The game is so simple that only a few systems and strategies can help you increase your win rate at baccarat. You only need to learn how to use the house edge and the number of decks to maximise your winning chances in a snap. Professional gamblers know how to use the information they have and how to spot good and bad strategy tips. First, make sure you go through my online baccarat winning tips and learn how to play baccarat like a pro. Then, scroll down to the list of my suggested baccarat sites, and pick a game to play. Should You Bet on "Tie"? This is one of the most common questions I get from beginners. If you are serious about winning at baccarat, of course. The casinos set the number so high because they know you lose when you bet on the Tie. Baccarat is a game of chance and there is no calculation that can help you to anticipate what the next result is. The Tie bet is the worst possible strategy you can follow. The chances of both the banker and the player to end with the same result are thin. If you want to win money at baccarat, avoid the tie bets at all costs. Should You Bet on the "Banker"? Like you should not fall for the 8: Is there a reason why casinos make the "Banker" bet so unattractive? Players who use the best baccarat strategy know that the "Banker" bet is the one with the lowest house edge. Compare this to the 1. Betting on the Banker is the only way to minimise the risk and get the highest chances to win at baccarat. It might make the game a bit boring - but we are here to find a strategy to win at baccarat, not an exciting way to lose money. Should You Take Notes? Drop the pen, bet on the banker, and enjoy the game. How Card Decks Influence the Game When you play baccarat at an online casino, you can choose between games with a different number of decks. Keep in mind that the house edge is proportional to the number of decks placed in the shoe. Unfortunately, baccarat games played with only one deck are very hard to find. So, keep in mind that the fewer the decks are, the better it is for you. The table below illustrates the differences between the different baccarat games available.

For the average player, baccarat offers the best odds in the house, giving the house barely a 1% edge. With the winning strategies presented in this book, you can take advantage of this by using Kayser's remarkably clever betting systems to walk away with the casino's money.

Germain, which has shoes containing exactly 41, decisions. A bankroll of units were required. An even tougher challenge is to beat Zumma using nothing but flat bets. Very few systems may have achieved this. How about a system, which would beat the Zumma tester book, starting with only 1 chip to bet, using only flat bets, that is betting nothing more than 1 unit and not needing any more than 1 chip throughout the entire shoes and replicating that chip 27 times in winnings. Because it needs a secret formula to obtain those results without needing more than 1 chip overall. But I was able to achieve that after long hours of research and testing. You cannot imagine the amount of experimentation that took to find that secret formula. Just to name a few examples, take the bet selection, for instance, which follows the last decision, that is if Banker, then bet Banker, if Player, then bet Player. By the end of the Zumma shoes, this bet selection loses exactly Take another bet selection example, such as to bet on the opposite of the last decision, that is if the last decision was Banker, then bet next on Player, if the last decision was Player, then bet on Banker. Using flat bets, this bet selection loses exactly This bet selection crashes after Zumma decisions and never recovers again. Other bet selection examples that have failed the Zumma tester book using flat bets only are: And many more tested ones have failed. As you can see, it is not easy to come up with a winning formula to beat the Zumma tester book with flat bets only. But, we have the privilege of witnessing one right now. The bet selection of SFBBS starts betting 1 unit flat, never loses that chip and wins continuously throughout the entire Zumma tester book, without ever being even at -1 unit in your net running total! Now, that was Zumma only. I wanted to be convinced the system wins on the long run for thousands of shoes, by plugging the bet selection in my simulations. To my great satisfaction, the system held and produced positive results overall. I have been using the system quite frequently now. Since you are betting flat units, you can use this system at any level, with low budget or as a high roller. You can play as many sessions as you want with any unit value your budget allows you. There is some tracking involved and you apply the formula the moment you encounter the right condition. You will be amazed how well this system works. There is only one formula to remember. Therefore, the system is extremely simple to apply. The only thing you will need to worry about is not to be barred from the casino. You will achieve this within shoes. The system comes with a page documentation, showing the results of each Zumma tester book decision, when to bet, and how it wins steadily. Two tester spreadsheets are also provided, one with the Zumma shoes and the second one with 40, random decisions. All delivered to you by email or by regular mail on a CD. You can simply email me webmaster letstalkwinning. Click here to order. Thank you, Izak Matatya Money back guarantee within 30 days of your purchase if the system does not beat the entire Zumma tester book with flat bets of 1 unit only and without needing more than 1 unit to do so. What is the bankroll needed to play this system? Your session bankroll is not more than 10 units. Should you lose those 10 units, that ends the session. If when you are up by units, there could be cases of losing the 10 units session bankroll, but they are rare. So, the most you could lose with this system is 10 units and the winnings are open ended. I am currently looking for a good flat bet system, but I do not play Baccarat. If yes, how far have you tested on those games? SFBBS is applicable to all games with even bets, particularly Roulette, where you can play on all even bets simultaneously. Extensively tested on simulators, that are provided with the system. Izak, in your testing how often did you have a "session" that lasted longer than one shoe? Putting it another way, can you provide an average number of decisions in which you will gain one unit, using this system? One session may last longer than 1 shoe, but this is during the unusual circumstances. Normally, one places at least bets during one shoe and the session ends within a maximum of 2 shoes. At times, the session ends after 1 bet within 5 decisions. At times it lasts a couple of shoes. You can start tracking at any point during the shoe and you can continue tracking as though one shoe was the continuation of the previous shoe. The Zumma shoes have been tested as though they were one huge shoe.

Izak, Congratulations on achieving a flat bet winning system. The answers to your questions: You may track the shoe, while not sitting and join the table when the right condition is encountered. Otherwise, you can play this system on all even bets in Roulette, tracking 6 areas and multiple tables. You will have many opportunities to play. The results on on-line casinos are very similar. You will only need to find on-line casinos, which let you skip bets, such as in Sands of the Caribbean at: You can also try Las Vegas Casino at: LTWCLV , which has a fast mode roulette, where each spin takes half a second to play and you can play both sides of the even bets, until the right opportunity arrives. Your initial 1 chip is never lost. This one is dedicated to use flat bets only. Compared with Magic 5 also a flat bet system , which one is great? Magic Five uses a totally different approach. Many purchasers have found excellent applications of it in the stock market. Magic Five also uses three simultaneous variations to take full advantage of it. They both win in different occasions. The only thing is that I never tested Magic Five against Zumma. SFBBBS starts with 1 chip in Zumma, never loses it and ends up positive after 41, decisions the entire shoes. You stated that in "unusual circumstances" you might have to play more than one shoe to gain that one-unit profit. Two times out of ten? Also, you mentioned that your greatest drawdown was -7 units. Did that happen in your personal play or while you tested your system against those 41, Zumma decisions? If it was -7 in personal play, what was the greatest drawdown against the Zumma book? I would say, two times out of ten, the session can extend to more than 1 shoe. The -7 unit drawdown was in my personal play. Against the 41, Zumma decisions, there was NO drawdown whatsoever. You win your first bet and the net running total NEVER becomes negative, not even 0, all the way until the end of all shoes, played as one huge shoe. Those test results are provided with the system. How many decisions have you simulated the system, how many decisions of those did you ACTUALLY bet, and how much did you win in total if after commission, if applicable? Your casino does not mind you making five thousand dollars a day? The simulation runs for 40, random shoes, but you can run the simulation as many times as you wish reaching millions of decisions. You bet bets per shoe. I won between 3 to 4K every day that I played for the last 2 months. With this kind of system, you need to keep a low profile. After a few months, the casino asked him not to play any more. Is it safe to say, that if I go to a casino to play 3 shoes for the day, I will make 6 units, above the commissions paid? Do I need to quit playing that shoe and wait for the next shoe to be dealt? It is possible to make between units if you play 6 shoes. You can have the same qualifying condition many times during 1 shoe. And you can navigate from one table to another and jump in in the middle of the shoe. However, you start playing only when that specific condition qualifies. It is good that you can stay at the same shoe after completing one session, as I play in an Indian Casino where there are only two tables running at a time. Once you find an opening, you have got to stay to keep a place or get up and wait hours to find another place to play. I like to play on average 3 to 4 shoes at a time and take a 2 to 3 hour breaks. Do you take a greater risk of losing your bank roll by staying at one table - looking to win more sessions in one shoe, rather than win once and leaving? Do you give recommendations of just how to approach or respect the Casinos when playing your method, so as to not be blacklisted form playing?

Reveal All "Secrets of Winning Baccarat" together with Brian Kayser. Although baccarat is the game of chance, many gamblers and casino experts do not give up attempts to prove the fact it can be easily beaten with the help of different strategies; well, if not strategies then various tips and secrets which should be used by every casino player in order to win.

Many people claim to have worked out the secret to playing baccarat. Some people win and some people lose, that is the nature of the game. The most important thing however is to make sure you enjoy yourself while playing and play whichever way works for you. There are two sides to the story when considering baccarat strategy. The first is that there are many people who claim to have perfected long term winning strategies for the game. The second is that there are many gambling experts who refute these claims and say that there is no strategy that will help you beat baccarat. Either way there is no denying that baccarat is an exciting and enjoyable game to play and that thousands of players win big dollars when things go their way. Gambling is about taking risks and hoping that the luck of the game is on your side when you need it. People gamble because they enjoy it as a pastime and that is certainly a legitimate form of entertainment. Some people like to play golf, others like to play baccarat – the choice is up to you. The best thing about baccarat is that it is one of the best gambles going around – the house percentage is very low compared to most other forms of gambling. As there are only three options when playing regular baccarat it is easy to determine the best bet. The house edge on a banker bet is only 1. The house edge on the player is 1. The edge on the tie bet is What this all means is that betting on the tie is a bad bet compared to the player or the banker. If you have no feeling on what the next hand will be then the math suggests you should bet on the banker even though the difference between the player and the banker is very small. Good money management is the best way to ensure you stay in the game for longer. We all know that we should only gamble what we can afford to lose but there are some ways that we can increase our chances of winning. Try and set a limit as to how much you intend to play with on any given session. Obviously some people will play higher stakes than others. If you reach your limit for any one session take a break and come back in a few hours after a rest; you never know your luck might change. Some people are lucky and others are not. If you feel someone else is on a hot streak that you want to jump on then there is nothing lost by following their lead.

Imagine you're searching for an article on how to win at baccarat.. You want to find some tips to play better or you want a strategy to win every time you play. Whatever the case, you want good advice, and you want them to be easy and quick.

A couple of weeks have passed since I first challenged Ellis about his shuffle control theory at the free baccarat forum. I stated my points in my previous blog entry here. Ellis never fully responded to my points. He offered a weak attempt by pointing out the following: The decision regarding which kind of shuffle to use does not come from the level of the dealers or pit-bosses, but rather from upstairs by those behind the Eye-In-The-Sky the security personnel who monitor the casinos. According to Ellis, those behind the cameras signal the tables which kind of shuffle to use via a numeric coding system, and each kind of shuffle is designed to produce a desired shoe bias. The important thing is that we are winning, so what does it matter anyway whether they are controlling the shuffle or not? If baccarat shoes were truly random, baccarat is not a winnable game. Ellis recalls a joke among his fellow mathematician colleagues: Back in my Math Professor days, there is a standing joke among math teachers everywhere. Math Professors everywhere agree on one thing. Possibly only one thing. No progression can beat random numbers. No bet placement scheme can beat random numbers. I believe you when you say you are winning "most of you. But recognize that if you are winning, esp. You are proving that the cards are not random. The notion that all is purely random and you are winning anyway is preposterous. The very notion is a joke. Mostly random is like mostly pregnant. The cards are either Random or Biased. There is nothing in between. Being the amiable person that I am, I did not pursue the issue at the forum, and I simply agreed with Ellis that as long as we are winning, that is indeed the most important thing. Truly, if the casinos are giving us the opportunity to win against them by presenting easily beatable shoe biases, who am I to complain? First, by suggesting that the shuffle control decision comes from those behind the security cameras, Ellis is trying to get around the first point I made to challenge his theory, namely that if casinos truly could intentionally present shoe biases at will, they would create massive cheating opportunities by employees colluding with associates to take advantage of the present bias. According to Ellis, this problem is solved by transferring the decision making process to a higher level above the dealers and pit-bosses. Moreover, since the dealers and pit-bosses ultimately have to perform the actual shuffles, one would think they would eventually figure out which kind of shuffle produces which kind of bias, and thus be able to take advantage of this knowledge to cheat anyway. Second, there are a couple of reasons why this issue is indeed rather important. If the casinos were intentionally controlling the shuffle, they would be purposely altering the odds of the game in their favor, which is clearly illegal. Wow "the conspiracy grows ever deeper! More importantly, believing that the only reason we can win baccarat is because shoes are intentionally biased and not random means that we are unable to use the same kind of strategies to win other games such as roulette and craps. This significantly limits the scope of applicability of these strategies. Which would you rather believe: By random, I am referring to an event that is described by a probability distribution, such as the result of a coin toss, or thermal noise in electronic components, the basis of hardware random number generators. In this sense, the result of baccarat hands can also be described as random. It has been demonstrated by many independent researchers and authors that over a large number of baccarat shoes, the frequency of events in baccarat is characteristic of a random set, ref: Secrets of Winning Baccarat by Dr. It is a fundamental feature of random sets that they frequently exhibit apparent biases which can be unexpectedly pronounced and persistent. This is easily demonstrable by simply flipping a coin and examining the resulting sequence of heads and tails. I challenged Ellis to try the following to prove for himself that his baccarat method System 40 and many other methods can beat random:

The game is easy to understand and easy to play as well. No matter what is your skill level in Baccarat, anyone can master the game easily given the right knowledge. However, there are a few versions of baccarat which mean casino players can play them in three ways. Some form of baccarat that you may come across in the casino would include the Baccarat Banque, Baccarat Chemin and also Punto Baccarat. In order to win the game, the players should always employ their skill and strategy. There are many articles and blogs in the online and offline platform whereby casino players can have a better idea on how to win this game. Over the years, there have been a number of different strategies and systems that have been developed to help anyone who wish to improve on their game. In this article, we have compile a list of effective baccarat betting strategy. Before your next trip to the casino, do get familiar with these 8 Baccarat winning systems and win big from your bets. Some casino players find it useful to employ their own knowledge and skills to play Baccarat. Players who use this strategy would practice playing the cards alone at home before going to the casino. They can do this alone or with a partner as well. By doing so, you can develop your own playing style and build more confidence in your own strategy. Besides that, it will also prepare you for actual gambling with real money. Many people have found success by applying a system of their own and so do you. In layman terms, it would mean that this system would rely on bets placed in the long run as opposed to betting on and trying to win every hand. For example, when you believe you can win the next four hands in a row, then you would have to bet consistently on a single unit chip, dollar, etc. The main logic behind this system is that you will eventually come out ahead by the end of your game. However, this has not been preventing the casino players from wagering using this technique. For example, the system can instruct you to bet one unit the first time then eliminate the outside numbers if your first bet wins. When you win your next bet, you would have completed a cycle. Therefore, you can start betting again by wagering a single unit. It is also another form of positive progression system. By using the Paroli system, casino players should start by betting one unit. Whenever the player win their bet, they would have to double their next bet. If you get lucky again, you would have to double it again till you win three times. After 3 winning bets, you would have already form a cycle. Therefore, the player can start all over again and repeat the cycle. In the end, this would leave the overall betting as an extra. By using this system, the player would need to reduce their bet in case they lose and increase their bet when they win. In the end, this would be a simple technique which is highly recommended for players who trust cycles. By using this the Fibonacci betting system, casino players would have to follow the numbers and increase their bet after a loss and reduce it after a win. Whenever you are lucky enough to get two win in a row, two times in three bets, you would eventually have to come back to the initial betting amount. Many players have been using it in the game of roulette and have got very favorable rewards for their game. However, what many does not know is that this strategy is also applicable to the game of baccarat as well. In theory, this strategy would require the casino player to have a huge budget in the event whereby a long losing streak occur. This strategy would involve some risk and would not be suitable for all casino players. If the risk is not manage well, the players may even go broke in a few bets. Do keep in mind however, many casino has also set up maximum bet on a table to counter players who are using this technique. Eventually, the players have to understand the theory behind the Martingale system is that you will recover all your losing bets with a single win. However, by using the 8 Baccarat betting strategy listed above, casino players can always improve their odds against the casino. It is also very important to find a reputable casino to place your baccarat bets. If you have been looking around for the perfect platform, we would highly recommend the LPE88 casino for live baccarat betting.
