Business functions include third party application integration, portals, custom real estate sites, registrations, database applications, etc. This package combines custom design with custom features. Larger Scale Business Websites This package is for websites with lots of existing pages and content, and may even include customer portals or interactive features. Lead Routing Lead routing allows you to set up customizable lead forms to route them to specific people based on the pages they are filled out on, or based on the info they enter into the form. This helps larger organizations with sales teams keep track of leads in a more efficient way. Third Party Software Integrations If your business relies on third party software for business functions, SEOteric can help you integrate those solutions into your website. Many times, this involves building a "bridge" between the website and the third party software that can communicate via API connections. This is especially helpful for larger businesses with higher lead volume and multiple sales people. We help clients across the country with website design and development. Get solutions for small start-up business all the way up to enterprise level developments. We help clients with branding and logos, content creation, photography, social media, video creation, and so much more. When you work with SEOteric on a website project, you get to direct the vision of what you want, and have skilled people build it for you. You save the time and headache of having to do it yourself. For larger clients with more requirements and needs, we are equipped to handle large, complicated projects. Our team is well versed in the latest programming and design technologies, and we stay on the leading edge of that. Then, we begin to create the brand and the look and feel of the website. We either start with an existing framework to save you money, or we can fully custom design your website to give you a truly branded design. Our design team meets with you to create your vision. Then we begin working on developing the code, content, message, and photography. Photography is really important because it's what people remember about a website. Then we test, optimize, and launch. To have a website that produces results in Las Vegas, NV, we have to influence and improve as many things as we can. It needs to look great, load quickly, work on mobile devices, and provide easy conversion points. You get a website built by a professional that knows marketing.
