

Chapter 1 : Beauty Archives - Michelle Phan “Michelle Phan

Just another old soul dreamer with childlike faith. Teaching and inspiring everyone to become their own best makeup artist:) So sit back, enjoy and let's pl.

By Renee Jacques July 2, In our exclusive Michelle Phan interview, one of the first beauty influencers shares her reasoning behind letting go of foundation and reveals her entire K-beauty skin care routine. Anyone who started dabbling in the world of YouTube makeup videos back has a soft spot in their heart for Michelle Phan. But about two years ago, Michelle decided to stop posting on her channel and take some time to focus on herself and grow spiritually. It was also two years that Michelle stopped wearing a lot of makeup and started going foundation free. We had a chance to chat with Michelle about her decision to focus on skin care rather than makeup and her favorite skin care products. What inspired that decision? It honestly became too high maintenance for me. Our skin is the largest organ in our body and it communicates with us. Doing so built up this insecurity I had where foundation felt like my security blanket. Skin care is an investment. Makeup is instant gratification. I think the most important part is recognizing your skin and just understanding it. No one knows your skin better than you. Do you have combination or oily skin? Also, recognize the patterns in your skin. Do you get acne right before your period, and is it around your chin area? If you do, your acne might be a hormonal issue. Even dairy is full of hormones, and that can trigger a breakout. So first, have a proper diagnosis on your skin. From there, you can start implementing things. Like OK, my skin is dry, so I should get a really hydrating moisturizer and start using a mask. We have the ability to repair our skin. You can reverse it. The skin has the ability to heal itself, you just have to know the right techniques and adopt a healthy habit. It pays off in the long run, believe me. How much did K-beauty influence your transition into focusing more on skin care? I love innovation, so of course, I started gravitating towards Korean products. I knew about brands like Missha back then because I knew they were making the best BB cream at the time. What are your favorite Korean products? I love the masking. I have more sheet mask options than clothes! When CC cream and cushion compacts debuted in Korea, I switched over to that over foundation. I find that they are amazing. I use a lot of lip products from Korea. What is your current skin care routine? I use it with cotton pads and it keeps my skin clean, hydrated, and refreshed. When it comes to chemical exfoliation, the Dr. I love how low maintenance my life is now. That was game-changer for me. What is your typical makeup routine now? I spent my 20s exploring and expressing different facets of my beauty. Some people find it earlier, others like myself, are late bloomers. If you want to go crazy with makeup in your 20s, do it. Just make sure to maintain good habits when you remove your makeup. At the end of the day, your skin is everything; your skin is your foundation. Are you inspired to go foundation free? Share your thoughts in the comments!

Chapter 2 : What Happened to Vietnamese American Beauty Expert Michelle Phan?

Toggle navigation. Social. YouTube; Facebook; Instagram; Twitter; Blog; Projects. TOUCHED by Kristofferson.

Tweet on Twitter Michelle Phan is a renowned Youtube personality who is best known for her make-up tutorial videos. Born in Massachusetts, her family often struggled with finances when she was young; for a period of time, they relied on food stamps for subsistence. Despite the rough times that she went through, she excelled as a student. After graduating from high school, she studied at the Ringling College of Art and Design. Having eventually developed a passion for make-up while she was a teen, Phan eventually started a blog in which she posted various tutorials for readers. By , she had taken advantage of Youtube- a site booming in popularity, to post various make-up video tutorials and vlogs. Her talent apparent, she quickly became an online sensation. Since then, she has become the second most subscribed to user on Youtube. The second oldest out of three siblings, she enjoyed playing video games and drawing growing up. While her childhood was enjoyable, her parents often found themselves struggling with finances; at one point, Phan and her siblings even had to rely on food stamps. A dedicated student, Phan excelled in high school as a teen. During her teens, she was known for having applied heavy make up; while her parents often disapproved, Phan saw it as a form of art. Unfortunately, her dream was not supported by her mother, who wanted her to pursue something more concrete, such as medicine. After graduating from high school, Phan successfully persuaded her parents to let her attend a series of make-up and cosmetic classes; at the same time, she also studied at the Ringling College of Art and Design. In , the aspiring make-up artist started her own blog in which she posted various make-up tutorials. As her popularity rose, Phan began receiving numerous requests from readers. Deciding that videos were easier to understand than text, she subsequently posted a number of tutorial vlogs on her site. In , Phan launched her Youtube channel. From then on, she regularly uploaded make-up videos, garnering subscribers along the way. Not only did it effectively boost her popularity, but the feature also helped her break the one million subscriber mark on Youtube. A Youtube partner, Phan easily earns thousands from her collection of make-up tutorials on the site. Since her soar to fame, she has also picked up a few business ventures which easily add to her overall income. In , the Youtube personality co-founded a monthly cosmetics products subscription service called MyGlam with a couple of business partners. Later renamed Ipsy, subscribers receive a selection of five beauty products e. As of , the company had approximately 1. Continuing to branch out her business endeavors, Phan launched a line of cosmetics called em by Michelle Phan in the summer of Eventually launched in the spring of , it was made available via Roku. Published by Random House, it was made available in October of EM Cosmetics, Ipsy, Lancome, etc. How has her income changed and grown over the past few years? Surely it has increased, but how much? What about her net worth? Seeing as how her Youtube channel is constantly growing, her presence on social media will most likely only continue to increase over the next years- which means her earnings from being a Youtube partner will also go up. A similar thing can be said for her business ventures; if their current popularity is any indication, they will probably only continue to grow in success. No, Michelle Phan is not married. It is unknown whether or not the make-up guru was in any previous relationships in the past. No, Michelle Phan does not have any children. Did Michelle Phan Go to College? Yes, the Youtube personality went to college. During that period, she also took a number of beauty and make-up courses. Where Does Michelle Phan Live? Although not much has been revealed about her residence, it is known that she records most of her videos in a make-shift studio in the house. Considering her fortune, her house is probably reasonably big. It is currently unknown as to what kind of car Michelle Phan drives. So far, her Youtube channel- which currently boasts hundreds of tutorials, has been viewed over one billion times; she is also the second most subscribed-to user, with more than eight million subscribers. Throughout the past years, her efforts have earned her a number of awards. Michelle Phan as a Philanthropist On numerous occasions, Phan has helped to raise thousands of dollars for various charities and organizations. Recent Events After the make-up guru seemingly disappeared from social media, fans were left wondering about her whereabouts.

DOWNLOAD PDF MAKEUP MICHELLE PHAN

Chapter 3 : Make Up by Michelle Phan | calendrierdelascience.com

i wouldn't dare wearing this make up to any festival/summer parties:(it would be better if you do more wearable make up tutorials ^i»¿ Sydney Doyle February 15,

Chapter 4 : em michelle phan Makeup Mood Enhancer Illuminating Skin Filter Fl Oz | Luxury Beauty outlet

LancÃ´me Video Makeup Artist Michelle Phan shares her tips for creating a unique and gorgeous holiday makeup look in this easy-to-follow video.

Chapter 5 : Holiday Makeup How-To With Michelle Phan | StyleCaster

#Michelle phan i want a small advice from calendrierdelascience.com can i get rid of stretch marks on various parts of my body and how to prevent stretch marks.i have tried many hone remedies and bio oil but no calendrierdelascience.com help!!

Chapter 6 : â„³ ð“,€ (@michellephan) â€¢ Instagram photos and videos

Amazon's Choice for "michelle phan makeup" em michelle phan The Life Palette, Love Life. by em michelle phan. $ $ 39 FREE Shipping on eligible orders.

Chapter 7 : The Klog's Michelle Phan Interview: Why She Is Now Foundation Free

Inspired by the girl who wants luminous skin. This sheer illuminator creates a special skin brightening effect - just like a filter to a photo.

Chapter 8 : Michelle Phan Net Worth - How Much The Make-Up Vlogger Makes - Gazette Review

You can binge read my story book HELIOS: FEMINA here calendrierdelascience.com Starring âˆ¼¼ IAMKARENO YouTube: calendrierdelascience.com Instagram: calendrierdelascience.com

Chapter 9 : Behind the Make-Up: Michelle Phanâ€™s Story :: calendrierdelascience.com

Michelle Phan (born April 11,) is an American make-up artist, entrepreneur, and voice actress who became notable as a YouTube personality. Phan's YouTube channel has over million subscribers, billion lifetime views, [3] and uploaded videos.