Genealogy profile for Leonard Corder Huff Leonard Corder Huff (-) - Genealogy Genealogy for Leonard Corder Huff (-) family tree on Geni, with over million profiles of ancestors and living relatives.

Huff closed her eyes in death, following a wearing illness that had extended over a period of seven weeks. She passed her eightieth birthday on the sixth of last March. Huff was one of twelve children of the household of George and Martha Meriwether, and her birthplace was in the vicinity of Dyersberg, Tenn. The family later moved to Georgia for several years residence, and in the year , after the death of her father, Mrs. Huff, who was then Miss Mattie Meriwether, came to Texas. The family made the trip by wagon train, bringing with them their slaves and cattle and all personal belongings. Huff, then one of the wealthiest land and slave owners in this section, and the father by a previous marriage of Mrs. Mary Powell of Luling, Mrs. Dilworth of Gonzales, Mrs. Johnson of this city, Mrs. Chambers of Beaumont, Mrs. Blunt of Lockhart and of Thos. Huff of this city and Frank and John Huff of Flatonina. To their union were born seven children, all but one of whom are living, and were present at her funeral, as follows: Lipscomb, Miss Jennie Huff and Messrs. Besides the rearing of her own children, Mrs. Huff endured the hardships and deprivations of the Civil War and reconstruction period, when the freedom of the negro slaves with no remuneration to the owners, left the Southern planters land poor, for the lack of men to work the fields. She was called upon to bid good bye to brothers, who were called to the front to fight for the South and bare their breasts to the cruel Yankee bullets, and she bore her share of the burden that fell to the women, much after the manner that they are today organizing their Red Cross work, to take of. Eleven years after the death of her first husband, she was married the second time to W. Ramsey, a well known planter of the Soda Springs community, on Jan. For the past twenty years, Mrs. Huff had made her home with her son, L. Huff of Harwood, and there as in previous communities in which she had resided, she took an active interest in public welfare work and the uplift of the people. She was charitable to the point of a generosity that meant deprivation to herself at times and no worthy appeal was ever laid before her in vain. She gave wise counsel to the weak and defenseless, who sought it, and no woman has ever lived in the Harwood vicinity who was more universally esteemed and loved. The remains of Mrs. Weeks conducting the service assisted by Rev. Launch, Methodist minister at Maxwell. Huff had been a consistent member of the Methodist church since her childhood days and died in the triumph of a Christian faith. Besides the relatives above referred to, Mrs. Huff is survived by one brother, Jas Meriwether of Montell, twenty-four grandchildren, ten great grand-children and numerous nephews and nieces, with all of whom the Signal shares the sorrow of giving her up.
