The whipping wind made the five-minute walk from the parking lot to the media room nearly unbearable. A storm is expected to move up from the Carolinas, bringing precipitation from the southern Appalachians to New England. While a significant snowstorm is expected in Boston and on Cape Cod, the mid-Atlantic was expected to be spared of the heaviest precipitation. Much of the snow could also fall while the sun is still up, which would likely limit accumulation to grassy surfaces. Advertisement Four Ravens predictions sure to go wrong vs. The road back to Foxborough was a bumpy one -- the month journey included a ton of injuries, individual tragedy, a late-season coaching switch and a three-game losing streak -- but here the Ravens are again, back in New England to take on Tom Brady and the Patriots in the AFC championship game for a second straight year. The menu in this cozy, colorful spot - with its sawdust-covered floors and an antique painting of a portly Berkshire pig - might be described as down-home fare meets epicurean flair. Harvey of Southbury, Conn. He calls it shunpiking, a word that has its origins in the Colonial era, when travelers sometimes took lengthy detours to avoid paying tolls to property owners. Harvey devises an itinerary and writes a guidebook specifically for the trip, tailored to such interests as antiquing, outlet shopping or visiting historic sites. Asked if they would rather lure the Patriots of Remington owner Victor Kiam or seek an NFL expansion franchise, respondents sided with an expansion team by more than a 2-to-1 margin. Officials acknowledged that as part of the deal, Fleet, which has a comparatively healthy capital base for a Northeast bank, would have to raise money to satisfy federal rules on its financial health. The change in the schedule could magnify the importance of the first primary in the sixth New England state, New Hampshire, Feb. And it could result in a Republican rush to judgment on a nominee even earlier than has been forecast up to now. It is far from clear which candidate may gain or lose from such a change, although it obviously could help a front runner such as Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole and pose a problem for Sen. What part of the country is brimming with first-rate shops, shows and auctions? How can I find out about dealers and their specialties? Antiquing in New England , " edited by Susan P. Broncos 34, Patriots 31 The Patriots have relied on their running game in recent weeks and it has been enough to get to this point. Broncos 34, Patriots 24 It will be a shootout because neither team plays defense. Tshuma, who was projected to go somewhere in the top 10, was taken at No. Bernard Pierce got the leftovers, usually playing between 20 and 25 snaps per game. Given how well the Ravens were playing and the fact that they were at home, their poor performance today was pretty shocking. Joe Flacco was clearly not himself because of the sprained knee, but there are no excuses for this effort. The Ravens did not win the battle at the line of scrimmage like they had in the past against New England. Flacco questionable, but expected to play By Jeff Zrebiec, The Baltimore Sun December 20, Ravens quarterback Joe Flacco made it through the final full practice of the week without further injuring his sprained left knee. Flacco, who practiced on a limited basis all week while wearing a brace on his left knee, was listed as questionable on the injury report but on Sunday is expected to make his th consecutive start. He looked pretty much the same all week and got through all the practices and took his reps and did well. He issued an ultimatum to Milloy to take a pay cut or else, and Milloy opted for "or else. You might seek out a cool spot on the Maine coast or a Cape Cod beach. If countryside and mountains please you more, head for the greenery of New Hampshire or Vermont. In my travels around New England, I find I tend to return to a few favorite spots again and again: And, as a popular Cape Cod resort, it does get crowded.

During the past three years six antique shops have opened along the main business district on Edgewater Drive between Par Street and Lake Adair. Cordelier Antiques, Edgewater Drive. Nearby shopping areas in Delray Beach and Boca Raton add to the wealth and retail options. Antique Row Antique Row is a charming district with over 40 antique shops offering an impressive selection of 17th to 20th century antiques, fine and decorative arts, period deco and moderne furnishings, and much more. All within walking distance, this vast array of quality antiques stores, specialty shops and art galleries are complemented by award-winning restaurants, and a chic boutique hotel. Those longing for a glimpse of the old South come to see antebellum homes that line the quiet streets of the district, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Originally the Seminole Indian village of Cuscowilla, the village grew up around a trading post that was established early in when Florida became an American territory. The strip on North Orange Avenue in Orlando has been known for its antique shops for as long as I can remember. But over the last few years, its burgeoning bar and lounge scene has become a fun nightlife destination in its own right. Here are are a couple of newbies thrown in the mix. Open for about two months, it is located in the middle of the Washburn Imports antique store. Cloud and Kissimmee, too must offer goods and services not available at the shopping mall chain stores. I hope the new owners of the Golden Age building will be spectacularly successful in their efforts to create an Antique Arcade. Contrary to common opinion, antique and refinishing operations will all thrive when grouped together, because collectors will travel long distances to a trading center. Cities such as Hallandale and Winter Park have done well with their antique districts, while in Micanopy, which is almost percent antique shops, parking space is the biggest problem. She will join the company, which moved last year from New York to Chicago, this fall. Call, 23, progressed from an uncertain year-old diamond-in-the-rough to a blazing jewel of a dancer with SBT. The sixth annual Downtown Orlando Senior Day on Wednesday will give senior citizens an inside look at the city by offering cheap eats, special events and shows and tours of everything from antique shops to City Hall. Often the answer is New England. People unacquainted with the region may picture it as a Grandma Moses landscape of maple trees and rolling hills, with antiques dealers around every corner. An exaggeration, perhaps, but New England does have an astounding concentration of antique shops. A long-standing dress shop will make way for one of those restaurants by moving to a nearby location. When times are good, buyers snap up collectibles. When times are bad, wallets snap shut. Lots of wallets are staying closed these days. We arrived in early afternoon and settled into the Redland Hotel, just off the main street of Krome Avenue. The historic hotel offers clean and comfortable rooms and friendly proprietors ready to give sightseeing tips. It is jammed with wonderful primitive pieces and architectural details: More than a half-century later, Cpl. Jack Fitzpatrick also won over a shopper who spotted a stack of his old correspondence in an antiques store. In an era of cell phones, e-mail and instant messaging, his leisurely prose -- and the way he envisioned their future together -- were captivating. His brother, Marshall, also 20, had died fighting in Germany on Jan. Then, barely a month later on Feb. Two brothers dead, a family shaken by tragedy -- a wartime story of courage and sacrifice that echoes still today. Now, 62 years after the Dec. Freeman said, is a Western omelet. That we got, the waiter said, and went off to the kitchen. In California, we call it a Denver omelet. So youre from California? What makes you say that? You just said, In California. People are too quick to imply bad things about people before theyve thought them out. So you live in Miami, then? Freeman shook her gray curls. Her gray dentures had a translucent quality.
