Family Papers, and undated. See also addition of Most of the papers from the period to are those of Peter Hairston and consist mainly of legal papers relating to his role as a deputy sheriff of Henry County, Va. These papers include letters to Hairston from other county officials; warrants from justices of the peace to him; memoranda and receipts of several Henry County sheriffs, including himself and his father, Robert Hairston d. His own legal papers also include receipts, bonds, warranty deeds, and bills of sale, all for the purchases of land and slaves. Most of the papers from to are business correspondence of Peter Hairston and Peter Wilson , the latter being the son-in-law of the former. There are letters to both of them from numerous Petersburg, Va. There are also many financial papers for this period consisting of accounts for goods bought by Peter Wilson and Peter Hairston, some for large quantities of merchandise for their stores and others for smaller quantities of merchandise bought for plantation or personal use. Together they show patterns of buying and selling between both Wilson and Hairston and various general and commission merchants in Lynchburg, Richmond, and Petersburg, Va. Included among the financial papers are bills of sale for slave purchases by Peter Wilson and Peter Hairston. The papers from to are principally those of Peter Hairston and his nephews, Robert Hairston and Samuel Hairston , the sons of George and Elizabeth Perkins Letcher Hairston. The papers are almost entirely business correspondence and financial and legal papers of the three men. All three men produced large quantities of tobacco and sold it through commission merchants in Lynchburg while Peter Hairston sold his flour and cotton in the Fayetteville market. Also included are five letters in from R. The majority of the legal papers are related to the case of Robert Hairston v. Miscellaneous material includes minutes of the Sandy Creek Baptist Association, Most of the papers from to are business correspondence and financial papers. These papers include letters, bills, and receipts from numerous Danville, Lynchburg, Petersburg, and Richmond, Va. Much of the personal correspondence from to is that of Peter Wilson Hairston, with earlier correspondence pertaining to student life at the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia and later correspondence concerning plantation management. From to , there are few items, mostly letters from Peter Wilson Hairston to Samuel Hairston concerning the management of Cooleemee Plantation and scattered letters to Samuel Hairston from Confederate soldiers and officers concerning, respectively, gifts of money for their families and the purchasing of crops for the troops. From to , there are primarily financial papers consisting of bills and receipts for general merchandise bought by Samuel Hairston and Ruth Stoval Hairston Wilson Hairston from Danville, Va. The papers from to , comprising about one-fourth of the Wilson and Hairston Papers, consist primarily of the professional and personal correspondence of Alfred Varley Sims , husband of Ruth Hairston Sims Related to this business correspondence are estimates and accounts for work and materials used in railroad construction. Approximately three-fourths of the correspondence for this period is letters from his overseers about management of Berry Hill. Personal correspondence from to includes letters, telegrams, and eulogies written by and to numerous people about the death of Charles Schaeffer, president of the University. Schaeffer was a close associate of Alfred Varley Sims, who may have headed a memorial committee for Schaeffer. There is detailed correspondence between Alfred Varley Sims and officers of these companies. In , several of the subsidiary companies were consolidated under the Fidelity Commercial and Trading Company, and there is much correspondence between Sims and officers of this holding company. Some of the Cuba correspondence is in Spanish, but most of the items have accompanying translations. In the fall of , Sims left the Cuba Eastern Railroad Company because he was angered over mismanagement charges against him. Personal correspondence, from to , includes letters between J. Sutcliffe and Sims detailing farm management; letters to Sims and his wife from Danville, Va. In , Sims was looking for additional income and wrote these companies to interest them in purchasing Cuban wood. Most of the correspondence is from Sims to numerous manufacturers about new farm products he ordered; from Sims to J. Setliffe and later R. Ross, another manager of Berry Hill, about farm management; from Sims to prospective tenants; to Sims from wheat and corn mills in Danville, Va. Evans wrote Sims about the legal cases concerning the Cuban companies and his testimony. Writing to a New York tailor on 12 December , Sims told the tailor he was unable to pay his bill and was considering declaring bankruptcy. From Sims had been receiving warning notices about the thousands of dollars he and his wife owed on stocks. There is also correspondence between Sims and Henry J. This correspondence begins in and continues until Boekelman possibly served as a broker for some of the Cuban companies Sims worked with from to For much of , Sims lived in London, England, attempting to interest English concerns with the purchase. Minnesota, and his year as a naval aide to President Roosevelt. From to , there are scattered correspondence and receipts. Sims, in , moved to New York City, N. Undated papers are arranged roughly by type in the following order: Under correspondence, letters written by individual Wilsons and Hairstons are filed first, then there is undated correspondence according to century, including the papers of Alfred Varley Sims.
