Andrae Crouch was only 14 when he wrote his first gospel hit. Since then, his music has resonated across generations and cultures. It was so severe, his twin sister, Sandra, had to speak for him. It started when Andrae was just three years old. I was on my way to get some ice cream right down the street from where my folks had a business, and a guy picked me up and started running with me. I remember then is when I started stuttering. Little did Andrae know that his stuttering would help him find his purpose in life. So everything sounded like music. It was at this very organ that Andrae discovered his God-given ability for songwriting. He was just I remember when we were kids, and they would fast. So when you get devastated, we always knew that Jesus was never going to leave us no matter what. Then in that lesson hit home. In less than a year they lost both their mother and father to cancer. Their oldest brother, Benjamin, took over the church. But tragically, he too died from cancer. Andrae and Sandra say they felt God pulling on their hearts to lead the church. The choir was all pumped up. Soon and Very Soon, Mr. Take Me back, you will not get up from this floor until you tell me yes. I felt everything lifted off of me -- everything. He also continues to write and produce music. But nothing is more rewarding to him and Sandra than helping people come to Christ even if that means never being no. It has nothing to do with the chart. It has everything to do with the cross. In , Andrae received a star on the Hollywood walk of fame. It stands as a reminder of how God used a boy who could barely talk to bring the message of Christ to millions. This grateful spirit has inspired Andrae and Sandra throughout their careers and ministry. Take me back, take me back dear Lord where I first believed. In other words, we want to be reminded of what God has done in our lives and never forget. Take me back to that attitude.
