Are you sure you want to delete this answer? Yes Sorry, something has gone wrong. I will present a few. Firstly I would like to say that to understand the full meaning of the Quran it really needs to be read in the Arabic. I have quoted different translations as there are many from the Arabic into English. For those who translated the Quran, some used the word Allah such as Yusuf Ali translation , some chose to use the English word God such as Muhammad Asad translation. Allah and God are one and the same because there is only One God, just as a mountain has one summit. Here are a few inspiring ones, plus have given the refs at the end: Truly the most noble of you, in the sight of God, is the most God-conscious. Hence, do not let those who follow other ways draw you into dispute on this score, but summon them to their Sustainer: And if they argue with you, say: God knows best what you are doing. Is it not enough that thy Lord doth witness all things? If God had so willed He would have made you a single people, but His plan is to test you in what He has given you: The goal of you all is to God; it is He that will show you the truth of the matters in which you differ. Truth stands out clearly from error; whoever rejects evil and has faith in God has grasped the most trustworthy, unfailing handhold. And God hears and knows all things. God is the Protector of those who have faith: There is no god but He. Everything that exists will perish except His own Face. To Him belongs the Command, and to Him will ye all be brought back. Its interesting how most seem to have overlooked the fact that what inspired Rumi to write with such beauty was Islam, he was a Muslim first and foremost.

Soon after the days of its revelation people have been trying to interpret the meaning of its verses and the verses that are open, come up with a new interpretation every time they are studied. Therefore, one can find and analyze the verses of Quran from various perspectives. Where reading the Holy Quran brings reward as well as a code of law for a Muslim pertaining to understanding life and making it better, the verses of Quran also bring inspiration for a Muslim in different regards and under different situations. No matter whatever a Muslim is facing in life, he or she can easily turn towards Quran to find inspiration and motivation to get through the circumstances and make life better. The lines below give different verses of Quran that can serve as a source of inspiration at different stages in life.

When Searching For Enlightenment: There comes a time in life when everyone of us sees darkness all around and there is no light that could guide us or give us hope. In such a situation we tend to get desperate and in this desperation undertake actions that we regret. In this regard, the best source of enlightenment that a Muslim has available is Quran. So whoever will see does so for the benefit of his soul, and whoever is blind does harm against it.

When Looking For Favors: In Quran, Allah says: Moreover, these blessings are uncountable and the more Muslims see this world the more they realize that life is full of blessings. There is the air we breathe in, the different kinds of foods we eat, the different weathers that are there, the meadows, the mountains, the seas, the planes and so on. Therefore, all a Muslim has to do in order to find inspiration is to just look around and see the countless blessings that He has bestowed upon humans. There come desperate times in life when one loses all the hope and there remains no purpose or no meaning to associate with life. At such situations of devastation people might think that His Lord has abandoned Him and left them to face such difficulties and problems alone. This is the time when a Muslim requires inspiration the most. When facing such situations a Muslim must remember the following verse of Quran for inspiration and motivation. Thus, a Muslim must remain patient in hard situations and the help of Allah will definitely come to the rescue of a Muslim. Besides, there are other islamic tips on battling the hardships that a Muslim must follow in times of despair. Finding the guidance and truth is something, which a Muslim should strive for, however, when one, reaches the Truth, then the journey does not end, rather from that point onward a Muslim needs to pray to Allah for steadfastness on the truth. A Muslim must ask Allah for steadfastness on the path of righteousness as the temptations are many and it is very hard to resist them without the help of Allah. Ergo, whenever a Muslim thinks that the temptations are increasing and there is a need for inspiration to resist them, he or she should turn towards Allah and seek steadfastness. As Allah says in Quran: Indeed, You are the Bestower. The chances of falling prey to pride and arrogance increase when a person has achieved something in life. Moreover, the probability of arrogance also increases when one has walked on the path of righteousness for a while and then starts considering others as sinners or inferiors. This temptation is very hard to resist and whenever such a temptation befalls a Muslim, he or she should turn towards the following verse of Quran as a means of inspiration to resist and detest such a thought. So do not claim yourselves to be pure; He is most knowing of who fears Him.

At The Time Of Illness: Illness is perhaps one of the most recurring things in life and it is quite natural. However, some times the intensity of illness or the time of it gets beyond the patience that a person has and starts getting frustrated over the medication and all the treatment not working. When a Muslim is in such a situation pertaining to illness, he or she needs to remember the following ayah of Quran: Allah says in Quran: He is with you wherever you are. And Allah, of what you do is Seeing. No matter how isolated and lonely a person is from the world, there is one person who will always remain with a Muslim and that is Allah Almighty. Whenever a Muslim is alone he or she must always remember that Allah is always there and He will be with a Muslim whenever every other relation of the world leaves him or her. In short, Quran is the best source of inspiration and motivation that a Muslim can turn towards in times of need. Every verse of it has its importance pertaining to different situations in life, ergo, when a Muslim feels down and out, he or she must turn towards Quran for inspiration, motivation and guidance.

How we spend our days is of course how we spend our lives. Of course it is natural in love to want the best for the other person, but whether it turns out that way or not does not determine the value of what we have done. They little know what radical change are possible through prayer. Every morning I offer my body, my mind and any ability that I possess, to be used by Thee, O infinite creator, in whatever way Thou dost choose to express Thyself through me. I know that all work is Thy work, and that no task is too difficult or too menial when offered to Thee in loving service. What sane man is not? I hold my course with focused attention and relentless commitment, as I weather the storms of life. Ring the nearest golf course. We are supposed to work it. In smaller issues, take an easier course. It is of your own making and does not exist. And, of course, sometimes the government confirms their opinion. Go quietly, alone; no harm will befall you. But, of course, only those who have personality and emotions know what it means to want to escape from these things. Eliot I am now in that happy comfortable state that I do not hesitate to indulge in any fancy in regard to diet, but watch the consequences, and do not continue any course which adds to weight or bulk and consequent discomfort. But I was coming to realize that the real magician was light itself. And that, of course, causes great confusion. I tried to balance it I learn something new about the game almost every time I step on the course. What do I wear in bed? Of course, in time the polar ice cap will melt. You had to be there. It was quite funny. Offer them what they secretly want and they of course immediately become panic-stricken. A free press can, of course, be good or bad, but, most certainly without freedom, the press will never be anything but bad. May the world be kind to you, and may your own thoughts be gentle upon yourself.

Inspirations from the Qur'an from Tahrike Tarsile Qur'an contains select verses from the Holy Qur'an meant to motivate and stimulate readers every day of the year. Its spiral-bound packaging, with a collapsible base, allows the calendar to lie flat on any surface or stand upright for easy page-turning.

Allah hath turned their hearts from the light ; for they are a people that understand not. He was certainly a far cry from the quite literate prophets and apostles that were inspired to write the Old and New Testaments of the Word of God. Later on he was surrounded by many that knew about Judaism and Christianity. Indeed so often did Mohammed have a "revelation" shortly after meeting with his friend Jabr that the local nickname for Jabr became "holy spirit". So pervasive was this view that Mohammed felt compelled to make another attempt at damage control with yet another sura. The Jabr Connection Sura The "man that teaches him" is a young "Christian" friend of Muhammad called Jabr, whom Muhammad always visited at Marwah Quraters, not too far from his house. The allegation was that when Muhammad visited Jabr and heard the stories of the Bible, some were put on record. People believed that Muhammad usually presented these parchments and claimed he had received them hot from heaven through the angel Gabriel. Muhammad refuted this strong allegation through another "revelation" from "Gabriel. But it does not matter if Jabr was a non-Arab. Since he had stayed long in Arabia, he could have known Arabic very well and related his stories to Muhammad in good Arabic. How could Jabr be a close friend of Muhammad if he did not understand Arabic since Muhammad did not understand any other language? According to Muslim writer Muhammad Haykall, Muhammad After the evacuation of Jews from Madinah, the Prophet no longer trusted a non-muslim to write his letters. Rather, it can be a reflection of the brilliance of Jabr, since Muhammad is believed to have been illiterate. Even the word for "Gospel", Injil, is a Syriac word. There are hints of outright plagiarism identified by scholars. We will now cite a few of these. It has been established that verses 1, 29, 31 and 46 of Sura 54 Surat al-Qamar were lifted from a poem of a pre-Islamic Arabic poet, Imraul Qais. Thy father was not a man of evil, nor thy mother a woman unchaste! He hath given me revelation and made me a prophet; Jesus speaking as an infant was lifted from an Arabic apocryphal fable written in Egypt titled "First Gospel of the Infancy of Jesus Christ": Jesus spake even when he was in the cradle, and said: That word which thou didst bring forth according to the declaration of the angel Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God: Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. He that feareth is not made perfect in love. Mohammed discouraged questions perhaps because they were generally embarrassing: Ask not questions about things which, if made plain to you, may cause you trouble. Even today when adherents ask questions of their imams they may find themselves put on a list of budding "apostates". The same reason that Mohammed had probing poets killed and prevented Muslims from making friends of non-Muslims. The same reason bibles are banned in Islamic countries. The one true God is very much different than that: The reason Mohammed discouraged questions is made clear in the very next verse: But those that "loose their faith" in Mohammed can gain faith in the one true God - the God of love - that His people have followed for years, through two covenants, detailed in His year record. Have you ever read any of it? Why not read just a little? The Gospel of John Hebrews 4: And asking too many questions in disputed religious matters. Khan, Sahih Al-Bukhari, Vol. Exit penalties are a hallmark of dangerous cults. But take not friends from their ranks until they flee in the way of Allah From what is forbidden. Besides the Christians and Jews, other Arabs had trouble, likely in part because even Mohammed admitted to reversing himself so often. A whopping 71 out of only suras are subject to abrogation: Knowest thou not that Allah Hath power over all things? A slightly more candid translation: Dost thou not know that God has the power to will anything? It would seem that Mohammed even knew how all his change-ups would be perceived: According to Aisha, while they were making preparations to bury Mohammed, goats ate part of the Quran that she kept under her bed. This portion is said to have included the stoning verses. Is anyone to imagine that this is the way God would preserve His Word?
