Stand on the Mt. Make an opportunity for your members to submerge themselves in the Jordan River, where Jesus was baptized by John the Baptist John 1: Our family just completed a Holy Land tour to Israel full of wonderful sites and experiences. We have rarely come across a guide with more in depth knowledge and understanding of the places, history, and culture of a land. We were looking for a tour that would cover a lot of the biblical sites and one that would be informative and educational. This tour was perfect for that goal. We also hoped to come away with a greater understanding of both Jewish and Christian faith and history in the land of Israel. Now that we have experienced a truly excellent introduction to the Holy Land, we would certainly use Israel Tourism Consultants again if we return for another visit. It was a trip of a lifetime. Everything was extremely organized and went perfectly. Our guide, Tito, was amazing! He was extremely knowledgeable about biblical history, Israeli history, archeological sites and culture. He made the trip and I feel extremely blessed for having him. The bus was very nice! Air conditioned and well stocked with water. They were very full days exploring all of the wonderful sites! We even had a couple of surprise sites! The hotels were all very nice, we stayed in the 5-star option. The food was delicious! Every need was thought of and planned for from the beginning to the end of the trip. It truly was amazing!! With all breakfasts and dinners, and some lunches included as well as the great hotels, it was well worth the money. The tour guides for each country were so knowledgeable and very friendly. It was great having a representative meet us at the airport and help us get through customs. I would recommend not opting up to the 5 star hotels as we did , the 4 stars are just as nice.

Learn where to get all the parts with the tutorials right here. Follow the steps below for each individual Wonder Weapon to earn it in-game. Before moving on, you will need to be able to access the Pack-a-Punch machine to get all the parts for those various Wonder Weapons. Learn how to turn on power to the entire park and find the Pack-a-Punch here: How to Get the Face-Melter: Battery – This is insane. Before attempting this, get the Stamin-Up perk. Wait until the park is mostly clear of zombies. Activate the portal in Journey into Space. Throw a grenade into the portal. All the way back to the Cosmic Way portal before the grenade explodes. If you can make it back, throw the glowing grenade into the Cosmic Way portal and the battery will appear. Green souvenir coins drop randomly from zombies. You can only carry one souvenir coin at a time, so after collecting one, deposit it into the Souvenir Station. Insert Gold Teeth tickets, purchased from the Astrocade vendor into the missing sockets to reveal a canister. Zombies in Spaceland – Elemental Effects Upgrade Guide Headcutter Like the following two weapons, this laser gun shoots an alien beam – but it will always instakill zombies. Any zombie hit with the Headcutter – well, their head explodes. Throw Cryo-Grenades at this Yeti! How to Get the Headcutter: Cryo-Grenades are purchased from the Astrocade ticket vendor. They cost tickets for 2 grenades, and tickets for a grenade refill. Shoot the 1st hole of the canister in the mouth area with Polar Peak elemental bullets. It fires a laser that explodes on contact and completely demolishes enemies. The last can disintegrate multiple zombies per shot. How to Get the Shredder: Battery – Get the Sunglasses and go down to the waterway after opening the debris path that leads to the Bang-Bangs perk, connecting the tunnel to Astrocade. Use the Sunglasses near the water to spot an invisible craft moving down the lazy river. Shoot the part on the back of the boat until it falls off. After the battery falls out of the boat, go to the fountain square where water spouts up from the ground. Sunglasses are a random zombie drop. Activate them to switch to black-and-white view where you can see certain things that were previously invisible. Redeem the coins at the Souvenir Station in the Kepler System – insert three red coins, and an alien doll will drop out. The red souvenir coins are a random drop from zombies. You can only carry one at a time, so whenever you find a red coin, redeem it at the Kepler System Souvenir Station. Shoot the 4th hole of the canister in the mouth area with fire-element bullets to reveal a red crystal part. The Gold Teeth cost tickets. Upgrade any weapon with the fire element by following the steps listed here: Redeem the three parts on the underground standee to collect the Shredder. Dischord Another laser-based Wonder Weapon, this one causes Zombies to break-dance wildly before exploding, damaging any zombies nearby. While not quite as killer as the Shredder, this Wonder Weapon still has its functions. How to Get the Dischord: Return to the disco floor in the Astrocade to find the battery once all the targets are down. The Sunglasses are a random zombie drop. Activating them lets you see special invisible things in color. The previously invisible targets are in full color. The targets appear all over the map in random places. There are a total of 13 random locations these targets will spawn in. Very easy to spot. Hanging from the Gift Shop roof. Under the bridge to Polar Peak. Hanging in the glass exterior display, right next to Blue Balls and past the Souvenir machine. Behind the bumper cars, near the door that leads toward Astrocade. In the claw game near the dance floor on the 1st floor. Through the Zombie spawn window on the right up the stairs. In the trash can on the left side of the 2nd floor. Ceiling above the Power Switch. Behind the alien Dischord standee. On the floor behind the ticket redemption vendor. Visible through the ice cavern with a view of the roller coaster track on the Astrocade path. Place 1 Red, 1 Blue, and 1 Green into the vending machine. Souvenir Coins are a random drop from Zombies. Shoot the 3rd hole of the canister in the mouth area with laser-element bullets to reveal a red crystal part. The last part is exactly the same as the step required for Shredder – except you need to shoot the canister with poison-element bullets instead of fire-element.

Since the temple faced east, this gate was the main entrance to the temple complex. In a vision Ezekiel saw the glory of the Lord depart through the East Gate before the destruction of the city. The expressions are found in Ezekiel: In addition to its use as admitting to the sanctuary enclosure, it may be presumed, in analogy with the general mode of the administration of justice, to have been the place where in earlier times cases were tried which were referred to the jurisdiction of the sanctuary compare Ex The East Gate of the outer court of the temple. Since the temple faced east, this gate was the main entrance to the temple complex Ezek. In a vision Ezekiel saw the glory of the Lord depart through the East Gate before the destruction of the city Ezek. It was to remain closed. Only the prince messianic king was allowed to enter it Ezek. The East Gate of the inner court of the temple. This gate was closed on the six working days but open on the Sabbath Ezek. At the entrance to the gate were 25 men, not the same 25 who were worshipping the sun 8: Among the 25 men at the entrance to the gate were Jaazaniah son of Azzur and Pelatiah son of Benaiah. The gate was the traditional place where the elders of a city sat to administer justice and oversee legal matters. Nothing else is known about Pelatiah. Walvoord and Roy B. Victor Books, , 1: Then came he unto the gate which looketh toward the east, and went up the stairs thereof, and measured the threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad; and the other threshold of the gate, which was one reed broad. And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad; and between the little chambers were five cubits; and the threshold of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reed. He measured also the porch of the gate within, one reed. Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and the posts thereof, two cubits; and the porch of the gate was inward. And the little chambers of the gate eastward were three on this side, and three on that side; they three were of one measure: And he measured the breadth of the entry of the gate, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits. The space also before the little chambers was one cubit on this side, and the space was one cubit on that side: He measured then the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another: He made also posts of threescore cubits, even unto the post of the court round about the gate. And from the face of the gate of the entrance unto the face of the porch of the inner gate were fifty cubits. And there were narrow windows to the little chambers, and to their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches:

Chapter 4 : Inlay Lake & Shan State – Golden land

During my weeklong journey I learned so much about the country and its tea industry. I think I was really blessed to get such an invitation to the land of green magic. What comes below is a description of the knowledge I acquired during the short but definitely fruitful visit. First and foremost, a look into the history and development of the tea industry in Sri Lanka. History of Ceylon tea When in 1824, the year-old Scottish merchant James Taylor arrived in Sri Lanka to establish his very first tea plantation in Kandy a city in central Sri Lanka, he would have never even imagined that this small farm of his will be the foundation of a great industry in a not too far future. Before the tea era, coffee was the main agricultural-industrialized food item being grown in the island by the British, but due to some fungal diseases it never reached the commercial production that they expected. Short after starting the plantation, it was clear that the island was one of the best places on earth for growing tea. In 1827 Taylor established his first tea factory in Loolkandura estate in Kandy and one year later in 1828, the first shipment of Ceylon tea, a consignment of 10 kg, was sent to London. Soon after, plantations near Kandy began switching from coffee to tea and Kandy became the first tea estate established on the island. The Island of Serendipity, with its unique geographical and climatic characteristics showcases special qualities which are authentic to different regions in the island and therefore at different altitudes and under different climatic conditions, the produced teas feature different characteristics. Since the altitude plays a crucial role in forming soil characteristics and hence tea quality, there is a general categorization for the tea produced on the island, on this basis there are three main types of tea grown in Sri Lanka; there are high-grown, mid-grown and low-grown teas. Generally, low-grown tea mainly originates from southern Sri Lanka, these teas are grown in plantations from sea level up to 2,000 ft, mid-grown tea is produced at elevations of 2,000 to 4,000 ft and finally above 4,000 ft is considered high-grown tea. All the mentioned seven regions fall under these three categories based on their height above the sea level. The tea produced in Kandy and Uva is considered mid-grown, Nuwara Eliya, Udupusselawa and Dimbula tea is high grown and Sabaragamuwa and Ruhuna are considered low-grown regions. Of course, it should be mentioned that currently according to the market demand, various types of tea could be blended to obtain the required flavor and color. Tea cultivated in Sri Lanka goes through several process to get ready for export or consumption. For commercial manufacture, generally two leaves and a bud on top of the plant which have the most flavor and aroma are plucked mostly by women. Sri Lanka is one of the few countries where each tea leaf is picked by hand rather than by machines. Ceylon tea undergoes restrict quality and maintenance testing and research processes by the Tea Research Institute TRI of Sri Lanka and the Tea Analysis Laboratory both during the cultivation and after production. The laboratory conducts a variety of physical, chemical, microbial and quality tests on the tea before it enters auction to be sold and exported. For the time being, Ceylon tea is exported to several countries all around the world and it is a very well-known brand among tea consumers especially in the Middle East. During 2018, the country exported 1.2 million kg of tea. According to Ceylon Chamber of Commerce CCC, the export value of Ceylon tea has contracted in last three years due to several reasons including macroeconomic instabilities and structurally lower oil prices in key export markets. However, there has been some improvement in exports to non-traditional markets such as China lately; Sri Lanka is exporting about 7 million kg of black tea to China.
