Cleary ; illustrations by Jason Miskimins ; consultant: These words are part of the sentence on the facing page. They all feature short vowels and consonant blends. As the book progresses, the sentences become more challenging. Toward the end of the book, the sentences contain two discovery words. Children will be light in the increased confidence that finding and decoding these words will bring. The mouse asks readers to look for words that sound alike. The bridge to literacy is one of the most important we will ever cross. Cleary Look for me to help you find the words that sound alike! Can you find three words that sound alike? The drab crab can grab his scab. The glass and the brass were on the grass after class. The clam swam in the tram. The grid slid and made the kid skid.
