Same as above transposed for B-flat instruments. These transcriptions are down an octave from the E-flat edition which puts occasional notes below the range of the tenor sax you can always take them up an octave. Hal Leonard, PB, 63 pages. One of the founding fathers of jazz sax, Coleman Hawkins blazed the trail for future generations of saxophonists. While this book was intended for tenor saxophone, it could be played on any saxophone there is no piano part. Features a bio and an updated discography, complete with notes about the recordings date, location, players, original issue info, etc. Mel Bay Publications, , PB, pages. A comprehensive study text for students beginning a serious study of jazz. The first part of the book begins by teaching elements of jazz phrasing, articulation, vibrato and interpretation of rhythms through exercises and original pieces. Next, the book encourages improvisational skills through both theoretical and technical studies of scales and chords. The second half of the book builds on the skills learned in the first part with an in-depth study of the theory, which underlies improvisational techniques including scales, modal concepts and chord construction. Ear training, particularly the development of the ability to hear chord progressions is also emphasized. Belwin Jazz, , PB, pages. A comprehensive book of jazz technique studies and exercises by saxophonist Eric Marienthal. This book deals with many technique issues jazz musicians encounter in the real world. This book contains detailed explanations and analysis of the creative and improvisational techniques musicians use for style, phrasing, solo development, and motivic improvisation in an easy to follow step-by-step format. Ten progressively difficult chapters, containing dozens of improvisational exercises, explore jazz improvisation from creative, melodic and technical perspectives. The book is designed to meet all of the national standards and frameworks for music education and is a comprehensive improvisational curriculum for both individuals and classes. The book includes a 52 track play-a-long and demonstration CD. Crossover Pieces for Saxophone by Peter Lehel. This book offers performers on B-flat saxophones tenor or soprano a wide variety of stylistically diverse solo pieces in popular styles -- hip hop, boogaloo, Latin jazz, funk, jazz ballad, shuffle blues, bossa nova, bolero, jazz waltz -- along with comprehensive information about structure, melody, harmony, and improvisation. These are the authors own compositions, many of which we have for sale. The text is provided in English and German, and creative exercises are also provided with each piece to strengthen performance skills. The CD recording provides both demonstration and play-along-with-rhythm-section tracks. The author rates the difficulty level at medium to medium-advanced. As this is primarily an instructional book on jazz and pop genres, we have no idea why it has this title. Click of the cover image to view the table of contents and sample pages. Hal Leonard, , SS, 64 pages. Transcribed from the original recordings these 22 solos include chord symbols for B-flat saxophone and accompanying instruments in C. Lots of fun and not for tenor only.
