Word of Faith Married Kenneth E. Hagin is the father of the Word of Faith movement. His emphasis on Romans Hagin learned and borrowed much from E. Kenyon, who had much to teach about faith, but it was Hagin who birthed this movement. So as THE founding father it is a very good thing to review some of his teachings that helped to form this movement and some that shaped the continual growth of our Word of Faith. In teaching prosperity, too many preachers seem to communicate the idea that receiving financial abundance is totally and exclusively tied to one thing -- giving I believe in giving. I believe that giving is important. But it is not the only key to prosperity. There is no doubt about that. And he teaches that when we give we position ourselves for a harvest -- to receive the blessing that the Lord has for us. That is not what this teaching is about. What we are focusing on in this thread is the idea that giving into ministries is the ONLY way to have prosperity. Hagin goes on to write about his "son, Rev. The Bible also speaks of us making our own way prosperous. But there is also a practical aspect to prosperity. People should get a good education or vocational training. Even if this means that as adults we take additional classes to get extra training. In addition to this, we are taught to work hard, to put our hand to the plow, so to speak. We have roles to play on our job and we should diligently perform them. This will lead to recognition and reward, including raises and promotions. It is true that we should trust God as our Source rather than putting all our confidence in a job or the economy. While God can channel blessings to us from many sources, much of the time He uses our job as the primary channel. Greater financial reward comes to and through those who diligently work hard. Paul told the Thessalonians, " He also declared, "And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men" Col. That will affect you. It will permeate you until you begin to doubt yourself. It will affect your ability to believe that God will provide through your own efforts. You cannot be associating with people who are critical and complaining, people who poke at you and have issue with everything that you say. Hagin goes on to write that We need to learn that There is much more to the message than constantly saying, "If you want to be prosperous, give! If you want to be prosperous, give! In my personal opinion, they do an injustice to the Word of God by emphasizing just one side of the issue. It certainly does not preclude that we could see great wealth, but it is not a given that we shall see it as such. Hagin say it in his own words: Another crucially important issue is that ministers should never suggest or lead people to believe that prosperity means conspicuous, lavish wealth. It simply is not true that everyone who has faith for prosperity will live in a palace, drive a luxurious car, and dress in expensive, designer-label clothes. For some people, being able to pay their bills and provide the basic comforts of life for their families would be a great blessing -- a definite step up. I thank God for the wise counsel of our founding father, Kenneth E.
