It went to one remembered spot, I saw the rose-trees grow, And thought again the thoughts of love There cherished long ago. There has never been anyone like you and never will be. Though uncertain of specific college or career plans, Ted has been accepted everywhere he applied, and plans to pursue math. Attending a university where she can major in a scientific field is in her future plans, seeking possibly an opportunity to work in [he area of space exploration and technology. When not going to school, in her spare moments, Denise enjoys jazzercise, riding bikes, roller skating and anything else to keep physically active and fit. Denise hopes to someday own and operate her own advertising agency. She is studying marketing at the Vo-Tech and plans to seek a career in advertising at the University of New Mexico to help her pursue her career. Denise thinks this field is exciting, not monotonous and the opportunities for women are unlimited. Denise feels she is easy going, a good listener, and says she enjoys meeting and getting to know others. I get high on life. Honors 21 Denise Denise Ketterman enjoys the outdoors, because she feels good about herself when she participates in any type of outdoor recreation. Denise plans to attend NMSCI, where she will major in agricultural education, engineering, and horticulture. Denise explains, "Young people need leadership and better study habits to become more successful and contributing members of society and I want to contribute my knowledge to them so they can be better leaders of the world. Jeff Elyse Jeff Whitridge was selected as an allAmerican diver, and also enjoys tennis and skiing. Jeff says travel is an important part of his future plans, and feels seeing Europe was especially beneficial. He plans on attending the University of Hawaii, to receive a B. This University of Pennsylvania applicant enjoys expensive cars, the search for tax shelters and frequently indulges in the finer cultural elements of an active social existence. Joe identifies with statesman Aaron Burr and actress Joan Crawford. At University of Pennsylvania or University of Chicago, Joe would like to earn a PhD in "some obscure realm of knowledge" in order to use his talents as a "beachcomber in the Carribean". Elyse plans to attend either Sarah Lawrence or Vassar to study philosophy, foreign languages, and political science. She chosen these two colleges because they reflect her own feminist personality. Horseback riding, yoga classes, and extensive reading are a few of her preferred pastimes because she considers healthy, mind-expanding activities. Elyse aspires to write the Great American Now make an outstanding contribution to humanity, and acquire a trust fund. Anaya describes herself as being independent. She enjoys sewing, cooking and making small gifts for people. Her aspirations are to someday be a professional tennis player and to make people happy. Bernadette plans to go to a four year college, preferably JNM or Highlands. She will major in social work to become a counselor. Her favorite class was Spanish. Paul Devotion to his church is probably the main interest of Paul M. Hill and most of his hobbies revolve around his church work. Paul is a member of the Latter Day Saint Church and is quite an active participant, being involved in prayer sessions, studying the Scriptures and speaking before groups. Paul, who attended Alternative High School, feels that being in Royal Blues is truly one of the greatest honors he has ever received. Paul plans to attend college following an 18 month stint as a missionary for his church. He says he will major in English, journalism or school administration. Deana Deana Harkleroad cites her trip to Washington D. Deana likes to travel and says that world travel would be her priority if she had unlimited money. The photograph she submitted for the Royal Blues section was taken on her trip. Describing her stereotyped self as, "mature," Deana describes a former pastor as Owing her own business in future years is a goal her most admired person because, "He of Barbara Rael. She mentions a clothing boutique was such a vibrant Christian witness. Barbara, who served SFHS as Student Council President during her senior year, feels it is important to be involved in the different clubs and activities in high school. She added however, "not to the point of letting your grades suffer. She likes these activities because she is active, and I likes to stay in shape. She feels all students should get involved in school activities. Roberta plans to attend college in Las Cruces and major in engineering. Suzette Kelley Suzette Montoya has contributed a great deal to Santa Fe High through her academic and musical achievements. She considers Royal Blues an honor and expresses her thanks to the faculty for her nomination. Suzette enjoys playing the guitar and singing because she feels that this a good way of expressing her emotions. Suzette looks back on her principal role in the production of "Godspell," as one of her most memorable high school experiences. She also played the role of Maria in "West Side Story. I admire him because of his intelligence, his energy, his excitement over music, and mostly his open mindedness. I hope to be as good a musician as Landon," commented Suzette. Kelley Dukeminier is a very energetic person and she loves to be involved and tries to keep busy. Kelley works at Boogie and Bach and says she enjoys it very much. Kelley took this course because she knew it would be a challenge and well worth it. She plans to attend then University of Northern Colorado andl have a productive life with a successful career in deaf education. This is not surprising since Martine considers friendliness to be one of her good points. The avid stamp collector and racquetball player works part time at St. Martine would like to study pre-law and eventually become a lawyer or legal advisor. Martine considers Royal Blues a great honor and is happy to have been nominated. Her most memorable moments in high school have been her nominations to People-to-People and Royal Blues and her selection as Parliamentarian of the Senate for Model Legislature. She chose this particular photo Chris Chris Ginocchio set himself apart from the Santa Fe High mainstream from the beginning of his freshmen year.
