N, Application for Certificate of Citizenship Form N Instructions (Rev. 03/25/05) N (Prior editions may be used until 09/30/05) This Form N is an application for a Certificate of.

For purposes of the regulations under this section, the person described in this paragraph a 1 i is a payor. For payments made on or after January 1, to which section f relating to payments to attorneys applies, the following rules apply. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph a 1 ii of this section, payments to an attorney that are described in paragraph a 1 i of this section but which otherwise would be reportable under section f are reported under section and this section and not section f. This exception applies only if the payments are reportable with respect to the same payee under both sections. Transactions that are described in paragraph a 1 ii of this section that otherwise would be subject to reporting under both sections and W are reported under section W and not section . The provisions of paragraph a 1 iv of this section are illustrated by the following examples: Merchant acquiring bank Y is responsible for making the payment to B. Under paragraph a 1 iv of this section, A, as payor, is not required to file an information return under section with respect to the transaction because Y, as the payment settlement entity for the payment card transaction, is required to file an information return under section W. B is one of a substantial number of persons who have established accounts with Y, a third party settlement organization that provides standards and mechanisms for settling the transactions and guarantees payments to those persons for goods or services purchased through the network. Y is responsible for making the payment to B. Under paragraph a 1 iv of this section, A, as payor, is not required to file an information return under section with respect to the transaction because the transaction is a third party network transaction that is subject to reporting under section W. Where Form is required to be filed under this section, a separate Form shall be furnished for each person to whom payments described in subdivision i , ii , or iii of subparagraph 1 of this paragraph are made. Thus, the term includes the organizations referred to in section a , c , d and and in paragraph i of this section. Income is fixed when it is to be paid in amounts definitely predetermined. Income is determinable whenever there is a basis of calculation by which the amount to be paid may be ascertained. The income need not be paid annually or at regular intervals. The fact that the payments may be increased or decreased in accordance with the happening of an event does not for purposes of this section make the payments any the less determinable. A payment made jointly to two or more payees may be fixed and determinable income to one payee even though the payment is not fixed and determinable income to another payee. For example , property insurance proceeds paid jointly to the owner of damaged property and to a contractor that repairs the property may be fixed and determinable income to the contractor but not fixed and determinable income to the owner , and should be reported to the contractor. A salesman working by the month for a commission on sales which is paid or credited monthly receives determinable income. Fees for professional services paid to attorneys, physicians, and members of other professions are required to be reported in returns of information if paid by persons engaged in a trade or business and paid in the course of such trade or business. Amounts paid as disability payments under section d are required to be reported in returns of information under this section. A non-periodic payment is reportable for the year in which an actual payment is made. If two or more persons meet the requirements for making a return of information with respect to a payment , as set forth in paragraph e 1 of this section, the person obligated to report the payment is the person closest in the chain to the payee , unless the parties agree in writing that one of the other parties meeting the requirements set forth in paragraph e 1 of this section will report the payment. Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph e 1 of this section, an employee acting in the course of his employment who makes a payment to his employer on behalf of another person is not required to make a return of information with respect to that payment. A person that makes a payment on behalf of another person but is not required to make an information return under paragraph e 1 of this section may elect to do so pursuant to the procedures established by the Commissioner. The provisions of this paragraph e are illustrated by the following examples:
