, lemon wedge and a cherry tomato. Add a few dashes of ginger bitters, a slice of lime and a sprig of mint to serve. Put a handful of ice cubes into a tall glass and pour over 50ml vodka followed by the fruit juices. Stir gently to combine then add a few dashes of Angostura bitters and a wedge of orange to garnish. Fill up the shaker with ice then shake hard. Strain in to a martini glass and garnish with a slice of orange zest. Crush really well with a muddler or do this with a pestle and mortar. Top up the tumbler with crushed ice then add 50ml vodka. Stir well to mix all of the ingredients together and serve. Stir gently and serve. Pour 50ml vodka into a cocktail shaker and add 25ml triple sec, 25ml lemon juice and a handful of ice. Shake really well until the outside of the shaker feels cold. Dip the rim of the chilled glass in water, shake off the excess then dip into the sugar and zest mix. Strain the contents of the shaker into your prepared glass and enjoy. Stir gently until the outside of the glass feels cold then garnish with a thin slice of lime. Shake really well then strain into a tumbler with extra ice, garnish with a wedge of lime. Flip 2K Shares Rosemary simple syrup and Bristow gin pair beautifully with tart grapefruit juice in this rosemary, gin, and grapefruit cocktail. One, because I hate grapefruit. And two, I hate gin. They recently moved operations to the downtown area. The evening we toured the distillery, I left him home alone with our two kids. No, not even a little bit. A photo posted by Lisa Bynum cookingbride on May 18, at 5: Going in, I thought my favorite would be their signature Honeysuckle Vodka. I ended up being very surprised. The stills at Cathead Distillery This gin has a pretty neat backstory. One of the owners of Cathead wanted to propose to his girlfriend. Her grandfather was a judge in South Carolina and a prolific gin drinker. This gin was intended to be a wedding gift for her grandfather only. Good thing they changed their mind. There is magic happening in them there barrels. I have tried gin before. The Husband occasionally likes to sip on a gin and tonic after the littles have gone to bed. Later that evening, we were treated to dinner at The Manship Wood Fired Kitchen , where we were presented with gin and tonic cocktails made with Bristow Gin. It was delicious and refreshing! Not surprisingly, The Husband was intrigued by this gin and tonic his non-gin drinking wife came home raving about. So the next time he made a trip to the liquor store, he bought a bottle. The first bottle went entirely into making gin and tonics. The traditional name for this drink is a Rosemary Greyhound. The simple syrup also cuts the bitterness of the grapefruit juice making this sweet and almost floral. At 94 proof, Bristow Gin packs a punch.
