The decision was spurred due to Tendulkar stepping down from the position for his health, and Ganguly being the vice-captain at that time. But mutiny was afoot among the lower orders. In one match Ganguly, after reaching his fifty, raised his bat to the home balcony, only to find it deserted. He did not inspire at Glamorgan or Northamptonshire either. At the latter in he averaged 4. Waugh chose to enforce the follow-on and V. The Australians were unable to survive and became only the third team to lose a Test after enforcing the follow-on. Ganguly said that he was only mimicking an act performed by the British all-rounder Andrew Flintoff during a tour of India. However, his individual performance deteriorated during his captaincy reign, especially after the World Cup, the tour of Australia in and the Pakistan series in It was speculated that Ganguly was in disagreement with the head of cricket in Nagpur over the type of pitch to be used for the Third Test. The groundsmen went against Ganguly, leaving a large amount of grass on the pitch. Some experts indicated that the reason for this was for "spite or revenge" against the Indian captain. Dravid could not give a definitive answer, saying: Ganguly decided against retiring and attempted to make a comeback to the team. He was presented with the award on 30 June , by then President of India , Dr. Comeback and rift with Greg Chappell Main article: Chappell Ganguly controversy Ganguly signing autographs outside his residence. Chappell had emailed the Board of Control for Cricket in India , stating that Ganguly was "physically and mentally" unfit to lead India and that his "divide and rule" behaviour was damaging the team. Ganguly had enlisted the support from the Indian media and eventually the board had to intervene and order a truce between the pair. For this, performance will be the criteria, applicable to captain, coach and players. Mutual trust is important. Going to the media will lead to disciplinary action.

Chapter 2 : Sourav Ganguly - Wikipedia

Sourav Ganguly was born on 8 July in Calcutta, and is the youngest son of Chandidas and Nirupa Ganguly. Chandidas ran a flourishing print business and was one of the richest men in the city. Ganguly had a luxurious childhood and was nicknamed the 'Maharaja', meaning the 'Great King'.

He lives in Kolkatta, India. He is a left-handed batsman and a right-handed medium-pace bowler. His fans are grateful for it, because there are few things in cricket that can outshine a Ganguly left-handed drive. He is fondly called as the Prince of Kolkata. He got the name Bengal tiger partially due to his place of birth and partially due to the way he would pounce on the ball. Sourav refuted these allegations but after that first one day with Australia that marked his debut he was forgotten for four years. It seemed like his career as an international cricketer had ended even before it took off. He continued to play domestic cricket and in earned a place in the Indian side touring England. He made a dazzling test debut hundred, something that only three others have had the distinction of having achieved at Lords. His innings were a brilliant display studded with breathtaking drives on the offside and overnight this young man transformed himself into a shooting star. In the build up to Ganguly made an enormous runs against Sri Lanka in the World cup of ; runs and six wickets in the Pepsi cup. He was honoured with the Arjuna Award in and in February after the match fixing scandal he was named the captain of the Indian cricket team. Sourav Ganguly is considered one of the best captains India has ever had. As captain of the Indian team Ganguly led India in 49 Test Matches, winning 21 of those, including 12 that were played outside India. In , with him at the helm of Indian cricket India reached the World Cup Final, where they lost to the Australians. Sourav Ganguly was a captain that the boys could count on. He got the team what they wanted and backed the players he believed in. Here was a captain who did not shy away from publicly expressing his feelings. He was condemned for disrespecting Lords protocol but he earned brownie points nonetheless with the Indian fans. He made a lot of enemies in the media for his assertiveness both, as a batsman and captain. Although Sachin and he formed the best opening combination in ODIs, he dropped himself down the batting order to make room for Sehwag. His failing individual statistics and his controversies with Greg Chappell led him to be dropped from the team in October When the tiger was down-and-out everybody took pot shots at him. Everybody wrote him off. Sourav Ganguly has risen like the Phoenix from the ashes. He has accumulated runs in the past year. His performance in the , India vs. Pakistan test series has been simply brilliant. Here is a man who can reinvent himself after two decades at the age of thirty five; surely he deserves all praise and accolades.

Chapter 3 : Dona Ganguly - Wikipedia

Sourav Chandidas Ganguly was born on the eight of July He lives in Kolkatta, India. He is a left-handed batsman and a right-handed medium-pace bowler. Ganguly is naturally right-handed, but became a left-handed batsman at a young age so that he could use his brother, Snehasish's cricket.

He, along with Sachin Tendulkar made some of the critical and historical partnerships while opening the innings. India trusts him, he never let them down, and he tumbled but never fell from a stature India gave him. Once lured to cricket by his elder brother, Dada scored those 11, runs in One Day International cricket solely on his consistent and robust technique. He is still the 8th highest run-scorer in ODIs. He led India to overseas and home victories. Sourav Ganguly still holds the record for the most successful Indian captain regarding test and overseas wins. He polished and helped the young ones in the team to become future superstars and ultimately the World Cup winners. He made every man in blue proud and is still doing that, now as a selector and a mentor for budding cricketers. Sourav Ganguly has set standards so high in his territory in Bengal that it is evident that the next Sachin and Ganguly will raise from Bengal. Early Career Sourav Ganguly was born with a golden spoon in his mouth. Ganguly was a right-hand batsman when he was in metric. In , Sourav Ganguly made his first-class debut for Bengal. In the upcoming Ranji Trophy in the season, Ganguly was the only player in Bengal who was of merit to become an International player. After making ODI debut in , he was dropped for his arrogance and attitude towards his teammate. Sourav Ganguly refused to carry drinks and stuff during breaks as a twelfth man that resulted in his exclusion. The next two seasons in Ranji Trophy were even more impressive and promised for Sourav Ganguly. He was too good to be rejected, his centuries in Duleep trophy continued in theseason, and finally, the arrogant young brat was recalled by Indian Cricket Board for a series against England. Sourav Ganguly made his Test debut as a replacement for N. In the third test match, his second in Test career, he smashed another ton at Trent Bridge. He became the third batsman to score a hundred in his back-to-back first innings. In World Cup, Sourav Ganguly made a record of highest individual score in World Cups, his runs included 17 fours and 7 sixes, both Rahul Dravid and Sourav Ganguly shared a record partnership of runs. In the year , Ganguly was number one in batsmen rankings, thanks to his five centuries in the season. His form in test cricket was opposite of it. Most Successful Indian Captain The match-fixing scandal led to a clean-up operation in team India, Sachin stepped down from captaincy, and Sourav Ganguly was the only choice left for Indian cricket team officials. In the final match, Sourav scored a century in a losing cause. Ganguly, in response to Andrew Flintoff, the then captain of England, took off his shirt and waved it towards Flintoff and English fans. The provocative act was defended by Sourav Ganguly by saying that the act was a reaction to the one carried out by Flintoff. In , World Cup, India finally reached the final after 20 years but beaten badly by Aussies in the all-important final match. In the final of world cup , Virender Sehwag wicket were so crucial for India as Sehwag got run out, India left the track. Dada scored runs averaging 58 with the bat. After the World Cup , Ganguly did not have a form that he needed. He was finally dropped for his lack of interest as a captain in He was having the worst form of his career and was rested for a series or two. After a forced comeback, Ganguly was trapped in a serious controversy with Greg Chappel, the coach of India. The news was a wildfire in the jungle, BCCI took action and asked both the parties to appear before the board. Ultimately, Ganguly dropped again for his bad attitude and arrogance. Later in December , Sourav Ganguly posted his first double century against arch-rivals Pakistan. Apart from the World Cup , the year was one of the best seasons for him. He was a second highest run scorer in Tests. In the same year, Ganguly retired from Test cricket after the successful Border-Gavaskar Trophy by , Ganguly made his final hundred in the second Test match. Ganguly retired from IPL in His highest score was against Pakistan. In ODIs, Ganguly amassed 11, runs at a batting average of 41 and scored 22 hundred and 72 fifties. His topscore of came against Sri Lanka in World Cup. In 77 T20 matches including his International and IPL games combined, Sourav Ganguly scored with a batting average of 25 and the highest score of Sourav was an occasional bowler in Test and ODI cricket. In test matches, Ganguly gathered 32 wickets. His wickets in ODIs are most notable with a 5-wicket haul and an overall economy just above 5.

Sourav Ganguly holds the record of best captain for India overseas. Out of 49 test matches, India won 21 under his captaincy. The overseas record is even better than that with 11 victories out of 28 games, most by any Indian captain since Independence. He is also the fastest batsman to runs in One Day Internationals. After neutralizing the strong opposition, Sourav Ganguly got married in February after England tour. Their daughter, Sana Ganguly was born in Sourav Chandidas Ganguly is a former Indian cricket player and captain. He is considered by all the cricket pundits as one of India's best test captains in recent times. After scoring prolifically in domestic tournaments, he was finally given a big break when India toured England in soon after the conclusion of Cricket World Cup.

Chandidas ran a flourishing print business and was one of the richest men in the city. Since the favourite sport for the people of Calcutta was the game of football, Ganguly was initially attracted to the game. However, academics came in-between his love for sports and Nirupa was not very supportive of Ganguly taking up cricket or any other sport as a career. By then, his elder brother Snehasish was already an established cricketer for the Bengal cricket team. Ganguly was studying in tenth grade at that time. Dona hails from a well-known Bengali family; who live next door to the Gangulys. Infact, the two families were once business partners. Dona was a student of Loreto Convent and pursued her career in classical dance. In fact, she had become famous long before she married Sourav. Dona pursued dance from a very young age and wanted to become successful in her chosen area of specialization. Influenced by her mother to become a dancer, Dona is one of the youngest disciples of the great Late Kelucharan Mahapatra. She began to learn classical dance from Amala Shankar, wife of world famous dancer Uday Shankar. The most significant development however, was the encounter with Guru Kelucharan Mahapatra, one of the greatest exponents of Odissi. Under the direct guidance and intensive coaching of the great Guru, Dona has developed her skill and has already proved her talent in Odissi Dance at a number of functions in India and Abroad, to mention a few. Her performance at the India International Centre in Delhi before a distinguished gathering in was greeted with splendid reviews in Delhi Press. Among her other awards are: She received number of awards for her outstanding performance. She has also received the certificate of Honorary Citizenship from the city of Memphis and also from Shelby Country Tennessee. She was invited by the 15th North American Bengali Conference held in New York from June 30 to July 2, where her performance was appreciated by the 10, audience as well as the American Press. She performed all round USA in many cities. Dona admits that she was never a great fan of cricket but of course of Sourav, her next-door neighbor. But, now she has to live with cricket. Sourav once admitted that Dona did not like too much of cricket as that kept him away from her for long. When asked if Sourav discusses cricket with her, Dona replied: If I start talking cricket, he asks me to shut up.

Be different and prove your critics wrong Philosophy in life: Be a good human being Most relaxing thing to do: Watch his wife do a dance routine Best moment: Gets excited too quickly Most embarrassing moment: First Test cap and first bat Most prized possession: Daughter Sana Batting strategy: Take ten runs at a time Sourav Chandidas Ganguly made his entry into this world on He was born into a sports loving family and was the second of two sons born to Chandidas and Nirupa Ganguly. He was born into immense wealth, unlike many Indian cricketers, with the exception of royalty. Perhaps, they knew that their son was born to lead. His palatial, joint-family home which has nearly 30 members in the Kolkata suburb of Behala has more than 45 rooms. There is suggestion of affluence everything in the Ganaguly household, from the palatial 4-storey building itself to the beautifully decorated rooms. As a child, Sourav was extremely mischievous, a typical Cancerian one could say. His brother Snehashish nicknamed Raj was born five years before him and became an accomplished left handed batsman. Though Sourav is a natural right hander, he learned to bat with his left hand from his brother, Snehashish. Sourav does everything else, including writing and bowling with his right hand. And thus, Sourav began a glorious cricketing career. Sourav made his debut in international cricket way back in during a tour Down Under. But unfortunately, the year old played in just one match against West Indies at Brisbane in which he failed to make an impression, and hence, was dropped from the side. A young Sourav had to face more than just the frustration of being dropped after one opportunity. Rumors of his attitude problems and lack of respect for the senior players hurt Sourav the most. There were also reports in certain newspapers that Sourav refused to carry drinks on the field for a senior cricketer, which he denies till date. He was ignored for well over four years and many thought that his days as an international cricketer were numbered. A few years later, however, Sourav came back strong and more determined than ever to make his mark in the world of cricket. He made his debut along with his good friend and now vice captain, Rahul Dravid in the 2nd test vs. Sourav amazed cricketers and critics alike when he smashed a century in his debut Test. He went on to score a century in the very next innings as well. Weeks after his successful tour of England, Sourav eloped with childhood sweetheart Dona Roy. All hell broke lose when the the families of Sourav and Dona heard learnt about the secret wedding. However, both families reconciled and a formal wedding was held on 21st of February in Happily married, Sourav and Dona are proud parents of a girl named Sana, born in November She was born on the third day of November. In Test matches today, he, Rahul Dravid and the great Tendulkar form the core of the Indian batting line up. This man is revered in his home town where he enjoys a God like status. But that is the price one has to pay for being a celebrity in India. If people in Kolkata come to know that Sourav is home, there is a huge crowd that gathers at the gate of his palatial home. As likeable as he is, Sourav also has been firm enough to let overbearing fans and prying media persons know that he deserves and needs his share of privacy. Sourav prefers a quiet evening alone with his wife rather than have photographers and lensmen chasing him all over Kolkata. Sourav is also a deeply religious person and observes a fast every Tuesday. No one had thought that a lad ridiculed as a non talent, brushed off as being high headed, accused of showing disrespect towards seniors and having attitude problems would one day lead the Indian cricket team. Yet, Sourav Ganguly is now in the hot seat as the captain of the Indian Cricket team. As vice captain to Tendulkar, Sourav was the most obvious choice. Sourav began well as captain, leading India to a series win over South Africa in the 5 match one day series. Sourav felt that every young player should play two years of domestic cricket before being selected for international assignments. He also said that every newcomer should be given at least five games to prove himself. Perhaps, he being at a receiving end of a raw deal that threatened to ruin his international cricket career enabled Sourav to understand the insecurities of other newcomers in the team better than his predecessors. Sourav backed the youngsters in the team tremendously and thus, gained the love of his teammates. Sourav also was not shy of taking on responsibility. He showed that he can be a leader of a team, which has greats like Sachin and Dravid in the side, without any problems. Sourav has won 21 Tests as captain, of which more than 7 wins have come overseas! In just a few years, Sourav rewrote the rules of captaincy. Unlike some of his predecessors, he was impartial, non-parochial, and forever pushed his players to perform better. Sourav Ganguly has lived a life of luxury as he comes from an affluent family. Dada is not a man to express his emotions in words, so when it came to the love of his life, he kept his words aside and went to action mode straightaway. The two familial houses shared a common boundary wall. Sourav and Dona grew up together and were best of friends. But all was not rosy candy-floss stuff like a KJo movie. The families drifted apart and became sour enemies. Like legendary Romeo and Juliet style, any kind of alliance between the two families was completely unacceptable. Even though the two families kept a distance, Sourav went to watch Dona perform Odissi recitals and Dona watched his matches. The cuteness of their story is surely going to warm every heart. The couple saw to it that they kept their sweet secret under the wraps. After Sourav returned from his spectacular Test debut at Lords in , they decided it was time to tie the knot. Sourav called up Moloy Banerjee , the highly respected Bengal cricketer, and confided in him. When the families got the news, all hell broke loose, but gradually went on to accept the decision of their children. A formal wedding was conducted on February 21st This is the date the couple celebrates as their wedding anniversary. After almost 15 years of marriage they are still the best of friends and friendlier neighbours. This is the story of the Maharaj and his Dancing Queen. Therefore this story might not have surprised many as knowing his strong head, in hindsight it was evident that this Dilwala was surely going to get his Dulhaniya, anyhow.
