Chapter 2 : Riverside Cemetery - Oxford, New Haven, Connecticut - Oxford Past Cemetery Project

Born in 22 Jul and died in 20 Feb Scotland, Indiana Earl Elmer Laughlin.

To be honest i did plan to finish out the story line with a final book but I planed to throw in a completely unrelated book set near my childhood home in Oklahoma first. We will see where my imagination takes me. Have a wonderful New Year. You think of Christmas Past and remember loved ones who are no longer with you. You feel a sadness that they are no longer a part of your life and a joy that you had such special people in your life to begin with. I had knee surgery and it was going great when I pulled a muscle in my good leg and it has been more painful than the surgery. I am by nature an active person so this has been a time to reflect rather than to do the exciting things I might like to be involved in. A Christmas with laughter and joy spent with friends and all the special people in my life. May God bless you and yours, and bring all of you that special Christmas you dream of! Recently I mentioned starting a column for our local newspaper, the Times Record. It is a bi-weekly piece which will fall next on November 21st and feature Radine Trees Nehring. She writes charming, cozy mysteries featuring Arkansas Destinations. Why did I not think of that? I plan to have a drawing to give away two free books. I hope you will come out and say hello! Van Buren is trying to make it a special day, the excursion train will run all day and there will be lots to see and do. You might even find someplace to rest and listen to live music. Come meet this humble writer and say hello. I am completely helpless and I am thankful for the lady that helps with my web page. All of us over a certain age are not best friends with our computers or our web pages. I thought you might like a link to my most recent column. I hope you enjoying reading about these two. I reported it and now it is back up but all my latest post are missing. Please be patient and we will see what we can do to bring it back up to date. It features area authors and I am having a fun time getting acquainted with other writers in our little part of the country. For someone who likes to read as much as I do, this is a labor of love. While I hope that the next book you add to your collection will be one of mine, I can honestly say there are some talented area authors. Just as all people are not the same, neither are all authors the same.
