The very first Rand McNally map, created using a new cost-saving wax engraving method, appeared in the December edition of its Railroad Guide. Rand McNally became an incorporated business in 1890, with Rand as its president and McNally as vice president. The Business Atlas, containing maps and data pertinent to business planning, was first published in 1892. Rand McNally began publishing educational maps in 1893 with its first line of maps, globes, and geography textbooks, soon followed by a world atlas. Hammond, who later started his own map company, C. In 1901, the company acquired the line of Photo-Auto Guides from G. Chapin, which provided photographs of routes and intersections with directions. Rand McNally was the first major map publisher to embrace a system of numbered highways. One of its cartographers, John Brink, invented a system that was first published in 1903 on a map of Peoria, Illinois. In addition to creating maps with numbered roads, Rand McNally also erected many of the actual roadside highway signs. This system was subsequently adopted by state and federal highway authorities. The oil industry quickly developed an interest in road maps, enticing Americans to explore and consume more gasoline. In 1907, Rand McNally began publishing road maps for the Gulf Oil Company, to be freely distributed at its service stations. The first full-color edition was published in 1911. It became fully digitized in 1995. Paul Goode's World Atlas, published in 1912, became a standard text for high school and college geography curricula. In the 1920s it was turned into a chain with 29 locations, but by 1930 all had been closed as a cost-saving measure. The company opened its Versailles, Kentucky, book publishing plant in 1928, with 28,000 square feet and 23 employees. In 1930, the plant was the first to implement a new Kodak computer-to-plate printing system. In 1931, because the company was not satisfied with the ability of existing map projections to create intuitive depictions of the entire world, they commissioned Dr. Robinson to develop what became known as the Robinson projection, which became very popular and was used extensively for constructing maps of the entire world. The McNally family was the majority owner for nearly 100 years, from 1890 until 1980, at which time the family decided to divest its majority stake. However, the company fell behind the technology curve of upstarts such as MapQuest and fell further into debt. The building was sold to Ida Crown Jewish Academy. Facilities Rand McNally had been headquartered in Chicago since its inception. By the 1980s its Chicago area workforce had grown to over 1,000 employees and larger facilities were needed. Over the ensuing decades, however, printing and distribution operations were relocated, eventually resulting in the underutilization of its aging Skokie building. Maps in Skokie were closed in 1991. The company was incorporated in 1992 with Rand as the first president and McNally vice-president. When Rand retired in 1993, Andrew McNally assumed the role of president until his death in 1995. Andrew McNally II took over in 1996. Apatoff former head of Allstate marketing [27] [28] "Dave Muscatel Acquisitions Rand McNally has made many acquisitions over the years to consolidate the crowded map publishing industry or to extend its capabilities in new markets. All Champion Map products had disappeared, but in 1997 Rand began using the brand on street maps for selected small markets. Was sold off as part of Rand McNally Canada in 1998. Bing Crosby used to tell of a fishing spot so secret that Rand would not tell McNally. It tells the story of a man who gets into trouble all over the world and draws maps to, "remember never to go back to that place again.

The easy-to-use legend and detailed index make for quick and easy location of destinations. Regularly updated Clearly labeled Interstate, U. By Lonesome Dove on May 27, I love maps! This is a good map. We used it and the Google maps on the iPhone and never got lost. I need a paper map to get a good overview of where I am and where I am going. They are good for a backup and predicting traffic jams. Nothing beats a good paper map though. Very limited area indicated. By Tammie on Apr 19, This map made travel easy on our vacation. Five Stars By Jana S. Gordon on Apr 29, Helpful to us. Typical old-style gas station-type fold out map. I ordered this last minute since I noticed our most recent map for Tampa was 10 years old. Good map for the price By Ecd on Nov 07, Good map for the money. Good price, arrived in perfect condition. Tampa yes, but St Petersburg, barely. But if you are looking for a St. The title makes it sound like you will get detailed views of both TMpa and St Pete. But Tampa is one full side. The back side has a few Pinellas cites chopped up with the street index. Where are the good, up to date maps for the map lovers of the world? Very disappointed in Amazons lack of up to date maps! Cut out part of this map to use as part By Amp78 on Sep 07, Cut out part of this map to use as part of a wedding collage and have the city we got married as a silhouette. Worked perfectly for that use because the price was so reasonable. A must when traveling. This gave us a better view of things than on a tiny phone map. Just did not need Tampa, only wanted St. Still, it is a nice map. Had a lot of streets missing. Add a Book Review Book Summary: This particular edition is in a Map format.
