Chapter 2 : Welcome to the Official Site of Sharon Draper

Ziggy and his friends are off to space camp where they will meet real astronauts and have a chance to experience what it's like to travel in space.

The Black Dinosaurs are the members of a club in Cincinnati, Ohio. Ziggy, Rico, Jerome and Rashawn are best friends and the club members. In The Space Mission Adventure, the boys accomplish a dream of many children. They spend a weekend at the Space Camp in Huntsville, Alabama. There, with children from other parts of the country, they train like astronauts. A flight simulation ends the weekend. Ziggy finds what looks like a misshapen glass or is it a space artifact? He determinately believes it is from outer space while the other children tell him differently. The mystery of the found object is the weak point of the book. No reader will believe he found a space artifact. The students meet a real astronaut. She is an African-American female. Sharon M Draper allows children to attend Space Camp. There with the Black Dinosaurs they learn many facts about the training program. Draper asks and answers many questions that intrigue children. How do astronauts go to the bathroom? How do they sleep? What happens when they sneeze? The children ask loads of funny, but interesting questions the average young person would ask. In the book, Ms. Draper shares information learned on her own trip to the Space Camp. She does not portray the counselors and instructors as forcing facts on the Black Dinosaurs. They learn many facts from other children. As always, children learn best when they share things with friends. A study guide is at the end of The Space Mission Adventure. A list of ten discussion topics for each chapter is available. Draper supplies web sites and books for further study. The book is good for African, Mexican and female children who want a space career. They and other children can learn about people from these three groups who are astronauts. Chapter 3 : The Space Mission Adventure - Children's Books

The Black Dinosaurs have always explored the past in their adventures, but now they're going into the future - to Space Camp! They'll learn what weightlessness feels like, what astronauts eat, even how they go to the bathroom! Ziggy, of course, really wants to meet up with aliens - purple, three.

Draper is the author of the Ziggy and the Black Dinosaurs series. The series is about the adventures of four African-American boys. They live in Cincinnati, Ohio on the same street. The four friends are Ziggy, Rico, Jerome and Rashawn. One summer the friends start a club, The Black Dinosaurs. Although, the boys have different personalities, they are great friends. Ziggy is a happy-go-lucky boy with strange tastes in food. While Ziggy will eat any food combination, tall, skinny Rashawn is a vegetarian. Rico lives with his mother. She keeps Rico and her life in perfect order. Jerome lives with his mother and father. He is the proud owner of Afrika, a retired police dog. Rashawn dislikes bugs and often has a can of bug spray in his possession. He lives with his two sisters and an old-fashioned grandmother. In each book of the Ziggy and the Black Dinosaurs series, the boys experience new adventures. They dig up a box of bones and solve a mystery. A camping trip is the subject of another book. The four friends go to the Space Camp in Huntsville, Alabama. Yet, the parents and care givers of the other boys are not. As the children read, they learn about different things. Wildlife protection is the topic of The Backyard Animal Show. Hurricane Katrina and its effects on a family is the subplot in Stars and Sparks on Stage. Draper, an educator, gives young readers ages a list of books and web sites for further study. Also, she provides ten questions or activities for each chapter. What boy has not dreamed of having a club house, great friends, solving mysteries, exploring an ancient tunnel and attending Space Camp? Tween girls will enjoy the Ziggy series, too. The Early Chapter Books range between a hundred and hundred-fifty pages per book. Jesse Joshua Watson is the illustrator of the series. Watson captures the exploits of the Black Dinosaurs plus those of their families and friends. Ziggy and the Black Dinosaurs Series 1. The Buried Bones Mystery.
