The Chicken Chop here came with bones which is very much different from the one I ate in Singapore, maybe it is a way that they prove that the ingredient is real. We wake up in the Morning at hrs and had Breakfast at the Hotel, we set off at hrs to Tai Pei after another East Malaysia Family meet up with us. We were suppose to travel from Tai Pei to Hua Lian by Train, but the Tour Guide suggest that we travel by the mountain path so that we can see the beautiful scenery of the Pacific Ocean. The whole mountain path trip remind me of the AE86 Tofu Delivery Car in the Japanese Comics Initial D, 4 out of the 8 passengers got motion sickness in the process and me and my wife were not one of them. I had injure my ear drum when I surface too fast during scuba diving when I study in Polytechnic and my sense of balance had not been sensitive after that incident, I had never get any motion sickness since then. The Hundred Lion Bridge is the Bridge that the Aboriginal Tribe cross when they when to the mountains to hunt and harvest, as there are a lot of people had lost their live in the past a hundred lion statues were place on the bridge to subdue the evil spirits. We walk around the Resort and saw some Goat and Goose, we also encounter a brown dog and brown cat at the Convince Store which seem to be very friendly and get along well with each other. We had Steam Fish, Steam Prawn, Steam Pumpkin and Meat Ball Soup for dinner at hrs, we join the event at hrs at the resort where we had quiz, dance and sky lantern. We wrote our wishes on the sky lantern and set it off into the sky so that the heaven will see it and grant our wishes, that was the grand finale for the night. The museum use to be a bunker for Nuclear War, it had a 5 tons steel door install at the entrance. The pearl in Taiwan were different from other countries as it is breed in mountain spring instead of Sea or Fresh Water Lake, the Pearl Powder had various medical and cosmetic properties such as curing fever, stopping bleeding and smoothing skin. We check in to Room of City Suite Hotel at about hrs. The Lunch Box Meal was the specialties there and it is a must try when you visit Feng Qi Hu Old Street, it was the main meal for the worker when they had to travel deep into the mountains by the train in the olden days. The Ice Cream were a bit dull in taste but the Biscuit for the Ice Cone was made fresh on the spot and was very crispy and nice. We found out later that the actual price for the Boat Ride is only half of what we pay the Tour Guide later when we arrive back at the Jetty, guess this is what most tour guide do to earn extra income from the commission they get from the shops and changing the tour itineraries saving the cost of Train Ticket and suggest to take the Mountain Path instead. The Sun Moon Lake were originally separated by the Naru Island, the Sun Lake was round in shape while the Moon Lake was Crescent in shape, the Japanese had build a dam for the power generation and divert a mountain stream to fill up the lake to serve as a reservoir. The Pi Xiu Shop is located at the Underground Basement like most of the Casino which I had visit over the years, they strongly believe that Underground Basement had the ability to keep fortune in the study of Feng Shui even the Vault at most of the Banks are located at the Underground Basement. Two very big Pi Xiu Statue are right in front of the entrance when we enter the shop, Pi Xiu is believe to be a rare mystical creature which is the ninth descendant of the Dragon. As it eat monsters for food and does not have an ass hole, it will vomit gold and jewels from its mouth after it had digest the monsters. So it had been a favorite ornament for most of the business man since ancient times. The shop ask me to represent the tour group to receive the fortune, I had to place both my palm on the head of the statue and turn three round anti clockwise and then move all the way to the tail. We went in to the room for the Feng Shui Talk right after that, the shop talk about how having 4, 9 and 13 stroke in the name will bring great fortune. But if you are aware enough, you will realize that the character actually had 12 stroke instead of 13 stroke. But I turn down the offer and walk out of the shop. Guess all the Octagon on inside my wallet had manage to destroy the Feng Shui of the shop and fail to retain my fortune inside their shop. The same fate happen for the Beauty Product Duty Free Shop as their products are found to be much more expensive than the normal products sold outside. The Maltose Candy was soft and nice as compare to the hard one I found in Singapore. The Tower is meters high, with the Fastest Elevator which travel at meters per minute. If you really want a romantic tour with the one you love, Taiwan would be the best choice.

Leadership can be summed up in two words: For almost four years, we have been trying to lay to rest a matter which in any sane society should not have lasted more than two working days – if the person involved had done the simple and honourable thing by coming clean. Even now, when, out of desperation, an attempt was made to involve an institution in the story, on the assumption that the story would come to an end, all it did was to expose all the falsehood which had characterised the issue from the first day it came up. If you are wondering what the matter is here, let me quickly come to it. It is quite possible that no other certificate, or lack of it, has ever caught the attention of Nigerians since , when one Honourable Ibrahim Salisu Buhari was elected into the Federal House of Representatives on the ticket of the Peoples Democratic Party, PDP, on fake certificates said to have been obtained from universities abroad. As it turned out, Buhari was not the only person with phony claims regarding schools and universities attended. The Alliance for Democracy, AD, our card-carrying progressives at the time, also had their own case to answer. One of the governors elected on their ticket in , falsely claimed to have attended Government College, Ibadan, and after that a university in Chicago. Instead of allowing justice to take its course, the old men of Afenifere, leaders of the AD, defended their governor to the end. It was not their finest hour. As it turned out, the fellow repaid them with ingratitude. Nobody has taken a look at that ruling which was damaging. In , Buhari was on the ballot. Having collected the bribe from GEJ, it would appear absolutely reprehensible for those who sold Nigeria for a mere N17 billion in to be talking about corruption in to . They made it possible. To be candid, I had assumed that he had one all along and that the query in was an attempt by the PDP to derail what was then a needed change in governance. Now, I know better and must apologise to fellow Nigerians for the error. Now, I am not so sure. Let me quickly explain the reasons which are in many respects different from those we are all now familiar with. I was a candidate for the same examination in at Igbobi College, Yaba – a year after Buhari allegedly it has come to that undertook the challenge. There was a world of difference between the and the sets. The examinations were the last to be marked abroad; ours was the first marked in West Africa. Obviously, there is no way WAEC can attest to the result of an examination which it did not conduct. At best, all WAEC can do is to render what is on the records by the body which was responsible for the examinations. Furthermore, in and , the body conducting the examination would indicate the grade of the candidate. The three passing grades were: Grade 1, 2 and 3. By the grace of God, mine was Grade 1. Any certificate without a grade indicated meant that the candidate failed the examination. That made the entire intervention questionable. The document brought had no index number. While the front page of the certificates in and summarised the results, the back page of any authentic result for that era provided the explanations for the summary. Again, any true and certified copy of the result must include the two pages. Otherwise it is forgery. The WAEC officials who partook in this charade should be ashamed of themselves. They have devalued their institution by issuing a questionable document in many respects. If WAEC officials disgraced themselves, for whatever reasons, President Buhari behaved worse and lost more of his vaunted integrity. He and his staff, especially his Senior Special Adviser on Media, lost their heads altogether. For what was supposed to be a spontaneous action, unsolicited by the Presidency, they had organised a large welcoming party. Buhari, who claimed he did not apply for it, was obviously happy to receive the bogus document. Drowning men grab at anything floating – even if it is toilet paper. What they thought would stop the assault has now escalated their problems. Suddenly, different stories are coming out and different results are circulating. Poor Buhari, he obviously needed a mother like mine who should have told him something about lies. Under her merciless cross-examinations, it soon became clear to me that once you tell one lie, you need several others to make it stand up – if at all it ever does. The nation had been served with bowls of falsehood about the Army withholding his certificate as if he was the only person who ever served in that part of the armed forces. When that would not silence the critics, a report was issued by the school. Finally, we landed in the hands of WAEC whose self-deceptive officials, went to Aso Rock to raise the needless scam to a higher level. To be quite candid, it was as disgraceful as it was unintelligent. A friend of mine names withheld had lost all the original copies of his certificates in a fire accident. He sat for the WAEC examinations in Seeking a teaching appointment abroad, he had proceeded to obtain replacements of his certificates. He started with his secondary school and went on to his two universities. In less than three months, he had received true certified copies of all his credentials. A second case was that of a young lady, 26, who lost her own to flood in the Niger Delta. She also got a new one within three months. Are we supposed to believe that someone occupying the most important office in Nigeria did not know he could apply for a replacement after all these years and save us this waste of time?

"Something must be wrong with our psyche." Aliyu urged government to provide permanent security to protect motorists on major interstate highways who are being waylaid and killed in some.

The other day I found a health journal I started in , right before I experienced a major traumatic episode in my life, the loss of my eight week pregnancy. I say traumatic because I had to be rushed to the hospital one night as one of my tubes erupted we later found out I had an ectopic pregnancy. I lost the baby and I almost died. As Rob and I are getting ready to get pregnant again, I started to browse through the journal to see if I could find some useful information and oh myâ€¦! One of the things that caught my attention among many others that I will share with you in time was a particular episode that happened right after I got out of surgery. A good piece of information here is to know that everything from my lower abdomen down was swollen, sensitive and almost unrecognizable. She kept pushing trying to make it work and I was hurting more and more. So I continued writing: So she stepped aside and the other nurse quickly inserted the catheter in no time. This is the way of the Empowered Woman. When we do this, a whole new world opens up and just like in the experience I shared above, an easy and best suitable solution will present itself without the drama and the huge waste of energy. I know you have been on this self development path for a while, this is not your first rodeo. However, you will be surprised at how sneaky this patterns can be. Neither of these are balanced. The key to our feminine power is the balance between our Wild Woman and Good Girl. These two together are unstoppable. Because the Wild Woman gives the Good Girl courage and confidence to be assertive and stand up for what she believes without feeling sorry, guilty or self conscious and the Good Girl helps the Wild Woman remember to speak up in a loving and considerate way so everyone benefits, just like the example I shared with you above. Now, most women are very good at being Good Girls and what they are missing is to fully feel free to express their Wild Woman in the world without feeling threatened, in danger or that something bad is going to happen if they do. Watch this new short video I made for you: I can easily share all the details. The retreat has capacity for 7 women maximum and we have three already signed up.

Best is if you have one doctor who can be your guide. They report their "findings" to the FDA who then tells you what you can or cannot take. No billionaires to invest and make billions more. So what do we have. Horrendously expensive mostly uncovered by ins. So, are we left to sue the company in 25 years with the only hope of our children getting a bunch of dollars and dead parents? Imagine actually put in a category as a "drug addict" - one who seeks out drugs for fun! Why do THIS to us. How disrespectful and evil. There is a large city group of "Migraine Neurologists" who are trying to do that now. No life should ever be condemned. What if a tv medical ad would ask you for 10K to forever end your migraine pain? Would you do it? Of course you would. Being branded the worse words in medical easy-understanding DOES. And worst of all keeps your life a living HELL. Humm, more corporations, specialists, medicate exclusive groups for them. But they know we are on to them. They know we are done with hiding in shameful despair. Obey all laws, respect all who profess to help you, but be weary and never ever let them let you suffer. Stay painless, the help exists. God is a painless god, think of all you can do in your life. This inherited disease is like so many, not deadly butâ€¦yes the many which have an answer here and now.
