The natural scenic beauty of our area offers an array of experiences for all to enjoy. The lake is a prime fishing location. Evergreens, cement blocks, tire reefs and wooden and PVC devices were placed in the lake to enhance fish habitat. The most effective live baits for Lake Chillisquaque seem to be minnows, night crawlers and crawdads. Gasoline-powered boats are prohibited. Fishing and boating access to Lake Chillisquaque is available 24 hours a day, year-round. Fishing maps are available at the preserve office or the Visitors Center. Other species found in the lake include bass, muskellunge, pan fish, pickerel and walleye. Big and Little Fishing Creeks, Columbia County are considered by locals to be some of the best trout streams in the state. Other fishing areas include the Susquehanna River, Roaring Creek, Hemlock Creek and other tributaries of the Susquehanna River where enthusiasts can find stocked and wild trout, smallmouth bass plus many other varieties. Ricketts Glenn State Park is perhaps one of the most scenic and well known areas in the state. The park is located 30 miles north of Bloomsburg on Route 15. A variety of recreational opportunities await you at Ricketts Glen. Choose from fishing, boating, swimming, family or group camping, cabins, winter sports, bridle trails, hiking, environmental education, hunting and the waterfalls of the Glens Natural Area. Non-powered and registered electric powered boats are permitted on the acre Lake Jean. Canoes and row boats may be rented during the summer season. A beach area is available for swimming from Memorial Day weekend to Labor Day. Lake Jean offers anglers warm water game fish and pan fish. Several creeks also harbor trout. Mountain Springs Lake, a 40 acre lake owned by the Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission, adjoins the east end of the park. Pennsylvania Fish and Boat Commission regulations apply to all waterways in the two county area. Parker had been afflicted for some years with valvular disease of the heart, and frequently suffered from acute attacks from it, which would render her unconscious. As she was crossing the street returning to her home, she was seen to fall but arose and continued on her way. When reaching her home she again fell or sat down on a wide step or platform at the door. Her sister Miss Fiester, who lived with her, hearing a noise, opened the door finding her on the step unconscious. The cries of her sister brought friends, who carried the unconscious woman into the house and summoned the family physician Dr. Skinner, but all efforts were futile and in a few moments she quietly breathed her last, before the doctor arrived. Parker was the widow of Thos. Parker, whose death occurred some twelve years ago. Her life seemed destined to be one of love and devotion, the later years of which were given to the rearing of her only child, John K. Surely a life record to which her loved ones who are left can look back upon with pride and affection. In she came west with her parents, John and Sarah Fiester, and located in Griggsville, where on Sept. Parker To this union two sons were born, on of whom, Charles, died at the age of 14 years. Soon after coming to Griggsville she united with the Methodist church and remained a faithful member until her death. She sleeps beside her father, mother, brother, husband and son, awaiting the morning of the resurrection. Robert Whitehill of Wellington, Kans. The funeral services were held Saturday day, March 24th at 2 p. E church, conducted by Rev. Burial in the city cemetery. So comforting the assurance then given, that to-day bereaved parents recalling that tender wording can write, "She fell asleep and awakened on the other side. Younger far was little Emily than the maiden who felt the divine touch and heard the command "arise," for of the one we read, "she was of the age of twelve years, "and of the other" Emily. When dread disease laid its hand upon one, He with unerring wisdom returned her to the joys and sorrows of earth, and now "one the other side," receives the other in His sheltering arms; and there the loving hearts which so sorely miss the bright winsome little Emily, can safely leave her "She is not dead, the child of our affection, -- But gone unto that school Where she no longer needs our poor protection. And Christ himself doth rule. Fred Parker, aged 49 years. Parker has been in poor health for a number of years, and about a year ago was obliged to give up the active management of his drug business. Last summer his disease assumed such a serious form that his physicians could give him no hope for recovery, and announced as their opinion that the end was near. But under a change of treatment prescribed by Dr. Baxter of Chicago, he rallied and soon showed a decided improvement, and for the past few months had been able to go to his store every day, and his condition seemed to warrant a hope for many years of life. It was however a false hope, and two weeks ago he was seized with a severe chill, since which time he was confined to his bed till the end came Tuesday noon. Parker was the oldest son of Col. Parker, and was born on the old home farm east of Griggsville, June 30th, Baxter, May 18th, Seventeen years ago he moved to New London, Mo , and opened a drug store, in which business he has been successfully engaged until his death. Fred, as his friends all knew him, was a man of that genial, happy disposition that wins friendship; generous and kindhearted, all who knew him were his friends. He is survived by his widow, three sons, Ray, Harvey and Henry, and one daughter Helen. Two children preceded him to the better land. The funeral will take place Thursday at 3 p. Interment will be made in the city cemetery at New London. Friends here who may wish to attend the funeral can take the west bound morning train and return on the evening train. He was married to Miss Anna Anthony Oct. Parker was one of our quiet, inoffensive citizens. His kindly, generous nature made him many true friends. A large congregation was in attendance at his funeral, although the day was the worst of the season. The services took place Wednesday last at the Methodist church, Rev. Parker, a life long resident of Griggsville, had passed away. Parker has been in very poor health for more than a year, but he kept right on attending to business and getting around as usual, though it was known to many that he was far from a well man. Walking was difficult for him, owing to its causing him shortness of breath. But was not a man to trouble others with his ill health, rarely complaining although he was doubtless a great sufferer. Heart trouble was the cause. He was up town yesterday and around his usual stopping places, but we have heard the remark this morning that those who saw him remarked that getting around seemed more of a burden to him than usual. This morning he was not able to get around much and with little warning passed peacefully away at his home. Parker has been engaged in the undertaking business a number of years, and few were as well or better fitted to this occupation than he. Kind, sympathetic, genteel, a gentleman in every sense of the word, his assistance in the home in the dark hours of sadness was a comfort and solice to those bereaved. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Mrs. Alice Harshman a Mrs. Lois Dunham, besides other relatives. He was a member of the A. At the time of our going to press we have not heard of funeral arrangements having been made. More complete mention of this honored citizen will be published in our next edition. Henry Digby, at 5: A short funeral service was held on Monday evening at the residence of Simeon Fitch, after which her remains were conveyed to the depot and forwarded on the night train west to St. Louis, the home of her husband, for interment. Digby and wife accompanied the body. She was a comparative stranger here. Peecher was born in Pike County , August 17, , a son of Mr. He was a retired farmer. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 in Sutter funeral home in Pittsfield , with the Rev. Burial will be in Summer Hill cemetery. She married James Peecher. He preceded her in death in She is survived by six sons: Contributed by Kathy Robinson - July 19, - Oct. Young Pence was in the Marines during the world war and saw active service. After his discharge from the service he entered the Merchant Marine. There are few particulars, except that he was rowing ashore when the accident that cost him his life happened. Young Pence was the son of Mr. Charles Pence of Barry and grew up in that community. He was a graduate of the Barry High School, class of During his service in the Marines he qualified as an expert wireless operator. He was second engineer on an American vessel and had visited in Barry last summer. He is survived by his parents and one brother, Max Pence. Eunice Pence, in this city, late Wednesday evening conveyed the news of the death of her son, Glenn J. According to the message he was drowned off the coast of South Africa and his body was recovered but no further details were given. He grew to young manhood in this city and graduated from Barry High school with the class of Hess and Henry E. Wendorff, all Barry boys, and pals, enlisted in the United States Navy and were stationed at the Great Lakes for some months. It will necessarily be some time before his remains arrive here for burial and relatives and friends are doing all they can to lighten the load of grief his death has brought to Charles and Eunice Pence. An old man named John Pence and wife, of Barry, Illinois had been to Kansas to visit a son and on their way home, after the train had past Warrensburg, the old man was taken quite ill, and Col. Crittenden and a couple of other gentlemen on the train went to his assistance and did what they could for him, but they soon saw that death was nigh. Crittenden informed the aged wife that her husband would soon die, she knelt down in the car and offered an eloquent and pathetic prayer, during which time the chains of death prevailed and there were no dry eyes. The origin of the fire is not known, but when discovered it had gained such headway that but little of the contents could be saved. The house and contents were insured. He was born Dec. He was married in to Elizabeth Nesbett, who died about 14 years ago. Phillips moved from Kentucky to this state when eight years of age and has been here ever since. He had a remarkable memory and could give dates of the principal events of his experience with accuracy. A few weeks ago, the Press published a very interesting article from him describing many leading events in the history of this vicinity. At the same time, an excellent picture of him was printed as a supplement. Very early to life, he united with the Methodist Episcopal church and remains a faithful and consistent member until his death Wednesday morning, May 8th Six of his nine children are living.
