Chapter 1 : Smile Book Review and Ratings by Kids - Raina Telgemeier

We read it at least 2 times a day and there is an endless clamor for 'the pool book'. It doesn't have more than one page with actual swim tips, but it teaches kids that hard work pays off and how much fun the pool can be.

Contributing posters are people who regularly post worthwhile advice and help. Only give advice on something you believe to be true. If we feel a piece of advice is particularly reckless, dangerous, or extremely unhelpful we may remove it. If a post or comment is provided that is not a response to a question, the post may be removed. Keep discussion friendly, civil, courteous, and professional. The same goes for assuming that a shop is trying to "rip you off. Remember the golden rule: Those who demonstrate they cannot follow the rules will be warned and posts removed. Those who continually cause issue will be removed 2a One Incident per Thread. All posts without this information may be subject to being removed. We allow links, pictures, video, or audio file to help diagnose your problem. This is a zero tolerance policy. This will allow people to filter out posts that have already been resolved so they can move on to other posts that still need assistance. If you are making a Second Opinion post, then please do not name the shops specifically. The post will be deleted, this is not a review forum for specific shops. This is a sub for mechanical questions. However, please observe rule 1 when asking for a second opinion. Generally there is a good reason why a repair costs what it does. We are more than happy to help you figure out why a shop wants to charge you for a repair, and we will tell you if it is unusually high. We are also happy to advise on how you can save money at the shop. Please read the sticky post on the subject for details.

For best results use only: Title, Author, Date Range, and Keywords. You will be able to limit your search further once you reach the results page. This is the best book search engine on the net, from a huge Canadian company originally started by booksellers. Millions of books of all kinds from dealers all over the world, some not found in libraries. Most of the English language books ever published: You should limit your search at least to Format: You can do this on the advanced search page or once you arrive at the results, using the left hand column, as with Abe. Often you can find more about the content of a title by going to an individual library holding. Once you have narrowed down a possible title, try Amazon. The colour option on Google is working better and better. I have started using Images on Bing. Look in the left hand column to limit your search to these. A few words can help: If all you can remember is a few words, try Google. Put the words in quotes. Use only one or two, essential, easily-spelled, keywords. Try this sample Google search: Selling One or Two Books. Probably the easiest place for an individual to sell books like those above is on Amazon. Look up your book, click on the picture, then look in the blue box for "Have one to sell? If, and only if, Amazon has listed the book in the past, will you be able to list also. Ebay is also very easy and inexpensive to use for a few books and it allows you more room to describe the books. For pricing your book, it is easier and more accurate to use the Abebooks. Then double check on Amazon because prices there are sometimes higher. The more care you put into describing your books, the more likely you are to sell them. We do not purchase books online, sight unseen. Please do not offer them to us. If you have a collection or several rare books you are interested in selling to us, especially if you live in the Northwest, please look on http: Our email address is on the Contact Us page. We never value a book over the net, nor do other reputable booksellers. Look through the suggestions below.

Range[ edit ] Stink bombs At the lower end of the spectrum, relatively harmless stink bombs consist of ammonium sulfide , which smells strongly of rotten eggs. When exposed to air, the ammonium sulfide reacts with moisture, hydrolyzes , and a mixture of hydrogen sulfide rotten egg smell and ammonia is released. Other popular substances on which to base stink bombs are thiols with lower molecular weight, e. A variation on this idea is the scent bomb, or perfume bomb, filled with an overpowering "cheap perfume" smell. At the upper end of the spectrum, the governments of Israel and the United States of America are developing stink bombs for use by their law enforcement agencies and militaries as riot control and area denial weapons. Using stink bombs for these purposes has advantages over traditional riot control agents: Another variety of prank stink bomb comprises two bags, one smaller and inside the other. The inner one contains a liquid and the outer one a powder. When the inner one is ruptured by squeezing it, the liquid reacts with the powder, producing hydrogen sulfide, which expands and bursts the outer bag, releasing an unpleasant odor. April Learn how and when to remove this template message Typically, lower molecular weight volatile organic compounds are used. Generally the higher molecular weight for a given class of compounds, the lower volatility and initial concentration but the longer persistence. Some chemicals typically thiols have a certain concentration threshold over which the smell is not perceived significantly stronger; therefore a lower-volatility compound is capable of providing comparable stench intensity to a higher-volatility compound, but for longer time. Care should be taken as some compounds are toxic either in higher concentration or after prolonged exposure in low concentration. The pods from this plant are collected when partly dried and stamped on, to release the stink. Methanethiol used rarely; it is a gas and therefore more difficult to handle than liquids Ethanethiol , smelling similar to leeks, onions, durian or cooked cabbage.

Home Learning Cloth a new idea for your table This is our kitchen table. Yes, the one we share our meals on. I gave up fine dining awhile ago, 21 years to the day. I find that our table is the center of our home. Well I already know my name.. I think I do! I have plans to branch out for other things, which I will post as I go along. Our table has a regular plastic table cloth on it, printed in a bright springy pattern. On top of that is a sheet of heavy plastic that I purchased at the fabric store. I actually purchased it to keep the one table cloth looking bright and clean through the season. It ran me about 15 dollars for my large table. They sell it by the foot. Please remember if you are using this with a 3 years old, please watch them, mine had the habit of pressing too hard and popping the marker into itself. Ruined a few of them. Also remember to teach your little one and big ones to put the lid on and tap on the table to make sure it shuts. Lost a few to dry out. Eventually my creative mind took over and we first layed a map on it, to plan our summer week run. Then I started to write up cards of my sons name for him to practice writing, then alphabets. When he was done, all he had to do was wipe it off. Gosh, it started to great for everything. We started to slip the game boards under it, because some reason at my house, it constantly is moving and with having to keep it on the table and the pieces. Well you get the idea. I look pretty silly sporting different colored sleeves on my skin. I also when we are finished just a quick squirt with windex and wipey, wipey.. This week I am looking for dot to dots to put under to play and a few maze games.. I just wanted to share with you. I promise I will post more as I keep getting my creativity on. This actually is fun, and makes us a little closer.
