

Chapter 1 : The West Australian

I think Life Sentence will be done by the time summer hits us and the star Lucy Hale will be looking for another TV career from the one she has here as a barista. I give the series a 6 out of 10 rating.

Why does Jody want to bring the fawn home? The fawn has become an orphan because its mother was killed by Jody. He wants to bring the fawn to return the obligation because he was the one who made the fawn an orphan. How does Jody know that the fawn is a male? This knowledge helped him recognize it being a male fawn. Jody did not want Mill-wheel with him for two reasons. Second reason if the fawn was alive then Jody did not want to share his happiness with anybody else. Why was Mill-wheel afraid to leave Jody alone? How did Jody bring the fawn back home? Jody did not want to scare the fawn away. He tried to shield its face from the sharp vines. On walking a little, he saw the fawn following him. He then picked it up and took it inside the house. Jody was filled with emotion after he found the fawn. Can you find at least three words or phrases which show how he felt? How did the deer drink milk from the gourd? The deer is a wild animal. It is used to a life in the forest. This is similar to its reaction to the milk in the gourd. It simply did not know what to do. Why did Penny Baxter allow Jody to go find the fawn and raise it? Penny allowed Jody to go find the fawn and raise it because it seemed ungrateful to him to leave the fawn to starve. He agreed with Jody that they had killed the doe for their purpose and the fawn was orphaned for no fault of its own. They could not let the fawn starve. They felt a responsibility towards it. Penny had killed the doe to save his life. Therefore, in regard for what the doe had done, its fawn needed to be taken care of and saved from starvation. It would be ungrateful to leave it alone. This was what Doc Wilson meant when he said that nothing in the world came for free. How did Jody look after the fawn, after he accepted the responsibility for doing this? After Jody accepted the responsibility for looking after the fawn, he cared for it like its own mother would. When he first found it he reached out one hand and laid it on its soft neck. He then put both his arms around its body. While taking it home, he shielded its face from the sharp vines. He carried it in his arms most of the way even though he was tired. On reaching home, he gave it the milk that was meant for him. When he saw that the fawn did not drink the milk kept in the gourd, he fed it with his own hands. Why does she react in this way? He then told her that it was the fawn whose mother they had killed to save Penny. She gasped and was not to happy with the idea. She helplessly informed him that they had nothing else to feed it and so he would have to sacrifice the milk they gave him for the fawn. She reacted this way because she was not present at the site where Penny had been bitten, where they had killed the doe. She had not seen the fawn and therefore, was not as concerned as Penny and Jody. Besides they did not have too many things to feed the fawn on in their home and she may have been worried about how she would feed the fawn. Here are some questions in direct speech. Put them into reported speech. Say whether the verb in each sentence below is transitive or intransitive. Intransitive ii The fawn wobbled after him Ans:

The killer was sentenced to death on Friday March 20, Current laws do not offer a clear enough definition of stalking nor do they carry a severe enough punishment. I became aware of this situation when a close family friend went missing on January 5, The story of her disappearance is listed below. Jodi Sanderholm was 19 years old, valedictorian of her high school, dance instructor, and a college student when on January 5, she disappeared in broad daylight. Unfortunately, it was too late for Jodi. These stories happen all too often in our society, however, you never think they will happen to someone close to you. I moved in next door to Jodi when she was almost two years old. This story happened in a town of approximately 12, on a Friday afternoon. Jodi left her dance practice, called her mother to cancel a planned lunch, and disappeared. Her murderer was well known to her dance team and the police department. He was taken into custody on unrelated charges on Saturday, January 6th. However, Jodi was not found until Tuesday, January 9th. In the end, her murderer stands charged with aggravated kidnapping, rape, aggravated sodomy, and murder. Jodi was killed within hours of her last contact with her mother. The cause of death is listed as blunt force trauma and strangulation. It breaks my heart to think what her last hours were like and the fear she must have felt. Her murderer had been taken into custody earlier that same week and released when he complained of chest pains. The police released him with the thought that they would pick him up and press the charges later. They had not picked him up on January 5th and it is now too late for Jodi. Her murderer was the object of multiple restraining orders placed by other young women and just the day before is accused of following another dance team member for miles until she went to the police department for safety. However, there were no laws in Kansas or New Mexico that would allow the police to arrest him for stalking. The law I am proposing will come too late for Jodi, but it will come because of Jodi. Strengthening the legal definition of stalking while increasing punishment would allow law enforcement agencies everywhere to better protect our citizens. It is my belief that this law should be changed on a national level. Due to the fact that Internet stalking can currently occur from many states away. Uniformity and definition is the key to making sure our young women are safe from stalkers. She was one of four valedictorians in her graduating class. Two of those four years she was the captain. After high school, she attended Cowley College where she studied pre-pharmacy. While at Cowley, she was a member of the Cowley Tigerette Danceline. In March , he was sentenced to die by lethal injection by a Cowley County judge. Thurber feared the death penalty and, the night before his trial, tried to plea bargain to take capital punishment off the table, Jennifer Sanderholm told lawmakers, her voice wracked with emotion. Jennifer Sanderholm is the sister of year-old Jodi Sanderholm who was raped, sodomized and murdered by Justin Thurber on 5 January

The following day he saw Princess Mary off on her journey to Yaroslavl, and a few days later left to rejoin his regiment. That she had not heard from Prince Andrew himself, Princess Mary attributed to his being too weak to write or to his considering the long journey too hard and too dangerous for her and his son. But the very difficulties and preoccupations of the journey, which she took so actively in hand, saved her for a while from her grief and gave her strength. As always happens when traveling, Princess Mary thought only of the journey itself, forgetting its object. A valuable extension of geographical knowledge had been gained by this circuitous journey of more than 3000 m. Skirting the low shores of this gulf, all the way round its upper half to the Roper, Leichhardt crossed Arnheim Land to the Alligator river, which he descended to the western shore of the peninsula, and arrived at Port Victoria, otherwise Port Essington, after a journey of 1000 m.
