The Neponsett "concept of land ownership differed sharply from the European. The Massachusetts did not own the land, but what was on it or what it produced. The Neponsett owned the shellfish beds, beaver, and trout from the marsh and river; the planting fields from the hillsides and the deer from the forests. Settlement and incorporation[edit] Old Blake House in c. Roger Fyler, Henry Wolcott and other men who would become prominent in the founding of a new nation. The original settlement founded in was at what is now the intersection of Columbia Road and Massachusetts Avenue. Even though Dorchester was annexed over years ago into the city of Boston, this founding is still celebrated every year on Dorchester Day, which includes festivities and a parade down Dorchester Avenue. John White was chief proponent of a Puritan settlement in the New World. John White has been referred to as the unheralded champion of the Massachusetts Bay Colony , because despite his heroic efforts on its behalf, he remained in England and never emigrated to the Colony he championed. The town that was founded was centered on the First Parish Church of Dorchester , which still exists as the Unitarian-Universalist church on Meeting House Hill and is the oldest religious organization in present-day Boston. Dorchester is the birthplace of the first public elementary school in America, the Mather School , established in In , Puritan missionaries, including John Eliot , began a campaign to convert the Indigenous people in Dorchester to Christianity with the help of Cockenoe and John Sassamon , two Indian servants in Dorchester. Eliot was given land by the town of Dorchester for his mission, where he established a church and school. The Blake House was constructed in , as was confirmed by dendrochronology in James Baker in Dorchester. In , chocolate was first introduced in the American colonies when Irish chocolate maker John Hannon or alternatively spelled "Hannan" in some sources imported beans from the West Indies and refined them in Dorchester, working with Dr. James Baker, an American physician and investor. Lemuel Robinson was a representative of the town during the Revolution and was appointed a colonel in the Revolutionary army. The mother and grandparents of John F. Kennedy lived in the Ashmont Hill neighborhood while John F. In the s and s, a new wave of development took place on a strip of waterfront overlooking Dorchester Bay Park and Mill Streets at the Harrison Square Historic District , later known as Clam Point. Fox, and Mary E. By the s, Clam Point gained prominence as a summer resort with the Russell House hotel as its centerpiece and the establishment of the Dorchester Yacht Club on Freeport Street. In the s, the calf pasture on Columbia Point was used as a Boston sewer line and pumping station. This large pumping station still stands and in its time was a model for treating sewage and helping to promote cleaner and healthier urban living conditions. It pumped waste to a remote treatment facility on Moon Island in Boston Harbor , and served as a model for other systems worldwide. The pumping station is also architecturally significant as a Richardsonian Romanesque designed by the then Boston city architect, George Clough. It is also the only remaining 19th century building on Columbia Point and is in the National Register of Historic Places. Map of Dorchester, Massachusetts and surrounding area from the H. During the s, the city administration increased police presence and invested city money into the area for more street lighting. According to the U. Postal Service, Dorchester includes the zip codes , , , and Due to its size of about six square miles, it is often divided for statistical purposes in North and South Dorchester. Dorchester Avenue is the major neighborhood spine, running in a south-north line through all of Dorchester from Lower Mills to downtown Boston. The northern part of Dorchester is more urban, with a greater amount of apartment housing and industrial parks. South Bay Center and Newmarket industrial area are major sources of employment and the Harbor Point area formerly known as Columbia Point is home of several large employers, including the Boston campus of the University of Massachusetts , the Massachusetts Archives and Commonwealth Museum , the Edward M. Kennedy Presidential Library and Museum.

Wartime star celebrates th birthday at The Dorchester November 26, Events Heritage On November 23, the eve of her th birthday, singer Helen Clare headed back to The Dorchester where she began her illustrious career - a fitting way for her to mark her momentous milestone.

Grand hotel but service could be better Reviewed 4 days ago Stayed here with my boyfriend to celebrate his 21st birthday. Had a pleasant welcome and was impressed when showed to our room a good size for London hotels. I had made the staff aware that my boyfriend was allergic to nuts prior to our stay and when we arrived staff had confirmed this was on the notes. At breakfast the next morning we after a bit of a wait we ordered the English breakfast which included a selection of bakery goodies. When this was brought out my boyfriend noticed that nestled in with the bread was some pastries covered in pistachio nuts. If he had touched anything near this he could have had a very serious reaction. When requested the waiter swiftly took them away and brought out a replacement Made staff aware about this and they said they would feedback to the kitchen. On checking out the receptionist did bring out the manager to apologise but we were still expected to pay the full amount for breakfast. Definitely not the service I would expect from this standard of hotel. Allergies should be taken very seriously and better alternatives need to be offered. Reviewed 2 weeks ago We stayed at the Dorchester from the 21st to the 23rd of October, From the time we entered the hotel we were looked after well, the quality of food was excellent with a personalised touch from Chef Mario. It was a lovely way to finish our holiday. The hotel is quintessential London. It is beautifully presented with the lobby full of fresh flowers. The rooms are very spacious, beautifully finished and very clean. They do lack a few of the modern touches, such as smartphone USB charges. The shower over the bath was very difficult to get in and out of, as the bath was so deep. We had an interconnecting room and the layout of the rooms and the way the rooms connected was fantastic. The food was outstanding and I would highly recommend the breakfast. The hotel is in a great location. Paid a lot of money for 3 tickets. Very slow and poor service. Never got my coffee though the waiter came around and offered twice, no petit fours. No one to let know that I was disappointed. Someone called Shannon was the Dorchester organiser. She should be ashamed. Can I get a prorata refund for not getting what was paid for. Sad as I have eaten in all of The Dorchester restaurants and have always felt it was worth the effort and cost. Be careful if you book an event here. After email correspondence with the hotel regarding the occasion and my requirements, they confirmed everything and were extremely prompt and professional in response. On arrival, we were checked in and shown to our room. We were fortunate enough to be upgraded, which was incredible and made for a fantastic stay. There was a bottle of champagne and cake in celebration of my partners birthday. Yes you will pay a pretty penny to stay, but the hospitality and service you are provided us second to none. The service received was exceptional and Katrina our guest relations manager exceeded all expectations. Our room upgrade was amazing and the staff went out of their way to make it so special with champagne, cakes, chocolate, happy New Year Card with wonderful chocolate clock and macaroons, fruit. Amenities in room are excellent. The bar is lovely with great choice of cocktails. We had breakfast in our room and it was excellent. We also used the excellent spa and excellent. NYE entertainment was excellent and fun. This is an iconic hotel and the staff made sure our stay was very memorable. The staff is always at hand, the breakfast options were excellent and the rooms luxurious. We have stayed in other 5 star Hotels which did not have the personal touches The Dorchester has. And we look forward to our return in So we were taken into the bar and offered a complimentary drink, between 5 and 10 minutes Stephen came back to apologise that it was taking longer than expected. When the room was ready he came back showed us around the Hotel and to our room. The hotel is in my opinion is a friendly place with knowledgeable staff available to help if needed. One evening we required a meal although Afternoon tea was being served, we were accommodated with a cooked meal, excellent service. It always brings back fond memories. Exceptional welcome from the door men and polite and efficient house keeping team. Would return tomorrow if we could! Thanks to GLH for making this such an amazing experience! This was our first stay at The Dorchester, for a special Anniversary celebration with our son and his girlfriend. Words cannot express how much we all enjoyed it. It surpassed all our expectations. There were so many unexpected little touches which made us feel very special, but what took it to another level was the terrific team of staff. Special thanks go to staff in The Promenade, they are quite simply, fantastic. Thank You for the most memorable time and for making us feel like we were part of a very special family. My only comment would be that we ordered morning tea for the room at 8am which by 8. Slightly disappointing but no major problem. There were a few very small problems with room service, e. All the staff are very welcoming and make you feel well taken care of. The service, layout, food, drink and entertainment was simply the best. We loved every moment of our stay and cannot rate it high enough. This hotel cannot be faulted A. I love everything about the hotel. Service and friendliness in all outlets is outstanding D. It makes me and my family come back to a place we can call in London "home". A hotel we would always recommend to friends, relatives and people with taste and money to spend! Sharon at the Reception Desk was fabulous! They genuinely seemed to welcome the opportunity to help whenever they could be of service. The Promenade Breakfast day manager was caring in insuring that we enjoyed our breakfast, but that concern for the guests well-being seemed to prevail throughout the entire staff. I intend to write to Mr. Scanlon, the Hotel President and commend him on his staff. Regards, John Sarafian Y. Such a wonderful surprise they had the most fantastic experience. They got back today and talked for two hours solidly describing everything they did. Nothing could be faulted everything was just so memorable. We will be back! But, maybe in another suite, brighter with more cheerful colours. Keep up the good work. Our children refuse to stay in any other hotel except Dorchester. Twice I got the wrong food. I got spaghetti instead of linguini and french fries instead of a full meal of fish and chips. Celebrating new year here was truly a wonderful and memorable experience. The friendliness and helpfulness of all staff is the best I have encountered in the hotel trade. Special offers Subscribe to our weekly newsletter to receive exclusive offers and information about the grandest luxury hotels in the world! What we really like 1 Do not miss the great afternoon tea in The Promenade, where it is served 5 times daily. Great Art Deco glamour combined with a contemporary edge.
