

Chapter 1 : The Business Coach: A Millionaire Entrepreneur Re by Sugars, Brad X | eBay

Brad Sugars is an incredibly talented and intelligent leader who is adept at propelling businesses and business owners forward by taking the right 'actions'. His comprehensive Act Peter and Korrie Wiszniak, CEO Churchill Park, Calgary, AB.

Today, Entrepreneur magazine ranks it as the leading business coaching franchise. The company has received many awards in both franchising and in business. It also had offices in London and Las Vegas at the same time. The decision to leave Australia was based on business practicality. As we grew this was becoming more and more impractical. Today you can conduct a global business without having an office in every country. Plus having your team under one roof means you can maintain culture and increase productivity. My parents are there and I have young kids who do not get to see their grandparents as often. As company Chairman meeting with key executives on company performance indicators on a monthly basis. Returning to the role full time has seen some changes large and small. He will stretch you to perform above and beyond your own capabilities. He will not accept mediocrity. So I have to learn to be a great leader and then I will attract top people. I have to build an awesome company that attracts awesome people. If I run a poor business I will attract poor people. So that whole leadership and team building aspect is vital to running a business and being successful. The owner should focus on the team. The team should look after the customers. The customers will look after the business and the business will look after the owner. Anyone who knows me will tell you that is not what I am about.
