McLoughlin and Jimeno said they wanted to have a film made to honor their rescuers and comrades who died on September 11, not for personal gain. We wanted to do the right thing and I think the filmmakers wanted to do the right thing too. All of them enthusiastically supported the film and its intention to accurately portray the rescue of McLoughlin and Jimeno. How do you do this to his family? He, the producers, and the real McLoughlin and Jimeno, have said the film is a simple dedication to the heroism and sadness of the day with little-to-no political themes. They did not participate in the making of the film and felt their roles of being the first rescuers to reach the trapped men did not receive enough screen time. He was rescued after 22 hours, the 19th of 20 people pulled out of the rubble alive. Doctors kept him in an induced coma for six weeks. He underwent 27 surgeries and spent nearly three months in the hospital and rehabilitation. Four months after their rescue, McLoughlin and Jimeno " who both have since retired " took part in a ceremony at Ground Zero to watch as the final column was removed. Consider the following 10 dairy facts, most of which are common to all forms of dairy farming: Like all mammals, cows must give birth in order to make milk. Like human mothers, they carry their babies for nine months, then begin to lactate for the sole purpose of nourishing their young. Even so, virtually all dairy calves are stolen from their mothers within hours of birth in order to maximize profit. On so-called humane dairy farms, cows are often taken within the first hour of birth as separation of mother and calf is considered less stressful when they have not been allowed to bond see video clip below. The constant cycle of forced pregnancy and birth creates a huge surplus of calves. Dairy cows are forcibly impregnated once a year to keep them at peak lactation. Artificial insemination involves invasive, nonconsensual rectal and vaginal penetration. Some female calves will join the milking herd. They typically spend the first 2 to 3 months of life confined in lonely hutches, fed a diet of milk replacer while humans drink the milk intended for them. The veal industry would not exist without the dairy industry. Of the 9 million dairy cows in the U. Feel-good dairy labels, like all humane labels, are merely so much window dressing.
