Patti Page wearing a bullet bra , While there are medical and surgical needs for brassieres, most are worn for fashion or cultural reasons. During the s and s, the sweater girl became fashionable, supported by a bullet bra known also as a torpedo or cone bra as worn by Jane Russell and Patti Page. After the Miss America protest in September , manufacturers were concerned that women would stop wearing bras. In response, many altered their marketing and claimed that wearing their bra was like "not wearing a bra". Advice included avoiding plain, flesh-toned, smooth-cup bras, so that the exposure does not appear accidental; making sure the bra is in good condition; and wearing a style that either matches the colour of the outerwear or is dramatically different. Among the respondents, 67 per cent said they prefer wearing a bra to going braless, while 85 per cent wanted to wear a "shape-enhancing bra that feels like nothing at all. Wearing a bra does not prevent breasts from sagging. Many women, in the mistaken belief that breasts cannot anatomically support themselves, think that wearing a brassiere will prevent their breasts from sagging later in life. While there has been some social pressure from the anti-sweatshop and anti-globalization movements on manufacturers to reduce use of sweatshop labour, most major apparel manufacturers rely on them directly and indirectly. Prior to , a trade agreement limited textile imports to the European Union and the US. When those quotas expired on 1 January , the so-called Bra Wars began. Within six months, China shipped 30 million more bras to the two markets: Morocco was second and Nigeria third, while Mauritius topped purchasing on a per capita basis. Children were employed to assemble bras and were paid 0. In one day they could earn 20 to 30 yuan. Women sometimes wear bras because they mistakenly believe they prevent sagging breasts. While many Western women recognize that they have been socialized to wear bras, they may report feeling exposed or "subject to violation" without one, or that wearing one improves their appearance. These included bras, [] which were among items the protesters called "instruments of female torture" [] and accouterments of what they perceived to be enforced femininity. Dow has suggested that the association between feminism and bra-burning was encouraged by individuals who opposed the feminist movement. Douglas wrote, that the women were merely trying to be "trendy, and to attract men. In Elizabeth Stuart Phelps Ward wrote: So burn up the corsets! No, nor do you save the whalebones, you will never need whalebones again. Make a bonfire of the cruel steels that have lorded it over your thorax and abdomens for so many years and heave a sigh of relief, for your emancipation I assure you, from this moment has begun. Professor Lisa Jardine listened to feminist Germaine Greer talk about bras during a formal college dinner in Newnham College, Cambridge , in Greer had become a member of that college in The willingly suffered discomfort of the Sixties bra, she opined vigorously, was a hideous symbol of female oppression.

Click to see price A good mattress is the most important requirement for a perfect bedroom , as it improves not only your sleep quality but also determines how the rest of your day goes. The best kind of mattress available in India are built keeping in mind how we spend almost one-third of our entire lives sleeping, and that it must be comfortable enough. In this fast-moving world, people rarely find the time to have a sound sleep. Scientists have discovered that it is important for an individual to sleep comfortably to work better and lead a healthy life. Therefore, there are so many different factors that must be taken care of while buying a mattress for yourself. There are a lot of brands that offer mattresses in India. But you need to have the best of everything. Keeping this in mind, we have looked through a lot of mattresses and chosen the best of the best for you, so that you do not feel any kind of discomfort. We have also mentioned different kinds of mattresses and the features that you must look for in your best mattress. Hope this helps you! What are the types of Mattresses Available in India? The right kind of mattress is essential for one to get a good night sleep. There are different kinds of mattresses available in India, each for a specific function. We tend to ignore our mattresses the most. It is said that you must change your mattress every five-six years to ensure a deep sleep. Some people do not tend to realise that they are not getting enough sleep because of the wear and tear of their old mattresses. It is therefore important to buy a mattress that is the right size and has appropriate features. There are many different types of mattresses available in India designed to offer utmost comfort level, that come with a promise of the most trusted mattress brands in India. Memory Foam Mattresses A memory foam mattress is the best choice for side sleepers. It is known for its comfort and great support. It is a preferred choice because it gradually comforts your body as you sleep. A memory foam contains several layers of foam that prevent the mattress to become firm or sag in the middle. It also eliminates the need to flip the mattress routinely, keeping it fresh for many years. Gel Mattresses A gel mattress has gel instead of foam to provide comfort and support to heavy sleepers. It is slightly different from a foam mattress, so it is preferable that you test the mattress once before buying it and see if it comforts you. The gel in the mattress also helps in dissipating your body heat better, to give you better air flow circulation and temperature control system. Pillow Top Mattresses Some side sleepers tend to not go for either foam or gel mattresses. These side sleepers can go for pillow tops, which are the most comfortable mattresses available in India. Pillow tops add an additional layer of upholstery that you cover the mattress with. These mattresses are quite soft and cushiony, giving you the ultimate level of comfort and support. Its pillow top keeps your back in a comfortable alignment and allows your shoulder and head to sink in. You can decide what level of comfort you want with this pillow top, which is generally used with an innerspring or coil mattress. Innerspring An innerspring mattress uses an internal support of metal springs for comfort and firmness. The level of comfort that a mattress provides is generally determined by the number and distribution of coils in the mattress. These mattresses also have varying spring shapes and coil gauges that can affect the quality of back support. An innerspring is the best kind of mattress available in India for backside and tummy sleepers. Waterbed A waterbed is generally considered as one of the most comfortable mattresses available in India in The primary material that is used in a waterbed for support and comfort in water. It is the best choice for back sleepers. A waterbed consists of a rectangular chamber of water padded with upholstery material, such as foam or fibers. The two kinds of mattresses differ on the basis of the state of water in the foam. A free-flow chamber has no restriction on the flow of water from one side of the mattress to another. In the other kind of waterbed, which is frequently known as a waveless waterbed, the fibers of the mattress limit movement of water, hence creating the illusion of waves in the mattress. Both these types of waterbeds have their own advantages and level of comfort. You could choose either kind of waterbed depending on your preferability. Air Bed An air bed is similar to a water bed, but with the primary material of the mattress being air. It has a chamber filled with air, which is padded with foam or other upholstery fiber. The air chamber is quite flexible, because of which you can adjust the level of firmness that you require in your kind of mattress. An air bed is the best choice for back sleepers and couples that prefer different levels of comfort. Some brands also allow you to adjust the firmness of each side of the mattress separately, allowing more flexibility for each individual.

Latex Mattresses This kind of mattresses has latex foam instead of memory foam. Latex mattresses are generally made of natural materials, unlike memory foam mattresses that use synthetic materials. Latex offers different levels of comfort or firmness that make it the best kind of mattress for side, back or tummy sleepers.

Adjustable Bases Adjustable bases are the most flexible type of mattresses, offering the most level of comfort and support. The base of this mattress is adjustable according to your needs. It is the preferable mattress in India for people with sleep-related disorders or even backaches, sleep apnea, heartburn or acid reflux.

What are the different mattress sizes available in India? These mattresses might not be able to accommodate a tall adult. They are a great space saver for dorm rooms and guest bedrooms. These are generally the most popular kind of mattresses in India in. These are also a great pick for families or pet owners who share their beds with their pets. It is an ideal choice for people who need maximum sleeping space.

What features should you look for to Choose the Best Mattress?

Comfort The most important thing while looking for the best mattress brand or the best mattress in India is how comfortable is your bed. A few things that you must look for while deciding among so many options, is how your bed feels? Is it soft enough? Or Does it adjust according to the shape of your body? Once you have answers to all these questions or have tested your mattress on these features, you must take an overview of how your bed serves your sleeping position. So you must have complete satisfaction before investing in your right kind of sleeping mattress.

Bed Size The size of your mattress is another important factor that comes into play while deciding the mattress you want to take home with you. Couples or families generally tend to look for a king or queen sized mattress which serve them with bigger spaces to sleep in, and hence more comfort.

Quality of Mattress The quality of the mattress is the soul to your bed. It becomes even more important to choose the right quality of mattress to prevent further sleeping disorders or discomfort while sleeping. The quality of the mattress includes firmness, durability and also the quality of the material used. Someone who sleeps on their back would need a firmer mattress than someone who sleeps on their tummy. While buying a mattress from your favorite mattress brand, make sure to try it out as much as you want to, to get complete satisfaction. Along with that, different kinds of mattresses are made using different primary materials. Foam, water, air and other kinds of mattresses offer different levels of comfort. Which is the Right Mattress for you in India? All of us have our own ways to sleep, some sleep on their back, some sleep on their stomach and some prefer to sleep on their side. Among these, firmness is a factor common to all kinds of people no matter what their sleeping position is. The best mattresses must offer soft or medium firmness, but with a great support. A mattress needs to contour the shape of your body to make it the most comfortable while sleeping. Another factor that comes into play is support and alignment. It is important for your mattress to be able to adjust according to your body shape and offer utmost support to your spine. If someone is suffering from back pains too frequently, or has a back problem of any sort, the right sort of mattress becomes a necessity. If you are in constant pain due to uneven sleeping surfaces, or because of the firmness of your mattress, you should know that it needs replacement. For people with back pain, a mattress must be perfect for the following criteria: A comforting mattress is your key to relieve all your backache problems. A mattress support is what keeps your body on a level plane. Mattresses keep getting deteriorated with use and their centre portion is the first one to lose its quality, which is the whole reason for back pain. Any mattress you choose must provide you with certain basic features. The major characteristics are motion transfer and support. Reducing motion transfer is one major quality required by couples. These mattresses reduce motion transfer so that one person can move without disturbing the other. Another characteristic that is most wanted by couples in their mattresses is an appropriate level of firmness. The right material in the mattress makes it not too hard or not too soft. It is an important requirement for couples. Mechanical support

Top layer – The top layer is the comfort layer that is 4 cm thick. Sometimes the poly foam is considered to have similar effects as the latex foam. The layer is in charge of giving a bit of bounciness and has cooling effects that will enable to sleep comfortably all night. Second layer – The second layer is the one made of microcoils. It is 2 cm thick, and they assist the poly foam in the cooling, the overall support, and the pressure relief. They will enable a better airflow and will let you sleep in a perfectly balanced environment regarding the temperature. Third layer – The third layer is in charge of providing support. Foundation – The base layer is the one that contributes to the most significant amount of support of Emma. Firmness Comparability The firmness is a unique characteristic that is entirely subjective, and it feels different to different individuals. Simba Hybrid – Firmness Level: As such, it is designed to fit a wide range of sleeping preferences and different body shapes. It provides the right amount of comfort and support at the same, and your body will be perfectly aligned all the time. Simba Luxe – Firmness Level: Similarly like the hybrid one, it also exhibits medium firmness, scoring 6. It provides excellent contour no matter your sleeping position. Emma – Firmness Level: It is the most ideal for the back and side sleepers because it provides a lot of support in the back and the hips. If you are a stomach sleeper though, then you might feel a bit of sinkage, but nothing too extreme. Does it Sleep Cool? Simba Due to its hybrid construction, Simba is capable of delivering a good night of refreshing sleep. The latex on top and the integrated microcoils enable an increased airflow within the layers which in turn contribute to the overall coolness. Emma The Emma is also a hybrid, and there is something about it that will enhance the coolness of the bed even further. The ability of the microcoils to keep the bed cool is complemented by the polyfoam which is also an excellent temperature regulator. Edge Support If you are one of those sleepers that tend to sleep near the edge or tend to often sit on the edges, then you will need great edge support that will assist you in your everyday routines. Simba This one is a hybrid, and therefore, it offers
