

Chapter 1 : Mandie Bks.: Mandie and the Silent Catacombs No. 16 by Lois Gladys Leppard (, Paperback)

The part when Mandie, Celia, and Jonathan get lost in the catacombs is really neat, and also the part when Mandie and Celia scream their heads off because someone is in their room. Altogether it makes for a very interesting read, and it is an excellent edition to your Mandie collection.

Characters[edit] Amanda Elizabeth Shaw - Referred to as Mandie by her peers, Mandie enjoys solving mysteries, no matter how mysterious or dangerous the situation may be. She has long blond hair usually braided, and blue eyes. Her favorite verse is "What time I am afraid I will put my trust in Thee. Mandie longs to grow up throughout the series. Being raised in a log cabin with little more to her name than two hand-me-down dresses and a kitten, she sees everything simply and takes no interest in high society. When sent to a young ladies school to learn social graces, she finds it ridiculous and remains her own lively self. She becomes very attached to her mother who married her Uncle John. He has unruly brown hair, brown eyes, and long legs according to Mandie. Joe and Mandie are very close. Joe is a country boy who does not care for many fancy things or money, but he is a true friend. Joe has a crush on Mandie, and towards the end of the series he tells Mandie he loves her. That is the main reason he intends to be a lawyer when he grows up. He is very jealous when Mandie goes off to visit other male friends, such as Tommy Patton and Jonathan Guyer. Joe also helps Mandie on solving mysteries, but says that she does most of the work. She is about the same age as Mandie and she helps Mandie solve mysteries. Polly is very timid and does not like to breach edict. Mandie and Joe keep Polly moving when it is possible, but she is very stubborn. Her avid interest in Joe Woodard leaves a constant strain on her friendship with Mandie. Mandie meets Celia in book 4 Mandie and the Forbidden Attic. They met when Mandie heard her crying in her room one night. Celia had lost her father shortly before coming to school. They immediately bonded and asked to share a room together since Celia was alone in a private room and Mandie was stuck in a full room. Celia has thick auburn hair, fair skin and green eyes and is much quieter than Mandie. She has a crush on Robert, who she met at a school tea. Jim dies before the beginning of the first book. He is said to have had red hair and blue eyes, and to be very fun loving and always looked out for Mandie. He is very wealthy. He has a weakness for blue eyes, like the ones Mandie and her mother have. Ned is a Cherokee Native American. Uncle Ned follows Mandie around and helps get her out of trouble her many adventures. Uncle Ned affectionately calls Mandie his Papoose. He lives in Charleston, but makes no secret of his affections for Mandie, and always asks her to accompany him to social events between their schools. Joe is very jealous of Tommy. He ends up touring Europe with them, and loves adventures almost as much as Mandie does. He shows some signs of affection towards Mandie, and is appears jealous of her friend Joe Woodard. He also loves to tease her. He follows Mandie everywhere and has helped her out of many situations. He constantly runs away. He is shown to have a crush on Mandie. He shows some affection for Sallie. She is shown to have a crush on Dimar. Miss Hope - The headmistress assistant who is very sweet to Mandie and Celia. She is married to Mr. Chadwick who is the headmaster at Mr.

Mandie, Celia, Mrs. Taft, Senator Morton and Jonathan leave the problems of Paris behind them as they board an express train whose destination is Rome, Italy. Mandie and Celia are excited about seeing the Colosseum, the Sistine Chapel, the Forum, the Pantheon, and the hundreds of fountains in Italy.

It is important to read the books in order because they build on each other. Events and characters continue from one book to the next, and skipping around too much can cause you to lose the thread of the overarching story. Amanda Shaw, called Mandie by her friends and family, is a young girl living in South Carolina. When the series begins, her father has just died, and the people she believes are her mother and sister are cruel to her, eventually hiring her out as a servant to another family and keeping the family house for themselves. Her Uncle John is a wealthy man and a good man who reveals family secrets that have been kept from Mandie for a long time: Her father sadly believed it and remarried, never telling Mandie what he believed was the truth. Mandie also later has a half brother when her mother and uncle have a child together. At first, Mandie is angry and jealous about the baby, worrying that she will lose her place in the family that she has so longed for, but eventually, she becomes reconciled to him. Unfortunately, the baby also dies young. Joe is angry and hurt by her apparent rejection of him. However, although it is unknown by the end of the series whether Mandie will ever marry anyone at all, there are hints that she still has feelings for Joe. Although I liked the Mandie books when I was a kid, I lost my taste for them later, and as an adult, I have a few complaints about them. As a character, she started to go downhill for me with all the drama about her baby brother and how she hated him at first. For a girl who started off by seeming to embody love, forgiveness, and other Christian virtues, she quickly became much more selfish. The entire Mandie series has strong Christian themes, and Mandie often prays and talks about her faith in God. The two books are very different in setting and character, but the contrast in styles struck me. Another thing that bothered me was that the author tried a little too hard at times to convey the accents and dialects of some of the characters, like the black servants and the Cherokees. I was more interested in other historical details, such as the lessons that Mandie learned at her boarding school, the things that they thought were important for young ladies at the turn of the century to know, the places Mandie traveled, and the contrasts between those living in the country where Mandie spent her earliest years and wealthier people living in the cities, the life that Mandie eventually becomes accustomed to. The first two books were made into movies. Books in the Series:

Chapter 3 : Mandie - Wikipedia

Mandie, Celia, Jonathan and Mrs. Taft are in Rome, where a mysterious magician, night visits, stolen rubies, silent monks/priests, a trip to the catacombs, a missing purse and necklace and a whole new adventure await Mandie!!!!

Mandie and the Cherokee Legend Mandie investigates a Cherokee legend about long-lost gold and whether it will bring a curse to the men who find it. Mandie and the Ghost Bandits Mandie and her friends unravel the mystery of missing gold after a late-night train wreck and some "ghostly" robbers. Mandie and the Forbidden Attic Mandie explores the mysterious noises in the school attic, and the outcome is a surprise to everyone! Mandie and the Medicine Man A Cherokee legend about gold leads to mysterious vandalism and a terrifying kidnapping for Mandie and her friends. Mandie and the Abandoned Mine Mandie and Joe find themselves in a dangerous situation when they explore the strange happenings inside an abandoned mine. Mandie and the Hidden Treasure Mandie and her friends receive angry threats when they discover a secret treasure map and start digging up the past. Mandie and the Mysterious Bells When the bells in the church steeple mysteriously begin ringing at midnight, Mandie and her friends investigate. Mandie and the Holiday Surprise Mandie was excited to come home for Christmas, but now it seems her mother and stepfather are keeping an important secret from her. Mandie and the Shipboard Mystery Mandie and Celia meet some unusual people aboard the Queen Mary, and trouble brews when their things disappear from their cabin. Mandie and the Singing Chalet The house where Mandie and her friends stay in Switzerland is surrounded in mystery--the biggest of which is the unintelligible singing from the chalet late at night. Mandie and the Jumping Juniper Mandie and her friends are having fun exploring an old castle in Germany until they get caught up with the mysterious jumping juniper tree. Mandie and the Mysterious Fisherman A wailing sound coming from inside an old fishing boat intrigues Mandie and her friends in Belgium, and they wonder if it has anything to do with a suspicious man and a stolen painting. Mandie and the Fiery Rescue Continuing on their European tour, Mandie and her friends head to Belfast, Ireland, where they meet young Molly, who is intent on finding a leprechaun and his pot of gold. But on the journey home, Mandie senses there are secrets afoot--especially when plans are changed without her knowledge. Why is she being kept in the dark? Mandie and the Invisible Troublemaker A new school term is beginning, and Mandie is saddened to learn the Misses Heathwood have put the school up for sale. Then a mysterious troublemaker begins pulling pranks--and making it look as though Mandie is to blame! It appears run-down and deserted--until she sees smoke coming from the chimney and a face peeking out the window. Who could be living there? Mandie has papers of her own that say she is the rightful owner. Who has the true legal document? Searching for answers to these mysteries leads Mandie and Jonathan into quite a predicament! Mandie opens the beautifully wrapped package, only to find a jumbled mess of holly leaves, berries, ribbon, and dirt. Who would have left her such a gift? And could it really be a treasure map, as Joe suggests? While searching for the missing bird, Mandie and her friends uncover another mystery--and then another, and another. Woodard disappears, things get very serious Almost as soon as they reunite, they discover a large pile of mica in an unexpected place. Who would have done such a thing, and why? Mandie and the Dark Alley When Mandie and Celia find themselves in an unfamiliar alley late at night, Mandie thinks she hears a whining puppy in need of rescue. But when they finally have a chance to go back to the forbidden street, they encounter something far more sinister. How will Mandie and Celia escape danger this time? Mandie and the Tornado! Mandie has two weeks off from school for the spring holidays. Despite all the dreary weather, Mandie is excited to spend time at home with her family and friends--and to investigate the latest mystery. But what will become of her vacation when the rainy days turn into a full-blown tornado headed their way? No one will tell Mandie what the quilt says, so she sets out to ask her Cherokee kinpeople herself. But they no sooner arrive than find out Jonathan has gone off to Long Island! Strange noises from the third floor have convinced some of the servants that the house is haunted. Who--or what--is in the house? The further she investigates, the more everyone keeps her away, making Mandie more determined than ever. But what she finally discovers may be better left buried! Everywhere else they turn leads to a dead end. Can they find solutions in time? But the biggest question for Mandie and all her friends is, What adventure comes next?
