Investors are still seeking to recover billions of dollars. But since opening in July, the state-of-the-art California Health Care Facility has been beset by waste, mismanagement and miscommunication between the prison and medical staffs. Advertisement Overdone Oversight February 9, I would like to see an economic stimulus package financed with the budget of this idiotic House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. I admit that the whole drama of whether Roger Clemens and other baseball players used or did not use steroids is mildly entertaining. But in these troubled times, spending even five cents of tax money trying to uncover answers is an outrage. Last time I checked the newspaper, our government had bigger fish to fry. If Major League Baseball thinks that it has a drug problem, it should check itself into rehab, preferably on its own dime. The review by the U. District Court in Los Angeles has ended its oversight of a case involving Alhambra High and failure to comply with Title IX, the federal law regarding sex discrimination. The revelation forced the parks director to resign and spurred calls for better oversight of the agency. The oversight hearing, set for Feb. Anthony Jackson , the newly appointed head of the Parks and Recreation Department, and focus on a series of financial reports revealing accounting problems. The House vote split sharply along partisan lines. Democrats charged in often-contentious debate that Republicans were protecting Wall Street from tough new regulations designed to prevent a repeat of the financial crisis and end the prospect of future government bailouts. The sheriff is an independently elected official, with powers established by the state Constitution. The board has no legal power to compel him to appear, testify, turn over documents, answer questions; so any oversight commission the board appoints would similarly lack that authority. County Supervisors on Tuesday voted for the newly appointed inspector general to work with interim Sheriff John L. Scott to study setting up a civilian commission that would oversee the department. Supervisors also appeared interested in trying to create a commission with sufficient legal authority so that it is not purely an advisory body. The White House, the CIA and the Senate still have to negotiate which portions of the report will be redacted before it is made public. But this is an important step in resolving the ugly dispute that has erupted between the intelligence committee and the intelligence agency. The dispute presents two very serious questions. Speaking from Russia, where he was granted asylum, the former National Security Agency contractor said "absolutely, yes" he would leak secret government information again. Snowden has been charged with espionage for releasing a trove of intelligence-gathering secrets. The proposal is slated to return in three weeks for a vote, but a majority of board members indicated they opposed the plan. Department of Justice announced that its civil rights division would investigate treatment of mentally ill inmates.
