M.A.P. for the Essay Examination is a common sense approach to success in essay examination situations. This book examines the mechanics, anatomy, and preparation techniques used by successful students at various levels of their educational careers.

Completion of the test is equivalent to an application for admission. The deadline for submitting a completed examination is November 1, with notification of the results by the end of December. There is no fee for this examination. The Bard Exam for Fall is now available. Additionally it prepared me for the rigors of advanced academic work. After having completed the application, I feel confident in my awareness of my strengths and weaknesses in scholarly writing. My greatest struggle was effectively organizing my thoughts and perceptions into a concise, clear narrative. I believe I was able to have an in depth, thorough understanding of the material fairly quickly. However, employing judgment as to what details and perceptions to emphasize or include in my own material work, my essays, was a tremendous ordeal for me. I believe that over my high school career I have tended to miss the forest for the trees. My ability to perceive nuances in literary texts has both been incredibly stimulating for my personal intellect, my own thoughts, but has also been a hindrance for overt academic pursuit. I tend to tangle myself up and focus more on nuances than essential ideas so that writing a clear, concise narrative becomes incredibly challenging. My ability to complete this exam, though some of the essays may not include all of the ideas I had hoped to convey, represents a personal triumph for me and my intellect. I am incredibly grateful to Bard for offering this application for it provided me with the means to overcome the roadblocks my mind places in front of me, to navigate my own perceptions and ideas so that I now feel prepared and confident in my ability to make the academic jump to an institution of higher education. The Bard Entrance Exam is open to high school juniors and seniors. Candidates must write three essays. The questions are organized into four categories. One question must be answered from three of the four categories. The suggested length for each of the three essays is 2, words. Expand All the information needed to answer the questions is on the examination platform. However, you are not limited to these sources. If you use other materials, they must be properly cited. Remember that this is not a test of what you already know; rather it is an opportunity to demonstrate close reading, critical thinking, and the ability to interpret problems. It is an effort to connect testing to learning. Once registered for the Bard Entrance Examination, applicants may enter and exit the examination as often as needed before November 1. Along with the completed examination, applicants must sign an Honor Agreement assuring the readers that the work is their own. The Honor Agreement is located on the examination platform. Exam Evaluation The examination will be graded by members of the Bard faculty. Each of the three essays will be evaluated separately. There will also be a composite grade. Completing the Application Students who pass the essay examination must complete their file by submitting two documents: Homeschooled students may submit documentation of their curriculum in lieu of a transcript. Candidates who receive a B will be invited to complete the Common Application and will be considered as having met the January 1 deadline. Their strong showing on the examination will complement their application in the regular admission review process. They will receive their regular admission decision by the end of March.
