Contemporary Moscow. When eighteen-year-old Pasha rescues a beautiful young woman from a band of strangely powerful attackers, he discovers an underworld of supernatural beings living among us.

The guard that showed him in was just barely containing his laughter. If nopony believed him, then nopony believed him. He came to help her. The barracks before him were separated into two large rooms. The room he was standing in was filled with bunk beds. He turned toward the door leading to the second room. Oh, the bat ponies sleep in there. Not many other ponies complete the training. He liked sleeping higher up. He was closer to the moon then. Now all alone, Pipsqueak slowly paced back and forth trying to think of what to do in order to pass the time. It was late afternoon. He had hours left in the day. If this were one of his dreamsâ€¦ he would be riding the high seas with Luna, or flying through a canyon of gems, avoiding the quarry eels that would jut out to grab them. It would be one amazing adventure after the nextâ€¦ The door to the barracks suddenly opened and Pipsqueak turned to see who was entering. Snips waddled over and smiled to Pipsqueak. Now the drill sergeant will forget all about how terrible mine is. He nervously glanced around before leaning in closer to Pipsqueak. Snailsquirm is kinda weird. You could do it too. He was much taller than most of the ponies around him. Pipsqueak was an ironic name for a stallion like him. Maybe Snails was right. You should do it! Take this time to reinvent yourself! He should reinvent himself. From now, he would be known as Pip! She came to me in one of my dreams too. Luna had explained it all in great detail. I was helping her. She would come and visit me and we would have adventures so that she had something fun to look forward to every night. So that she knew she was appreciated. She said it was a way of relaxation. When he glanced around he noticed that, despite having thirty or more bunk beds in the room, Snips and Snails had picked the top and bottom respectively of the same bunk. Everypony else had picked a bed several beds away from each other. As Pip walked to the back of the room he turned and saw Marble Pie carefully unfolding and then re-folding the blankets on her bed. Marble Pie sighed and continued to fold and re-fold the blankets while she spoke. Did Luna visit you in your dreams as well? Princess Luna never visited me in my dreams. It has nothing to do with the princess, actually. Earth ponies are so cool sometimes! Rumble flew up near the roof, barely containing his enthusiasm for the conversation. My brother, Thunderlaneâ€¦ he would always rub his speed in my face! I had to train forever to just catch up and he teased me every step of the way! You might not have the fortitude to make it. Even the captain of the Night Guard is a bat pony. She tucked the blanket around her, avoiding as many wrinkles as possible. He would wait until the nightfall before sleeping and then he would be ready to start his training in the morning. Pip jolted out of his bed, startled. Where was all that noise coming from!? It felt like he had only been asleep for a couple of minutes. Pip glanced outside and saw the moon rising. He had only been sleeping for a few minutes! Time to start your training! She was the only pony among the new recruits that had gotten any sleep at all. She straightened her long dark gray mane before folding and re-folding the blankets on her bed. Pip shook off his fatigue, quickly made his bed, and ran to the door. The drill instructor, Thunder Clash, was already there. He was a dark orange pegasus with a short gold mane and tail. Almost every inch of his body had some sort of scar or marring. His booming voice was enough evidence for Pip to make that assumption. Rumble and Scootaloo were the first to join Pip. Snips and Snails lagged behind as they were having difficulties just waking up. When they finally got their act together they got in line. Although Marble had been the first to wake, she was the last in lineâ€¦ but at least her bed looked amazing. Thunder Clash face-hoofed in sheer disbelief. Tonight is benchmark night! Now get out there! Four obstacle courses had been set up and arranged side by side. Thunder Clash flew over to the starting line and motioned them all to follow. When they made it to the starting line, Pip immediately noticed that there were bat ponies already waiting there. He glanced over at them and nodded. Not a single one acknowledged him. Pip continued to stare. They all had black, leathery bat wings, tufts of fur on their ears, and slit-pupil eyes. Pip had seen bat ponies only occasionally in his life, and even then, it was mostly on Nightmare Night. Pip immediately stood tall and held himself with confidence. He could complete an obstacle course. He was ready for this. Suddenly, a bat pony, clad in black and purple armor, landed before them. The bat pony was tall and regal, holding himself with purpose. His coat was dark gray, his mane black, and his slit-pupil eyes a bright gold. He spread his black leathery wings and then slowly folded them to his side. If, through some fluke, you are chosen for the Night Guard, Phantom Shade will be your commanding officer. Do you maggots understand? Phantom Shade slowly gazed over the group with his haunting golden eyes. He stared at them as though seeing right through to their core. Everypony remained quiet as he slowly walked over to the line of ponies and began making his way through them. Phantom Shade stopped at Marble and narrowed his eyes. He leaned in close and deeply inhaled. His voice reminded Pip of his childhood nightmares. Marble shuddered at the sight of his fanged teeth so close. I think your standards are slipping. Tonight you need to run through an obstacle course! The obstacle courses behind me are broken up depending on your breed. Pegasus ponies to the first obstacle course, earth ponies to the next, unicorn ponies to the third and bat ponies to the fourth. Normally, you need to be able to run this obstacle course in two minutes flat. However, tonight you will have no time limit. All you have to do is simply make it to the end.

Chapter 2 : The Guardians of the Night

*Man of the dark - the guardian of the night Man of the dark - the guardian of the night I don't like people working all day
Only working just to see next tomorrow.*

They were sky-scholars in Sanctaphrax who were divided from the earth-scholars when the Schism happened and the Mother Storm came. In time, they used genocide against the Librarians, and drove the survivors into the sewers of Undertown. Contents [show] In Sanctaphrax The scholars of Sanctaphrax studied Upper, Lower and Middle Sky, and the others studied earth, but were considered like animals. The Sky-scholars believed themselves to be grander and superior because they studied Sky and avoided poisons and all the toil. They became so arrogant that they would have nothing to do with the Earth scholars, whom they argued with. When the Mother Storm came and Sanctaphrax was cut off by Cowlquape to save the Edge and flew off into Open Sky, Twig urged the Sky scholars and Earth scholars to set aside their quarrels and unite to build a new city, because another flight rock was growing. Twig then flew off on his ship with his crew to get his old crew back, leaving Cowlquape in charge of Sanctaphrax. He took Cowlquape and imprisoned him, taking off his chain of office, and everyone thought Cowlquape was dead. Vox, however, was himself betrayed, because at the time, Orbix Xaxis , a Sky scholar, was ambitious, and wanted to become ruler of the Edge. Then, the Guardians of Night came down from the Deepwoods, being goblins, and added more to the growing horde. The Guardians of Night were originally Sky-scholars, and were composed of all races of the Edge. Orbix got greedy and kicked Vox and the Earth-scholars out of the Tower of Night and claimed it for himself and the Guardians of Night. It would become a place of fear for the Edge. The Guardians took Librarians there and imprisoned them, tortured and interrogated them, then fed them to Rock Demons in the pits below. Finally, the Schism struck. Orbix marshalled his Guardians, who attacked every Librarian headquarters in Undertown, leaving the streets stained with Librarian blood, and they butchered and killed every Librarian apart from a few hundred who ran to the sewers. This event was named " the Night of the Gloamglazers. In their spare time, they liked torturing and killing Librarians because they believed they "polluted" the Sky with their sky ships. But Xanth actually befriended the apprentices, including Rook. But, along with his betrayal, he handed them over to goblins, who tried to poison them, but failed. Xanth ran back to Undertown and the Tower of Night in shame. Orbix captured Magda, having her interrogated by Xanth. The Guardians were waiting for the impending Storm, and believed that when it hit, their lightning conductor would cure the rock, enabling it to fly, and making them the rulers of the Edge. But Xanth decided to free Magda and the Guardians captured him for his treachery, as being a Guardian meant a life time service. Orbix had Xanth and Magda put in a cage to be fed to Rock Demons and they ran into the sewers and managed to lose the Demons. But when the Storm came, Orbix got excited. Orbix killed Leddix by throwing him off the Tower peak when he heard the deadbolt was gone. Orbix wanted the Storm to hit, so he sacrificed himself to become a conduit. The explosion killed every single Guardian in the Tower and melted the building to nothing. Trivia A hooded Guardian of the Night. The hooded robes costume of the Guardians of Night, along with their xenophobic genocide, is akin and may have been inspired by the real-life hate group Ku Klux Klan.

I will protect you with my last breath. When all others have left you and the loneliness of night closes in, I will be at your side. Together we will conquer all obstacles, and search out those who wish to do harm to others. All I ask of you is compassion, and the caring touch of your hands. It is for you that I will unselfishly give my life and spend my nights unrested. Although our days together may be marked by the passing of the seasons Know that each day by your side is my reward. My days are measured by the coming and going of your footsteps. I anticipate them at every opening of the door. You are the voice of caring when I am ill, The voice of authority when I have done wrong. Do not chastise me unduly, for I am your right arm, the sword at your side. I attempt to do only what you bid of me. I seek only to please you and remain in your favor. Together you and I shall experience a bond only others like us will understand. When outsiders see us together, their envy will be measured by their disdain. I will quietly listen to you and pass no judgment, nor will your spoken words be repeated. I will remain ever silent, ever vigilant, ever loyal. And when our time together is done and you move on in the world, Remember me with kind thoughts and tales. For a time we were unbeatable, Nothing passed among us undetected. If we should meet again on another street I will gladly take up your fight, I am a Military Working Dog. We are the guardians of the night.

Then they go back to her beautiful brownstone for tequila shots, cocaine, the knife game a bit like Russian roulette only with knife and hand on table instead of gun against temple. Naz remains free for a while, but is then picked up for a traffic offence another wrong turn, at a junction, in his life â€” understandable in the circumstances. Lovely, doe-eyed Naz is now chief, and only, suspect in the murder of Andrea Cornish she only gets a name posthumously. Or the knife in his pocket. The Night Of has moved on from procedural crime drama to something more about the randomness of justice, with a lot of the brilliant first series of the Serial podcast about it the fact that Naz is from a Pakistani-American family adds to this. A very excellent thing. With a hypnotic performance from Riz Ahmed as a young man whose world is closing in on him, doors slamming with metallic clunks. Hmmm, objection slightly sustained, though there are also African Americans who are neither racists nor stoners, like the excellent traffic cop also, undeniably, a woman, though, also undeniably, a relatively minor character. The Night Of looks stunning. Is there maybe a little nod to Scorsese in this opener, nighttime Manhattan lights at taxi cruising speed, windscreen reflection, rear-view glances, Ahmed a 21st-century De Niro? But it adds to the feeling of dazzled confusion when a frightened young man is suddenly caught in the headlights on the road to hell. Is Naz innocent, though? We know stabbed her once, even if she was egging him on, in knifey-foreplay. And he was on a cocktail of unfamiliar class As. Could he have done it in a crazy drugged-up frenzy, and then forgotten about it? Or not forgotten about it One thing I do know:
