

Chapter 1 : Summer Fun Mad Libs Junior by Roger Price

Summer Fun Mad Libs Junior. Mad Libs Originals; Occasions; Summer; What could be better for kids in the backseat on those long car trips? Highlighting some of America's most popular travel destinations, Summer Fun Mad Libs Junior is perfect for those long road trips.

Our family has 3 favorite road trip games that we LOVE to play: Mad Libs -- lots of laughs! Mad Libs on the Road for kids ages 8 - 12 years and Summer Fun Mad Libs Junior for kids ages 5 - 8 years are perfect for road trips! When you are in your car, everyone who is playing the game should keep their eyes open for license plates from all the states in the U. You can claim a plate by either coloring in the state or writing your initials on the state. We color-code our map so each person is assigned a specific colored pencil. What do you need to play: Crayons or colored pencils assign one color to each person playing the game A map of the United States -- if you have younger kids, print a map with the names of the states; if your kids are older, print a blank map or a map with state abbreviations you can find both in our free printable pack below! This helps with fine motor skills and also identifying colors. How to Win the Game Choose some type of reward for the family member who identifies the most states in our family, whoever wins that honor gets to choose where we have ice cream on the weekend before school begins! Learning Geography with the License Plate Game One fun way to extend the game is to tie it with a book or other hands-on item! Here are a few of our favorite state books along with some fun learn-about-the-states items too. "A Family Adventure Across America" by Lynne Cheney is a beautifully illustrated book that highlights the culture, people and attractions in each our 50 states. I love the pictures throughout the book and there are so many fun facts included that adults will even learn a thing or two! Another wonderful book for a long car trip is the 50 States Activity Book! A great way to keep everyone engaged with puzzles, games, a fold-out map and stickers for each of the states! What happens when Virginia and Idaho decide to switch places on the map?! Chaos begins and all the states get involved in the scramble. Smart About the Fifty States is perfect for ages 8 and up. Readers will learn about interesting facts, historical events and geography related to each of the states. We also love the photos included with each of the state write-ups! When they are young, kids like to put the puzzle together. As they get older, they begin to read the details. And it holds up well! We have had ours for more than 12 years! It allows two players or teams to compete to see who can find the most plates -- plus, the board also lists the state capitals. Another awesome resource is the Fandex Family Field Guides: Each card highlights information about one of the states and includes a map. You could even use this card deck to play the License Plate Game -- just place a sticky note on each card as you find a plate from that state!

We love Mad Libs Junior! My 4 year old is loving the surprise stories that we can make with the mad libs. The noun/verb/adjective/etc. are marked with symbols and there is a list of suggested words for each symbol.

The Devil himself is hiring, and you were brave enough to apply. Fill in the blanks to make this interview from hell funny or scary. Just beware, the Devil cares most about what you wear. Click to download this printable Teachers can use Mad Lib style printables in a variety of settings. The Job Interview From Hell is a great story to use with high school students who are preparing for a first job interview. The story will not only get teens thinking about critical components of interviewing but will also lighten the mood of this typically nerve-wracking scenario. A Summer Love Story Fill in the blanks to determine how long your summer romance lasts. This sweet tale of love can turn quirky and awkward depending on the words you select, so choose wisely. Click to download this printable A Summer Love Story is written from the perspective of a girl who falls deeply in love with a boy who has to leave at the end of the summer. Any teen girl can have fun dreaming up the perfect summer romance alone or with friends. The printable can easily be modified to include other types of relationships by replacing a few pronouns. Tour the Campus A ritual experience in the college selection process includes guided campus tours. While some tours may be boring, this one is anything but. Tour the Campus takes a typically boring college tour and turns it into an unforgettable experience. Click to download this printable Perfect for use at home or school with teens thinking about college, this story provides a fun way to explore the history of a fictional college. Universities could also use the story as an added activity during an actual campus tour to lighten the mood. More Mad Lib Style Stories While Mad Libs is the name of the company famous for creating this style of story, it is also the term typically used to describe any story that follows the same style. Mad Libs, the company, sells books full of stories about almost any topic. However, there are also many places to play mad libs online or print off fun versions for any age group. Teens will love the crazy excuses created out of using random words. Stories With a Twist Mad Libs stories expand upon the reading experience by making the reader an author as well. These stories can provide endless fun when different words are used to fill in the blanks. Was this page useful?
