Too often, kids do not realize the significance of worshipping the one, true God. Children assume that "worship" is synonymous with "singing. The first lesson explains the core meaning of worship "to show worth. The remaining two lessons will demonstrate how kids can worship through giving and by serving others. For children, the Bible can be a very intimidating book simply due to its size. Instead, they will view the Scriptures as a collection of smaller books written personally for them. You will introduce children to exciting tools that will help them delve more deeply into the Bible. Watch their confidence grow as kids gain a broader understanding of how the Bible is organized and how to navigate its pages! Students will be motivated to practice applying biblical principles to their daily lives. The Fruit of the Spirit may be a familiar topic to children, but the concept of how to grow spiritual fruit is one that is often misunderstood by adults, not just by kids. Unlike many curriculums on the fruits of the Spirit for children, this unit is not an overview of the nine fruits. Rather, it is a 4-week series that will walk children through the process of how to nurture the soil of their soul so that the Spirit of God might produce genuine spiritual fruit in them. Starting with the seed of salvation and being watered with the Living Water, children will discover that their spiritual life is like a plant and God is like a loving gardener. They will learn that it is only by being pruned through loving discipline and abiding in Jesus that spiritual fruit will blossom in their lives. This unit will guide them, not into working harder to be good, but to draw closer to God so that he can make them more like Jesus. One of the more important skills we can impart to children is the wise ability to choose good friends. Few things will have greater influence on the rest of their life. The friends children choose will have significant influence on their character, their choices and therefore the direction of their life. Helping children to be intentional and thoughtful about their choices in friends is a skill that if gained as a child can have life-long benefits. This unit will help children understand that friendships are not only a gift from God, but something that we are to be intentional about. Many people, including Christians, settle for a very self-focused life goal -- to arrive at death safely, with as much comfort as possible along the way. Many parents pray long and hard that their children will make good choices. It is essential that we equip children while they are young with decision-making skills that will enable them to weigh and evaluate alternatives. This unit will help your children understand the power they have to choose between right and wrong. They will learn how to win the spiritual battle that rages inside, as well as what to do after they make a bad choice " as we all do far too many times. You will encourage your kids to listen to the positive influences that help guide them toward sound choices along the way. The topic of work may not immediately appeal to children or adults for that matter , but God invented the whole idea! Beginning with the first chapters of the Bible and throughout Scripture, God presents work not as a chore but as a gift from Him. In this unit, you will introduce children to the gift of work, and they will learn how to be faithful workers " as they use their attitudes, their abilities, and their actions. Teach children that when we accept the gift of work, have a good attitude, learn new abilities, and get into action, God can provide for our needs!

You may want to pre-write the quotes from Faithful Citizenship on newsprint. Bible, with enthronement and candle, if possible Gathering The first task in each session is to establish a sense of welcome and hospitality. Gather around the Word for prayer. Open the session by drawing a simple picture of a church on the chalkboard. This can be as simple as a square with a triangle above it, with a cross above that, as in the graphic below. Ask the children, "What do we do at Church? Write each response inside the picture of the church. Then ask, "Who is present at church? God, Christians, my family, etc. Write the responses inside the church. Next, draw a large circle around the church, as shown below. Ask the children, "What do you think this circle represents? Instruct the children, "Name some problems that affect people or communities in the world. Write their responses in the area inside the circle but outside the Church. Point out that the picture of the Church is inside the picture of the circle. What does that represent? The Church exists within the world. Finally, draw a heart that encompasses both the Church and world. Ask the children what they think the heart represents. After allowing some responses, explain that the heart represents two things. First, the heart represents the great love that God has for the world and for all the people in it, including all of us. As disciples of Christ, we are called to love God, and we are also called to love our neighbors who are both near to us and far away. Loving Father, we thank you for calling us to be disciples of your Son, Jesus Christ. Spirit that guides us, help us to be disciples who put love in action. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Catechist takes Bible from enthronement and proclaims reading. Be sure reading is marked in advance. He tells us we have to love God and also "love one another. However, avoid too much "explaining" before the proclamation. Proclaim the reading from Mark A reading from the Gospel of Mark After the reading a brief period of silence follows. Then, the catechist asks the children these or similar questions: What happened in this reading? What question did the scribe ask to Jesus? What did Jesus say are the two most important commandments? A reading from the Gospel of Mark As disciples of Jesus, who are we called to love? God and neighbors Who is your neighbor? Is Jesus talking just about the people who live next door, or about all people? Is it harder to love God, or to love other people? Can you tell me examples of how people sometimes hurt each other, instead of love each other? What are ways that you show other people you love them? What are ways you show God that you love him? Does loving people help us to love God better? Does loving God help us love people better? Faithful Citizenship Reading and Discussion The catechist makes a transition from reflection on the Scripture to discussion on the teaching of the Church. Our country is having an important election this year. Who knows what an election is? What can you tell me about the election? The Church wants to help us be disciples that put love in action. The bishops of the United States have written a document to help us be disciples who put love in action. Refer to the pictures from the beginning of the session. Remember, the Church exists within the world. If we want to show that we love God, we must love all the other people in the world and help those who are in need. We have to help take care of other people. We also have to help our leaders make good laws that help our neighbors who are in need. For disciples who are citizens of the United States, voting is a very important way to put love in action. There are also many other ways we can be disciples who put love in action by caring for others. What are some ways that you care about others? For example, "Treat Others Kindly. Name some people in our community and in our world who need our love and concern. Protecting human life, especially unborn children. Peace and making our world better for all people. People living in poverty, who do not have enough food, or a safe place to live. The Church also says write this quote on newsprint or blackboard: A Call to Political Responsibility no. What does "participation" mean? How do you "participate" in your family? On a sports team? What would happen if you went away for a week on a trip? Would your sports team, or your class at school be missing something or someone? It would be missing you! We can "participate" in our communities and world by working to make them better. When there is a problem, we can "participate" by working to address it. Can you think of examples of how we can do this? Learning about issues or problems faced by others, educating your friends, doing service, voting, calling or writing a letter to your representative, etc. Explain that the bishops remind us that we are guided by our beliefs. One very important belief is that God loves us very much, and so we should love each other. They also remind us that we should work together to make our world better because we are followers of Jesus. How is working to make our world better is connected to being followers of Jesus? Why or why not? What can children do to make a difference? Closing Prayer Return to the adult gathering or return to the prayer circle. If praying in the classroom, refer to the list on newsprint. Using the ways to put love in action that the children brainstormed during the questions, make a litany with the response being, "Lord, hear our prayer. Help us to put love in action by sharing with others as Jesus did. We pray to the Lord, Help us to put love in action by respecting all people by the way we talk and act like Jesus did. We pray to the Lord, Help us put love in action by picking up our trash and not wasting food. We pray to the Lord, Help us put love in action by speaking up for those who are weak or living in poverty. We pray to the Lord, Gathering our prayers into one, let us pray the prayer that Jesus taught us.
