Single hole punch not pictured below! oops! If you want to use a toilet paper roll and paint it yellow, by all means, go for it! Start by cutting out a little beak for your paper roll chick. Fold a small scrap of orange paper or cardstock in half, then cut out a triangle on the fold. Cut a piece of yellow card stock to be 1. Draw some cute, little rosy cheeks beside the beak with a pink pencil crayon. Then draw some eyebrows above the googly eyes. When the face is ready, roll the paper into a tube shape and secure it with a strip of invisible tape. Use a single hole punch to make little holes on the sides of the paper roll. Line them up so they are right across from each other, roughly in the middle of the paper roll. Bend the pipe cleaners into little wing shapes and tuck the end back into the hole. I was trying to keep things easy, so I just used tape to attach the feet to the inside of the paper roll. If your paper roll chicks need to be stronger, just use a little bit of hot glue to keep the feet in place. Then cut a piece of pipe cleaner, about 2. Attach it to the top of the paper roll with a piece of tape. I bent the feet slightly upwards so they would stick out from under the chick. I love how bright and happy these paper roll chicks look! I wish I would have thought of taking a picture with eggs in them! It only takes about 5 minutes to make each chick, so they are really quick to make with the kids. The only drawing skills you and your kids will need will be for the eyebrows and rosy cheeks. These paper roll chicks are such an adorable Easter craft idea and they are super simple to make! Who would have thought you could use handprints to make a flower?!
