Here is the Summer production. We are still amazed to see a display by one of our subscribers of an array of our titles, and realize all that has been accomplished in the last 30 years. We do not have the manpower and reach of Archie, IDW, Marvel and others and cannot turn out material as quickly but we are very pleased with the little we have been able to publish and appreciative of your interest in this work. Our yearly schedule now includes 12 issues of the letter and Four comic books. Just between you and we, our next book is something special. You may have heard already but this one is Something Big. Some of you will want further details. Away back when we did reveal plenty about the contents of our books: The names of the writer, artist, colorist and editor, the plot and theme of each story, the page length, any possible connection to an earlier or imminent story, the surprises in store for you, the reader. We then noticed that almost everyone was doing the same. This trend has expanded to include the reviews of television, the theatre and movies. Look to a channel guide for a one-sentence review of the upcoming film. Tune in to the beginning of the broadcast and see and hear the host who will reveal everything about the content of the film up to and including the name of the murderer in The Saint picture that is about to begin. We do not exaggerate. This really happened on Turner about four years ago. By reading, watching or listening to such commentary, one can grasp almost every detail of an upcoming artistic accomplishment. One need not attend the show, read the book or purchase the comic. We are in the business of creating, producing and publishing comic books that will amuse, entertain, educate, inform and surprise initially us and then, hopefully you, dear reader. We heard from Nicholas Caputo, a subscriber, the other day. He was surprised to discover we had dedicated our new title, The Hero Comics no. Imagine how we might have ruined that surprise. Once upon a time comic book editors opened their pages to letters from the reader, contributions, drawings, jokes and ideas. Look into old issues and you will find an assortment of now familiar names. There is an early cartoon by Mort Walker published in Tip Top Comics v 2, n 10 February, United Features. Nelson Bridwell designed a portion of a splash page in Katy Keene n 1, Archie. Does anyone publish reader contributions these days? We can think of one. Look to The Hero Comics no. You will find there a letter from Gary Poole. We do not have the staff or the great and most-popular characters known all over the world: Archie, Batman and Captain America. So we will offer instead that which you cannot get elsewhere. Each person who makes a Pledge to support this campaign will see his name inscribed in the Introduction to this new title. It will be possible for your fellow readers to see and read your name and like us give thanks for your support in the publication of this book. You may have noticed each title or series has its own unique identity. Something Big is not to be confused with those and other titles we have published. Something Big is a page comic book not an 8-page, page, page or page comic book with ads a page comic book that begins with a color cover, perhaps the most colorful cover we have ever published. The lead feature in this new book is an item that has been out of print for too long. There are other features. This is an anthology. We like to offer more than one story or portion of a story to you. Here at last is Campaign No. Something Big by Snyder and Ditko. A page comics anthology. A work that has engaged us all through the Spring of this year. We believe we have something surprising to offer this time. What do you think? Do you still want more? We direct you to our Biography here. There is more information in there than you can shake a stick at. SD Risks and challenges After 19 successful campaigns here we have a very good idea of what you are looking for and expecting. To alleviate any concerns on your part, we wish to report that this book is almost ready for print. This book is not a pipe-dream to be completed at a later date. The covers, stories and artwork are complete. There will be no delay in finishing the work because it is already complete. Only the editorial pages are unfinished, in the preliminary stage. We have only to add your name to the list of campaign contributors and the work will be ready to go to the printer. Yes, we will take our time in the composition of these pages to ensure we have each name and that it is spelled correctly. We have been working with the same printer we used in all previous campaigns and are familiar with their arrangements. We have scheduled this work in such a way that it will be produced and delivered on time and as promised. Questions about this project?

Chapter 2 : Books similar to Something Big Has Been Here

Something Big Has Been Here is a anthology of poems in verse by Jack Prelutsky. In the beginning of the book, is poem with the same title as the name of the entire anthology, Something Big Has Been Here.

In "Captain Conniption," young readers will giggle to meet the self-professed "scourge of the sea. Ages 4 to 12 Product Description A poetry collection to tickle your funny bone, Something Big Has Been Here features more than original poems and black-and-white drawings from the best-selling team of Jack Prelutsky and James Stevenson. Here are four ferocious tigers, a meat loaf that defies an ax, five flying hot dogs-and many, many more people, animals, and things that are destined to become a part of the lives of everyone who loves to laugh. The subjects of the poems range from mask-wearing earthworms to a room-trashing robot; from wishes to be bigger, to fishing in the desert. Children will laugh at the fearsome pirate "Captain Conniption," terror of the seas, who always obeys his mother. Many will sympathize with the longing of the boy in "My Brother is a Quarterback" who yearns to be a great athlete like his brother is. The poem turns such common phrases as "pocket change" and "coffee break" on their ears and makes them into something new. The emptyheadedly happy expressions on the five flying franks make the whole idea even funnier. His artwork for "An Elephant is Hard to Hide" demonstrates even better than words the impossibility of stuffing an elephant into a dresser drawer. The expression of glee on the face of the boy reveling in "Mold, Mold" is identical to expressions seen in mud puddle schoolyards. This volume is a treasure for both children and adults. They have both taken up writing poetry now because they realized it can be so much fun. This book is a must have for any young family. The only reason I did not give it a complete 5 stars was that, while cute, the illustrations are not spectacular. A book we both enjoy! By Noelle McLure on Mar 13, My eight yr. The poems are very funny and the words he uses are wonderfully descriptive and have expanded her vocabulary. We both highly recommend this book and others by Jack Prelutsky. The poems are very clever, funny and appealing to kids, along the lines of Shel Silverstein. The difference is the very sophisticated vocabulary that Prelutsky uses. I use a poem per week from this book for my remedial middle school students for oral reading fluency, plus I create our weekly vocabulary word list from words from the weekly poem. Prelutsky is a genius when it comes to poetry for kids and the young-at-heart! Williams on Oct 12, I purchased this book for my college literature class. It was a required reading assignment. I have never heard of Jack Prelutsky before, but I quickly became a fan of his writing. I have never laughed so much as I did when I read his book of poems in one day. This is a must for any parent with small children. It will keep them entertained for hours. Additionally, It is a good book for adults who just need to have a good laugh after a bad day. It has great poems, and makes a great bedtime reading book since you can just read a short poem or two instead of a huge story book. Jack Prelutsky is wonderfu, he is very clever and his poems are all so cute. I recommend everyone get a copy of this book! Keep a copy in the car for the kids to read while you drive. I ordered this book along with several others by Jack Prelutsky for my 4 grandsons ranging in age from 2 to 7. As I usually do, I read every one of them before they do. Since I am not as eloquent as the author I cannot find the appropriate words as to how to describe how special these books are. Every child and adult with a sense of humor should pick up at least one of Mr. Even though they are written for kids, as an adult I found them to be more then special. He is an excellent author who does things with words that will not only entertain you and any child that is lucky enough to own his books, but after reading them I would not be surprised if this introduction to poetry will result in kids at any age being anxious to read more of Mr. This author is exceptional when it comes to putting into verse life the way kids perceive it. His expertise in making the verses flow and rhyme so perfectly is a literary experience all children of any age should be exposed to. Any adult reading these books to a young child will not be bored and will actually look forward to the forthcoming verbal interaction that will be fulfilling for both the child and the adult. Some of his books are written for children that are reading on their own. These children will no doubt enjoy reading the books that were written for younger kids as well. Do a child a favor and open the door to a very special reading experience that will not soon be forgotten. The books themselves which include both hardcover and soft cover are made so that each page is thick enough to withstand being handled by children and even the soft covered books look and feel as if they are much more expensive than what I actually paid for them. When you hold it you can see how substantial and well made the book is. My students enjoyed acting out the poem I read to them. Since then, I pick a poem for my Kindergarten through third graders for after every Physical Education class to help my kids use their imagination as they quietly cool down. Their homeroom teachers appreciate them coming back to them ready to learn! I am very happy to have this book in my equipment arsenal! Funny By Anna on Dec 06, This collection of funny poems for kids is quite good. My personal favorites are about the turkey shooting out of the oven and Fearless Flying Hot Dogs, which is full of puns. We have had so much fun reading We have had so much fun reading to each other from his books We each pick a random poem and giggle until "lights out. He writes poems of different lengths about many different things, and they just hit the right note for kids and parents. Jack Prelutsky is a poet of remarkable erudition! It was so much fun! I recommend this book for the old and the young. They are well written and very funny -my seven year old understands the humor in every one we have read. They are written at a level so that she can read them herself with a few difficult words thrown in that I have to sound out and define for her! Great book for my 7 year old daughter By Mom To 3 on Jun 29, Great book for my 7 year old daughter. She loves reading this. The seller shipped fast and book was in excellent condition. She is in first grade and loves poems. The poems in this book are fun, detailed, funny, and very descriptive. After reading many of the poems in the book she says she wants to eventually take a class about poetry. She already started to try to write her own poems. The illustrations in this book are great. This book was intended for children but people of all ages can enjoy it. My 5 yr old really only had me read it to him once. He has only had me read it to him once He loves this book. A big hit By J. Holt on Jan 04, My 7 year old daughter devoured this book. We got it for her for Christmas and she is still picking it up everyday. This particular edition is in a Paperback format. It was published by Greenwillow Books and has a total of pages in the book. To buy this book at the lowest price, Click Here.
