The Savvy Part-Time Professional: How to Land, Create, or Negotiate the Part-Time Job of Your Dreams," published by Capital Books, $ (calendrierdelascience.com), is written like a comprehensive series of visits to a counselor who has a wealth of experience in your issue.

Ask a House Cleaner is a blog that answers your professional cleaning questions. Her easy to apply cleaning methods have made her one of the most sought after cleaning experts. She is the founder of the Savvy Cleaner Training and Certification program for those who want to start a cleaning service. Want to find more house cleaning clients? Want endless cleaning client referrals? Want to provide spectacular customer service? Here she answers questions for the DIY Cleaning crowd. We offer insider secrets on content marketing and social media. About The Inner Circle Private Facebook Group Angela moderates a Private Facebook Group for professional house cleaners as a place where you can ask questions, vent, troubleshoot and network with other house cleaners – none of your friends and family will see the posts. There are some super duper folks in the group we want you to meet. Huge shout to this Facebook group and Angela Brown. And as always, make it a super clean day. I have only been a member for a short period but have been learning so much. I get on Facebook just to look in on the group. And let me tell you I read the whole book in one night and took notes as well. I have been cleaning for 14 years now. Gone from barely keeping it alive to having 2 teams to doing it by myself now. I needed the advice I found in your book and it all made perfect sense to me. I come home exhausted and wake up the next day working harder than the day before. And then being so overwhelmed that I lost my quality control factor of my whole purpose of what I do for others. And I am loving having freedom to be creative with my work. My last job was in social work and I was sitting down a lot of the day in that time I gained a lot of weight. Thanks Angela for your advice and ongoing support. I sold Commercial Cleaning Services for 4 years and decided to leave and start my own company. Due to a non-compete agreement those plans had to be put on hold. So I decided to go the residential route, I am so fortunate to have found her book and her website. Her marketing strategy, attention to detail, and pricing strategy are not the traditional route recommended by other sources, but in my opinion are definitely more effective and efficient. I look forward to following her plan to the letter. Thank you so much for your book, worksheets, and website! I appreciate all the time and energy you put into helping others be successful with their cleaning businesses. After reading this book, I know exactly what to do! I love that the author Angela Brown has free worksheets for me that I can print off and in the end of the book a weeklong step-by-step plan. I would recommend this book to anyone trying to start a cleaning business. I now feel confident that I can go into business for myself!! The wagon is rolling towards success. We are here to make your life easy, successful and productive. Work smart, not hard. And I did it without paying a dime in advertising. Training and coaching is an investment. My first 30 days went gangbusters – I booked 38 clients random and regular accounts that allowed me to quit my full-time job and focus full time on my new house cleaning business. I started using it on my existing house cleaning accounts. Angela had this Gear Changers program for House Cleaners that was these online seminars once a week and I got in on them. Angela is the real deal.
