Cristiano Ronaldo's joke with his son for wearing white socks.

Have you ever wished that an exciting man or woman would just walk into your life, bowl you over, knock your socks off, and a thrilling love relationship would be born? Well as they say: Contributors control their own work and posted freely to our site. If you need to flag this entry as abusive, send us an email. An exhilarating romance may soon come into your life in one of three ways - if the planet Uranus enters your 1st House, 5th House or 7th House of your horoscope. Your life has an exciting quality to it, where you feel like there is only blue sky ahead of you and anything is possible. The influence of Uranus will awaken a deep need within you to freely express your individuality especially when it comes to romance. The ethnic person your parents would never approve your dating seems so exotic! A new one may begin just as quickly. If you do this, Uranus will bring you liberation, freedom and newness into your life, especially in the area of love and romance. A romance you experience at this time will force you to break from any conventional tendencies you might have, to ones that are more flexible and adaptable. Be prepared to experience romances that are passionate, exciting, volatile, but not necessarily long-lasting. That may be the very element that excites you most about it. Another feature of romantic relations during this Uranus transit is that you may encounter an unusual relationship with someone you would normally not have a romance, such as someone of a different social class, ethnicity, or of very different age than you. Or, a love affair may suddenly come into your life, causing an end to a relationship that had existed in your life for some time. Uranus energies bring great instability to a relationship at this time. Uranus energies demand freedom! In other words, you will not tolerate a new love interest becoming possessive of you. Actually, you may find yourself purposely, "playing the field," avoiding long-term commitments at this time, since they may restrict you socially. You may want to be free as a bird during this transit. If Uranus is transiting your 5th House of love and romance, expect the unexpected! You may be saying, "Hallelujah, I need one! You are in an important period of your life, which calls for you to eliminate rigid and obsolete ways of behaving in your relationship. Now it must provide you with greater freedom, creativity and originality in the way it works. This transit has the ability to transform the way you relate to others. A new love relationship or an exciting affair can be a very appealing and thrilling way of escaping from your present relationship. Suddenly, the man who just started coming to your yoga class looks very intriguing. The exotic-looking woman who just moved into your apartment building and gave you a big smile and a warm hello seems so inviting. Another client was enthralled with her affair with a foreign exchange student here on a six-month internship, but anxious about what would happen to their relationship when he returned to his country. Just be prepared that if you do fall in love, this is a time when the romance you attract is likely to be exciting, improbable and rather free-spirited. However, be on notice that relationships that begin during this time often end just as suddenly. One female client had been faithful her entire 18 year marriage, never thinking of looking at another man. However, here she was: Still, she was shocked at herself, flirting with a young man in his late 20s at her gym. What was happening to her? All these people had Uranus transiting their 7th House. Its influence provided each of them the opportunity to break free of their normal way of having a relationship, in favor of the freedom to experiment and create a new, more liberating type of relationship. This may be your time to have a thrilling new relationship come into your life that will set you free. Is this your year for Uranus to bring major change and excitement to your love life? Find out if Uranus or other transits are affecting your 1st, 5th, or 7th House of your birth chart by going to the Free Transit Calculator and entering your birth date. Chapter 2 : 20 Ways to Knock Your Spouse's Socks Off

Simply put: Believe she's worth the trouble and she will be; stop trying hard and so will she; and bring some creative intention to your romance as if she still knocks your socks off - and she will.

These partners view the world from a logical and often impersonal perspective and relationships are no exception. Not surprisingly, it can be difficult for their caring, warm, and more sensitive Feeling F counterparts to understand lovers who rarely show emotion, let alone affection. It can be tricky to navigate the meaning of the subtle signs that these partners leave like bread crumbs on your dates, but once you understand how this type of partner shows affection, you will find an abundance of love in those crumbs. Holding hands is out of the question. Holding hands is not practical. It slows people down, throws people off balance, and forces couples to walk in cadence. They are as cuddly as a cactus. On the rare occasions that these partners want to cuddle, their embrace is perfectly warm, loving, and peaceful. Try putting a hand on their knee for physical affection. They are a physical affection camel. That one night of snuggling will have to last you several weeks until your next movie date night. A hand on your leg means a lot. You may not get a full cuddling session for several weeks, but you will get small moments of affection, like a surprise hug or a kiss on your forehead. These small signs of affection have big feelings behind them. You will likely have the same 5 minute, straight forward conversation about your practical future together that you had when you got engaged. There will still be passion in your relationship. Public displays of affection are out of the question. Tenderness is only shown privately. Sometimes, you have to sneak in your affection. There are ways to get extra moments of tenderness when you really need it. If you want to snuggle, make them come to you. Give this partner the space to show affection in their own way. If you force your love on them or try to force them to show you love, then your partner is going to feel overwhelmed and stifled. Stoic men and pragmatic females feel feelings too, they just show it in different, more simplistic ways. The trick is to appreciate these moments and the meaning behind them when they happen. And there is nothing more powerful than hearing those three words and knowing that your partner means it with all their heart. More From Thought Catalog.

Love Is a Highly Addictive Drug Love is arguably the most mystical and potent drug in the world—and always has been. Did you know that the brain actually craves love? The drive to win them over is a primitive response that produces intense cravings. We essentially become hooked on the object of our affections. Looking For Love vs. Natural Attraction When we are actively seeking love, we look for certain traits in a person. These might include humor, kindness, empathy, intelligence, attractiveness, and so on. It arrives like a thief in the night, on the dance floor, at a restaurant, in an elevator, at work. It might even hit you at the office printer where Amber from Human Resources shows you a side to her you never knew existed. Chemistry between a man and a woman plays a crucial role in making this happen. How Chemically Compatible Are You? According to experts, we pick our mates based on how compatible their chemical makeup is with ours. This means that a person with high testosterone levels would likely choose a mate who has high estrogen levels. But psychology also has a part to play. Dopamine is released in abundance when we try something new and exciting. Or you can create an image of touch via Text: Flirting with her via text makes her want even more flirtatious behavior. Luckily there is hope, and it all boils down to four key ingredients. According to sociologist W. Loving devotion in a committed relationship Thoughtful, honest behavior Satisfying sex Yes guys, I said it: How does this translate to texting? You still need to hit the sweet spot to keep the love flame burning strong. General Rules Of The Game When Texting Women Before I get into the specific types of text messages that you should be sending her, there are a few general rules of the texting game that you will need to keep in mind: So you rattle one off before being herded into an impromptu team meeting for the next two hours. Good morning my little Julie, Thanks for organizing everything with our friends, you make every weekend so special. Big kiss, Peter Watch Your Punctuation Did you know that the innocuous period you tagged on the end of your text may have made the whole thing look serious or insincere? For example, compare these texts: I have a friend who is one of the nicest guys in the world. But his text messages come off as monotone or even cold. When in doubt, add a smiley. Text Her at Night Unlike busy, ambiguous mornings, evenings are almost always a good time to text the girl you like. She is in the right mood to be romanced. Start texting her in the early evening, stoke the flames of desire, and keep her thinking of you as she drifts off to sleep. She might even dream about you. Especially if you text: She was driving him crazy with her sex appeal and intelligence. He wanted her all for himself. Whenever she was out with her friends or was otherwise occupied, he would start texting her. I told him to cool it, to let her have her own space and wait until she was done doing whatever she was doing. You want the sound of your texts dropping into her phone to excite her, not annoy her. And trust me, nothing kills a romantic message quite like a follow-up text that demands to know where she is. Ask her how her important meeting went. Take an interest in her life. Encourage her and be her biggest fan. You showed real courage Friday. As I said earlier, this is one of our four fundamental wishes, so take note! Thoughtful texts are really easy to compose. If she has just attended a function that you know she was dreading, ask her how it went. The key is to be specific. The more specific you are, the more personalized your messages are, and the more genuine and thoughtful they come across as being. If you are completely out of creative ideas it happens to the best of us! It builds the trust that long-term relationships have as their cornerstone. Of course, showing vulnerability can feel risky. When we do so, we expose ourselves more honestly as flawed human beings—which everyone is, despite the images of perfection we feel we need to project. You may worry that showing any type of weakness will cause her to reject you, rather than empathize with you. However, revealing intimate details about yourself has been proven to quickly build romantic feelings. In fact, an experiment by Professor Arthur Arun in which total strangers did just that for half an hour resulted in two marriages! What types of vulnerability can you show? Here are a couple examples: Showing vulnerability can also be just as simple as telling her how much you enjoy her company. What To Say; Text: I want to know more. The devil really is in the details. Asking for her advice is a great way to show you respect her opinion. Big meeting today, was thinking white shirt and blue suit. What do you think? What color tie should I wear? Make shared memories serve as your virtual touch. Make her laugh by recalling the time you slipped in the snow. Make her dream wistfully of last summer when you both had the beach to all to yourselves. Recalling intimate details of shared memories puts you at the forefront of her mind and reminds her how special you are to her, and she to you. To really romance her like a gentleman, you should tell her how much she means to you, and do so on a regular basis. Tell her that your heart just smiled when something reminded you of her. How naughty is acceptable? Studies have shown that more adventurous women will respond better to direct and overt messages. One emoticon, in particular, can be your best friend when you want to get flirty! The difference a wink can make is huge. Consider the difference here: Sound her out first before deciding what course of action to take. Know What She Finds Romantic In the end, romance over any medium boils down to something very simple. It might seem obvious, but in order to be romantic, you need to give your wife or girlfriend the type of romance that she craves. According to psychotherapist, Dr. Barton Goldsmith, if you want sex and intimacy to be great in your relationship, you need to fully engage in romantic practices. So take the time to learn what she thinks is romantic, and give it to her. Your extra efforts are likely to reap a whole lot of rewards. Here are some ideas: Did she grow up dreaming of marrying a handsome prince? Become her Prince Charming by sending her romantic bedtime stories when you are forced to be apart. Does she think that romantic gifts are special? Buy her a single unique flower and send it to her with a short personalized note. Is music the way to her heart? Take a minute to think about your relationship and how you can show your wife or girlfriend that you are:

Chapter 5 : The 5 Best Ways to Be Romantic - wikiHow

Thinking about how your partner is feeling and anticipating what you can do to ease the pressure or reduce stress is the perfect way to inject romance into an existing relationship.

The male protagonist sends a dozen red roses to his delighted love interest. In the next scene, the two of them enjoy a candlelit dinner on a balcony somewhere exotic. This is the wrong approach. For many men, the idea of being more romantic is pretty daunting. Dozens of red roses, candlelit dinners and long walks along the beach are what tends to pop to mind when we think about what romance is. None of this behavior is advisable in real life: What is romantic, then? Small Gestures Count Pretty much all of the women we spoke to about romance said that it was about small gestures rather than huge, melodramatic performances. Just well thought-out in terms of what I enjoy: Does she get up every morning and make herself a cup of tea? Did she just mention her back is sore? Be attentive to the small things and do something little for her each and every day – get up before her and make that cup of tea, rub her back or book her in for a massage. So, it could be as small and easy as this: Then, when the honeymoon phase is over, the romantic gestures start to wane. Thinking about how your partner is feeling and anticipating what you can do to ease the pressure or reduce stress is the perfect way to inject romance into an existing relationship. Some Flowers Buying flowers is ground zero when it comes to romantic behavior, but there are a couple of things to bear in mind when selecting a bunch for your beloved. The first is timing: Secondly, your selection of flowers matters. So, sunflowers for a bubbly, vibrant woman; tulips for a sleek, refined lady; irises for an avant garde, artistic type One way to inject the romance back into the relationship is by surprising her with a new toy, or even going shopping for sex toys together. There are many companies that make shopping for sex toys an enjoyable rather than seedy experience, and high-end sex toys are getting better and better. Lelo makes incredible sex toys with the finest technology and materials, and there are toys that couples can use together, too. Like candles, they help to set the mood and make the environment smell delicious, but in this case you can offer to help rub it in!
